Hoover Puts Blame for High Cost.

Speculators Expected Big Demand Upon Lifting of the German Blockade.

Northern European Ports are Overflowing; Says Palmer is on Right Track.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

ST. PAUL, Sept. 2.—"The crest in the high cost of living has been reached, prices have already started downward and will continue. The drop later will be considerable," said J. Ogden Armour, the Chicago packer, in an interview here this afternoon.

PARIS, Monday, Sept. 1.—A distressing era of speculation in foodstuffs in the United States and throughout the world's primary food markets is largely responsible for high food costs, in the opinion of Herbert Hoover, chairman of the inter-Allied relief organization, who, on the eve of his departure for the United States, granted the Associated Press an interview today.

Wharves and warehouses in Northern European ports are overflowing with foodstuffs sent by merchants all over the world, Mr. Hoover said. These merchants, he declared, had "gambled" on sales in Poland, Czecho-Slovakia, the Baltic states and Germany at high prices, but these states have only a depreciated local currency and many commodities are in danger of spoiling, as the Central European market for foodstuffs is limited to the ability of the people to buy on credit.

SPECULATE ON BLOCKADE.

"This year's speculations," Mr. Hoover said, "are due, in my opinion, chiefly to the belief of food merchants and manufacturers that when the blockade was removed there would be an enormous demand for foodstuffs and other commodities in Central and Eastern Europe. This speculation was not due to any important shortage, at present, of actual supply. This speculative fever, which was not confined to foods, was greatly stimulated by the long delay in the removal of the blockade until the peace treaty was signed at Versailles."

Responding to an inquiry as to how food speculation could be checked in America, Mr. Hoover replied:

ON RIGHT TRACK.

"Atty.-Gen. A. Mitchell Palmer is on the right track when he endeavors to break down speculation. The situation is one that may well cause anxiety also from another point of view. We are now coming into a flood of production of foodstuffs in the northern hemisphere and will again have a great surplus in the United States. If, in the meantime, Covenant Handed to Chancellor.

Supreme Council Takes Firm Stand in Fixing Blame for World Crime.

Only One Modification is Made in Regard to the Frontiers.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

PARIS, Sept. 2.—Chancellor Karl Renner, head of the Austrian peace delegation, left tonight for Vienna with the peace treaty, which was handed to the Austrians today. He indicated that he probably would ask for an extension of time, as the Austrian general assembly would meet on Saturday and Sunday to discuss the terms.

The supreme council, it is announced, will extend the time, if Austria so requests.

In their covering letter the Allied and associated powers explain the impossibility of admitting that the people of Austria do not share the responsibility of the government that provoked the war or that they are to escape making reparation to the utmost of their capacity.

Until the signing of the peace treaty, Austria is considered an enemy state. Careful consideration, it is declared, has been given to the counter-proposals of the Austrians, and with some modifications, which are noted, the text of the treaty as presented today must be considered final. Five days are allowed for the Austrian answer.

LATE MORNING CITY NEWS

KILLED IN AUTO CRASH

V. M. McConnaughy of 4726 Hobart boulevard, an employee of the city Light and Power Bureau, was killed late last night when a machine driven by C. C. Fosdick of 2246½ Burlington avenue crashed into the auto he was driving at the corner of Western avenue and West Jefferson street. The impact of the collision threw the machine against the curb, overturning it. F. R. Rolsel of 5746 South Hobart boulevard, who was riding with McConnaughy, was thrown clear from the wrecked machine and escaped with slight cuts on the head. McConnaughy was pinned beneath the car. When it was lifted from his body it was found that life was extinct. Officers Littell and Moran of the University police investigated and reported that the accident was unavoidable. On orders from Deputy Coroner Fred Williams, the body was taken to the funeral parlors of George K. Willett.

BEATEN IN HIS HOME

Alexander Matuszewski, a junk dealer, 70 years old, of 1717 East Vernon avenue, was last night held up and severely beaten in his home when two young men gained entrance under the pretense of buying junk. When they entered the house one of the men hit the elderly man over the head with a heavy bolt, which rendered him unconscious. When Matuszewski awoke he found that the bandits had taken his watch and $8 in money. He was removed to the Receiving Hospital in the University police ambulance, where Dr. Dieterle found he had a possible skull fracture and internal injuries evidently received when one of the men kicked him in the stomach.

HELD AS BURGLAR

Arthur Brooks, an alleged deserter from the battleship New Mexico, was taken into custody early this morning by Special Officer P. D. Judd after he is said to have burglarized the room of Nick Rush of the Terminal Hotel. When taken to Central Station, Brooks is said to have confessed to taking Rush's watch and several dollars, claiming that he wanted to get to his ship in San Francisco.

VISIT PLANNED TO THANK AMERICA.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

PARIS, Sept. 2.—Cardinal Mercier, Primate of Belgium, left Paris this morning for Brest, whence he will sail for the United States.

Cardinal Mercier told the Associated Press that he was visiting America because, having been in contact with the great work of the Americans for relief of the Belgians during the great war, he wanted to thank them on their own soil.

The cardinal added that the name of the Associated Press recalled to him one of the dramatic incidents of his experiences during the war. The Germans had threatened to arrest him and policemen were even at his door ready to take him into custody when the German commander intercepted a dispatch from the Associated Press to the cardinal asking him if the Germans were arresting him on account of his public utterances.

"That telegram," said Cardinal Mercier, "made the commander hesitate long enough for Berlin to reflect and think better of it."

Cardinal Mercier has been intrusted with a delicate mission in the United States by the Holy See, according to the Journal. The newspaper says that the cardinal will lay before President Wilson his views concerning the League of Nations.

PRESIDENT TOURS TODAY

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—Final arrangements for the President's "swing around the circle" were about completed today. Accompanying President Wilson will be Mrs. Wilson, Rear-Admiral Cary T. Grayson, personal physician to the President; Secretary Tumulty, a corps of stenographers, secret service men and some thirty correspondents representing the press associations and leading metropolitan newspapers.

The President has scheduled thirty set speeches in the principal cities in the South and West and it is presumed he will be compelled to deliver short platform speeches at smaller towns along the route.

The first speech will be at Columbus, Thursday morning, and the last at Louisville, Ky., September 29. The President will return to Washington the next day.

The Presidential train will be composed of the President's private car, another for the stenographers and secret service men, and one for the correspondents, also a dining car and baggage car. Along the entire route a pilot engine will be run ahead as a precautionary measure against accidents and other eventualities. The train schedule will not be made public until it has been fulfilled, city after city. Members of the party will live on the train practically during the twenty-seven days of the trip, only a few overnight stops being planned.

In preparation for the exacting task before him the President has made only the most necessary appointments during the past few days and has spent most of his time in resting and recreation.

Criticising President Wilson's plan to "tour the country for political reasons while chaos and confusion exist in the industrial world," Representative Rodenberg, Republican, Illinois, told the House today that present conditions were more critical than they were last month when the President "made an adroit move to shift responsibility for this unrest to Congress."

In his Labor Day message, Rodenberg said the President appealed for teamwork.

"How can you have teamwork," he asked, "when the lead horse goes gallivanting around the world? After being absent for nearly a year he plans to take another trip which will consume a month, expenses of which will be paid out of the treasury."

Action of the President in blocking the House recess, Rodenberg said, was believed by many to "be an adroit move to shift responsibility for industrial unrest to Congress and to shield the hopeless incompetency of the Department of Justice in dealing with profiteering."

AIDED HUN CONSPIRACY TO INVADE UNITED STATES, DR. ALTENDORF'S LATEST CHARGE

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—Dr. Paul B. Altendorf, former member of the American military intelligence service, who issued last week a statement detailing what he knew about the German plot to stir up a Mexican invasion of the United States, issued a supplementary statement tonight directly charging President Carranza of Mexico with being directly implicated in the plot.

Dr. Altendorf, who served in the Mexican army as a colonel while representing the intelligence service, said that he had an interview with Carranza on January 15, 1918. At this interview, he said, Carranza "said he knew all about me, having been informed that I was on the way to Sonora to help train the combined army of Mexicans and Germans who were to invade the United States."

Dr. Altendorf said he asked Carranza for a letter to Gen. Calles, Governor of Sonora, hoping to get Carranza's complicity in writing, but that Carranza refused, saying he was going "on a very delicate mission." Carranza did say, however, according to Dr. Altendorf, "I am sending a wire to Gen. Calles to assist you in every way to invade the United States. I have instructed the police and military authorities to aid you for this purpose."

Dr. Altendorf exhibited photographic copies of a code which he said had been prepared by Mendio Mendez, Carranza's secretary, for use in communicating between Dr. Altendorf at Gen. Calles's headquarters and Kurt Jahnke, alleged head of the German spy service in Mexico City.

AVIATOR IS WOUNDED.

New Crisis Rises on Rio Grande.

Affair is Considered at Cabinet Meeting and Full Report is Awaited.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

LAREDO (Tex.) Sept. 2.—Fired upon from the Mexican side of the Rio Grande, Capt. David W. McNabb, United States Aviation Corps, was slightly wounded today while on aerial patrol duty along the international boundary northwest of here.

With Lieut. von Ee B. Johnson, Capt. McNabb was flying slowly up the river close to the water when suddenly a group of Mexicans fired a volley of shots at the airplane, wounding McNabb near the ear, while several shots pierced the plane's wings.

Col. Beaumont B. Buck, commander of the Laredo district, with headquarters at Fort McIntosh here, said tonight all that is known of the attack is that the firing was from a point where an outpost of Mexican Federal soldiers was known to be located.

No additional statement would be made by Col. Buck, who forwarded promptly a report on the attack to Maj.-Gen. Joseph T. Dickman, commander of the Southern Department at San Antolo. It was indicated no action by officers here likely would be taken except on instructions from Gen. Dickman.

CONSUL "DOUBTS IT."

The Mexican Consul here declared tonight that he had heard a "detrimental rumor" to the effect that Mexicans had fired on an American airplane, but said he "did not believe it."

There have been unofficial reports for several days that Mexican "snipers" have fired at patrolling airplanes.

Capt. McNabb and Lieut. Johnson reported fully on the attack to Col. Buck, but neither would make a statement to the press early tonight. McNabb's wound is not serious.

Both aviators belonged to B flight, Eighth Aero Squadron, Capt. McNabb commanding the flight. The unit was transferred to Laredo from Kelly Field, San Antonio, several weeks ago, when other units were sent to various army posts along the border for patrol duty.

ATTACKED IN DAYLIGHT.

The attack on the aviators took place shortly after 9 a.m. about sixteen miles from Laredo, near the mouth of Santa Isabel Creek, while the airplane was flying low, hugging the American side of the Rio Grande. There was no warning from the attackers, who appeared suddenly on the Mexican bank and fired several volleys at the plane before it could get out of range. According to first reports, the aviators estimated there were twenty-five men in the attacking group.

Landing immediately on a field on the Texas side, Capt. McNabb was taken to a farmhouse and aid was summoned from Fort McIntosh hospital, a physician making the trip with surgical supplies in an airplane. When it was found McNabb's wound was not serious he was removed to the post hospital.

Unconfirmed reports tonight that Mexican soldiers may have participated in the attack, coupled with Col. Buck's statement that an outpost of Carranza soldiers had been stationed at the point where the COVERING NOTE TO AUSTRIA.

Replying to Her Observations on Conditions of Peace, Allies Point Out Her Responsibility for Starting War.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

PARIS, Sept. 2.—The note transmitting the Allied reply to the observations of the Austrian delegation on the conditions of peace, announced to Karl Renner and signed by M. Clemenceau, president of the council, follows:

"Draft of the covering letter (1:)

The Allied and associated powers have given most careful consideration to the observations of the Austrian delegation on the draft treaty of peace. The reply of the Austrian delegation objects to the draft treaty on the grounds that in view of the dissolution of the Austro-Hungarian monarchy Austria ought not to be treated as an enemy state at all, and that, in consequence, she ought not to be made in any special way inheritor of responsibilities in regard to reparation, to which the Austro-Hungarian monarchy would undoubtedly be liable, did it still exist.

"As these observations point to a fundamental misconception of the responsibilities of the people of Austria, the Allied and associated powers feel it necessary to state as briefly as may be the principles which they consider must be applied to the settlement of the late war as far as Austria is concerned. The people of Austria, together with their neighbors, the people of Hungary, bear in a peculiar degree responsibility for the calamities which have befallen Europe during the last five years.

"The war was precipitated by an ultimatum presented to Serbia by the government at Vienna, and requiring acceptance within forty-eight hours of a series of demands which amounted to the destruction of the independence of a neighboring sovereign state. The royal government of Serbia accepted within the prescribed time all the demands except those which involved the virtual surrender of its independence.

"Yet, the then Austro-Hungarian government, refusing all offers of a conference of conciliation on the basis of that reply, immediately opened hostilities against Serbia, thereby deliberately setting light to a train, which led directly to a universal war.

"It is now evident that this ultimatum was no more than an insincere excuse for beginning a war for which the late autocratic government in Vienna in close association with the rulers of Germany, had long prepared and for which it considered the time had arrived. The presence of Austrian guns at the siege of Liege and Namur is further proof, if proof were required, of the intimate association of the government of Vienna with the government of Berlin in its plea (plot) against public law and the liberties of Europe.

"The Austrian delegation appear to think that responsibility for these acts rested solely on the Hapsburg dynasty and its satellites and that by reason of the dissolution of that monarchy through the victory of the Allies, the people of Austria can escape responsibility for the deeds of the government, which was their own government and which had its home in their capital.

"Had the people of Austria in the years preceding endeavored to curb the militarist and domineering spirit by which the government of the Hapsburg monarchy was animated; had they made any effective protest against the war, or refused to assist or support their rulers in prosecuting it, some attention might now be paid to this plea. But the fact that the war was acclaimed on its outbreak in Vienna, that the people of Austria were its ardent supporters from start to finish and that they did nothing to dissociate themselves from the policy of their government and its Allies until they had been defeated in the field, makes it clear that, according to any canon of justice, they must be held to bear their full measure of responsibility for a crime which has brought such a misery on the world."

SURPLUS FOR RAILS IN JULY

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—For the first time in many months, government operation of the railroads in July showed a surplus instead of a deficit.

Director-General Hines announced today that preliminary figures of the month's business indicated net operating income of $77,000,000. After allowing one-twelfth of the annual rental of the railroad companies, the net gain is about $3,000,000, as compared with a deficit of $32,031,000 the preceding month and $45,000,000 in February, the largest deficit of the year. The net loss to the government for seven months is $290,524,307.

In calculating the surplus, however, no account was taken of the wage increase offered the shopmen and which has not yet been accepted by them. It has been estimated that the four cents an hour advance would amount to about $45,000,000 a year, and as it is retroactive, the surplus for July may become a deficit of approximately the same amount.

Mr. Hines pointed out that the falling off in freight business continued to be a big factor in the Railroad Administration's finances, although business has grown steadily since February. As compared with July, 1918, the decrease in operating income was about forty-four per cent. Ten miles per mile of road per day in July of this year were 4878, and in July of last year 8687. The freight traffic was about twenty-five per cent. larger than the average of July of the three year test period on which the returns to the roads are computed, but expenses likewise were greater, the increase amounting to $175,000,000, or about ninty-five per cent., much of it in wages. Passenger traffic also showed a substantial increase.

INGTON, Sept. 2.—The house tonight adopted a resolution introduced by Senator Phelan, Democrat, California, authorizing the House Immigration Committee to investigate alleged violations of the immigration laws on the northern and southern borders and report needed legislation. The Californian sponsor also introduced a bill for appropriating additional funds to enable the immigration bureau to provide adequate service to enforce the immigration laws.

FRESNO, Sept. 2.—The sale of 2.75 per cent. beer was permitted in Fresno under an ordinance passed today by the City Board of Trustees. Under the usual procedure the ordinance as passed goes over to the next meeting, two weeks from today, for final adoption, and the actual licensing of beer becomes effective September 17. The ordinance reduces the former liquor license fees from $250 to $200 for retail and from $100 to $75 for wholesale per quarter.

Feuston and Casey Jordon, a woman, who were arrested yesterday, were exonerated today of any implication in the murder.

AGRICULTURE INCLUDED IN WHITE HOUSE CONFAB.

President Discusses with the Cabinet Plans for Capital and Labor Round Table.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—President Wilson, on the eve of his departure to talk to the people of the country, determined to include representatives of agriculture in the economic and industrial conference he has proposed between leaders of capital and labor.

After a final meeting of the Cabinet before he takes the issues of the peace treaty and high cost of living directly to the ears of the public, the President authorized the announcement that the economic conference would be held early in October.

Secretary Tumulty also made it known that fifteen invitations to attend the proposed conference already have been prepared by the President and would be sent out from the White House tomorrow. Among these fifteen will be leaders of finance and manufacturing, labor and agriculture. Their names were not disclosed and it was stated the list would be extended later.

During his tour, which opens Thursday at Columbus, Ohio, the President is expected to digress from discussion of the League of Nations covenant and the peace treaty to talk about industrial and economic conditions in the country and it is believed he will endeavor to pave the way for laying before the forthcoming White House conference ambitious plans for changing and bettering relations between capital and labor.

Some of his advisers insist that the President will at that time submit practical suggestions to carry out his proposal for "democratization of labor" and to put "wages upon another footing." Co-partnership between employer and employee in industry and participation of employees in profits—and perhaps in losses—are believed to be within the scope of the plan the President will urge.

Senator Kenyon of Iowa, chairman of the Senate Labor Committee, urged yesterday that representatives of agriculture should be included in a discussion of fundamental questions of relations between industry and labor and the general economic welfare of the country.

Whether the Iowa Senator's suggestion had influence with the President is not known but his announcement that agriculturists would be included did not come until Senator Kenyon's suggestion had been given wide publicity.

LANE AT ROUND TABLE.

In the forthcoming conference the public, it is understood, will be represented by members of the Cabinet and the President himself. Secretary of Interior Franklin K. Lane is certain to be one of them, he having been one of the first to suggest such an economic round table discussion as the President has planned. Others to sit in the conference will be Secretary of Labor Wilson, Secretary of Agriculture Houston and probably Secretary of War Baker.

Secretary Lane it is understood, will have considerable to do with arranging details for the conference during the President's absence on his speaking tour. The formal call for the conference, it is understood, will not be issued until the President's return. The council of national defense will be asked to assist in arranging for the conference and the President also proposes to ask the United States Chamber of Commerce to co-operate with him in selecting representatives of capital who are to be invited to participate.

SOME TO BE INVITED.

Although the list of persons included in the conference invitation list to be sent out tomorrow has been withheld, it is regarded here as reasonably certain that among the representatives of the big industries, such as steel, and meat packing, E. H. Gary and Charles M. Schwab are to be called for the steel industry and J. Ogden Armour of Chicago for the packers. As for labor, Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, will be called of course. Other executive officers of the American Federation of Labor will be included and some of the railroad brotherhood heads will be urged to participate.

With this all-important conference coming in October, Washington in that month is to become the world center of industrial and economic affairs, the International Labor Conference under terms of the peace treaty having been called for October 29.

WAITING ON TREATY.

Secretary of Labor Wilson issued a statement tonight regarding the world labor conference deprecating the fact that no arrangements have yet been made for the appointment of American delegates because the peace treaty has not been ratified.

"No arrangments," said Secretary Wilson, "have been made for representation of the United States in the international labor conference to begin in Washington October 29 under the terms of the treaty of peace with Germany. No arrangements can be made unless and until the Senate has ratified the treaty and we have become a member of the League of Nations.

"The President will appoint all American delegates to the conference. They will have no diplomatic standing. The third paragraph of Article CCCLXXXVIIIII provides for the appointment of non-governmental delegates and advisors chosen in agreement with the industrial organization which are most representative of employers or of working people, as the case may be.

FROM ORGANIZED LABOR.

"In appointing the delegates the President will carry out the spirit of the labor clauses scrupulously and will therefore, in appointing delegates to represent the employees, do so in agreement with those organizations which in his judgment are most representative of them. It is generally understood that the American Federation of Labor is the organization which is most representative of American working people and I therefore assume the delegates to represent employees will be selected in agreement with that organization.

"The purpose of the conference is to adopt a standard which will secure and maintain any fair humane condition for men, women and children with due regard to climate, habits and conditions of living in the respective countries. It will reduce the difficulties of our own industrial problems in so far as the conference may assist in bringing living conditions of our people closer to the ideals they are striving for.

NO LOWERING OF STANDARD.

"By no possible stretch of the imagination can it be assumed that there is the slightest chance of any change being made in our living conditions except for the better. Because we might indorse a world standard presents no argument against establishing and maintaining a higher standard. I cannot conceive a possibility of the American standard being lowered by American employers and employees subscribing to a world standard. I call attention in this connection to Article CCCCV, which says: In no case shall any members be asked or required, as the result of the adoption of any recommendation or draft convention of the conference, to lessen the protection afforded by its existing legislation to the workers concerned.'

"The action of the conference will have only the moral force of the conference itself. It may take the form of a recommendation or of a draft convention. If the proposals take form simply of recommendations then they will require action by Congress in the form of legislation to make them effective. The conference could not confer any authority on the Department of Labor not granted to it by Congress. If the proposals should take the form of a draft convention we would then have a proposed treaty to be ratified by the Senate."

shooting took place, caused Laredo to throb with excitement in expectation of some action by the American forces, though there was no indication that any was forthcoming.

FOLLOWS OTHER ATTACKS.

The attack today, which took place shortly after 5 a.m., followed complaints for some time past that Mexicans occasionally have fired at the aerial border guard.

Capt. McNabb was brought to the post hospital at Fort McIntosh, where an examination showed that his wound was not serious. Only four bullet holes were found in the airplane's wings. Army officials at Fort McIntosh refused to comment on the affair.

BAKER AWAITS ADVICES.

By Arthur Sears Henning.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—The latest weekly crisis in the Mexican situation was furnished today by the most war-like demonstration against the United States by the Mexicans that has taken place in some time.

The attack on an American army airplane patrolling the border, and the wounding of one of the aviators, Capt. Davis B. McNabb, caused a commotion among army officers at the War Department, who are growing restive as it becomes more and more apparent that the Mexicans have no more fear of the armed and uniformed soldiers of the United States than of defenseless American civilians.

Secretary of War Baker, however, preserving that calm demeanor and mental poise in regard to a seat of war two or three thousand miles away, for which he is so justly famed, placidly remarked that he was awaiting an official report indicating whether the American aviators were flying over American or Mexican soil when the attack took place.

CONSIDERED BY CABINET.

The inference from the Secretary's remarks was that if the American flyer was wounded on the American side of the border the Mexicans were guilty of an attack on the United States, but if the airplane was on the Mexican side at the time the attack, might be regarded as an attempt to repel an invasion.

The matter came up at the Cabinet meeting when Mr. Baker reported the occurrence to the President and his councillors and the entire Mexican situation, including the growing hostility of Carranza to the United States was discussed for some time.

The President agreed with the Secretary of War that the seriousness of the attack on the airplane could not be determined until its location with regard to the border is made clear.

Official advices tonight are to the effect that the airplane was well within American territory when fired on by the Mexicans. Whether another punitive expedition has been launched across the border in pursuit of the hostile Mexicans could not be learned at the War Department tonight. It was stated that standing instructions permit the American border forces to pursue marauding bands of Mexicans into Mexican territory as far as it is necessary to kill, capture or disperse them.

COMMENT BY HOWZE.

Maj.-Gen. Robert L. Howze, on assuming command of the border forces took occasion to observe somewhat pointedly that "It seems reasonable to expect that our neighbors, the Mexicans, should respect us," and added that as the world war is over, "and practically all of our combat divisions are at home again, those in authority, if they see fit, are well able to adopt a policy that should bring favorable and happy results.

"This policy should bring about favorable results as far as first concerns our own interests and those of our friends, subjects of Great Britain and France, who have vast property holdings in Mexico; and, second, as far as concerns Mexico, in stabilizing or in establishing a livable form of government.

"We are living in a time too far advanced for the world to tolerate any but livable forms of government wherever civilized people may choose to live.

"Fortunately, American military matters on the border are in the very best hands, those of Maj.-Gen. Joseph T. Dickman at San Antonio, who in turn is backed up by our strong Chief of Staff, Gen. March."

A letter from an American banker at Chihuahua states that Henry Ford is about to establish a tractor plant in Northern Mexico, despite the disturbed conditions there. It appears, however, that the factory force is to be composed, not of Americans, but of Mexican mechanics now employed at the Dearborn machine plant.

BANDIT REPORTED KILLED.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—The bandit who murdered Adam Schaefer, an American citizen, in Zacatecas, August 28, has been killed by Mexican Federal troops, according to advices to the State Department today from Mexico City. A despatch from the American consul at Salina Cruz said Schaefer was a naturalized American, thus clearing up the question of his citizenship.

When attacked Schaefer was reported to have had a heavy pay roll for the mines where he was employed.

IN PURSUIT OF VILLA.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

EL PASO, Sept. 2.—Gen. Manuel M. Diegues, commander of the northern division of Mexican Federal troops, left Chihuahua City Sunday with a train of troops for Torreon, where he expected to take the field in pursuit of Francisco Villa's command, which was reported to have crossed the Nazas river southwest of Torreon five days ago, according to Col. Guillermo Vala, deputy chief of staff to Gen. Diegues, who arrived here today.

Col. Valle said Villa had 500 men under Martin Lopez and Nicholas Fernandez and was reported to be going in the direction of San Juan Del Rio, Durango. She said Gen. Miguel Acosta was pursuing Villa with cavalry.

PLANES ALARM CHIHUAHUA.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

CHIHUAHUA CITY (Mex.) Aug. 30.—Two airplanes flying high over this city today caused a sensation here when it was announced they were American aircraft and not the Mexican planes which have been flying near here. The aviators flew from Falomir station, on the Orient railroad northeast of Chihuahua City, passed over Aldama and reached here at five o'clock in the afternoon. The planes passed over the city, circled and flew northeast toward Falomir and Presidia, Tex.

HOUSE REPUBLICANS TO PLAN CAMPAIGN.

STATE DELEGATIONS TO SELECT COMMITTEE MEMBERS AT CAUCUS TODAY.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—Republican House members have been called to meet in caucus tomorrow night to map out a campaign for the 1920 campaigns.

The Republican Congressional Committee will be reorganized at once, several months in advance of the usual time. The State delegations will select their members of the committee at tomorrow's caucus and the committee will reorganize within a few days, the plan being to re-elect Representative Foss of Ohio chairman.

While the Congressional Committee devotes itself ordinarily to the election of members of the House, the occasion for the early start this year is to develop Republican sentiment in a number of States where close Senatorial contests are in prospect.

While there is a Senatorial committee it operates only in campaign times, the Congressional Committee maintaining an organization and sending out literature all the year round.

The Republicans have barely a majority in the Senate at present and need to make gains in a number of States next year in order to retain a safe margin. In the House the majority is large enough so the Republicans are not worrying much over next year's elections.

Senators Curtis, Smoot and other Republicans in the upper branch of Congress have been invited to attend the House caucus tomorrow to join in working out campaign plans.

WOUNDS BETRAYER AND PRAYS FOR HIS DEATH.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 2.—Praying that her victim might die, Mrs. Nancy Lucchesi, 21 years old, wife and mother, was visited yesterday at the Detention Home where she is being held for the attempted murder of Anthony Mancusso Sunday. He is at a hospital with three bullets in his body and is not expected to live.

"I am glad I shot him," the girl said. "I hope and pray that he dies. He treated me like a dog."

The girl said Mancusso, a married man, had taken her to Erie, Pa., when she was 17 years old and forced her to live with him. She said recently he had commanded her to go away with him again under penalty of telling her husband of their relationship.

THREE MEN OVERCOME BY FUMES IN A MINE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WALLACE (Idaho) Sept. 2.—Three men were overcome by fumes arising from a fire in the workings of the Hercules mine at Berk, near here, late today, but were rescued without difficulty. No other men were in the mine as the miners are on a strike. Little damage was done to the mine, according to an officer of the Hercules Company. Fire is under control.

DUTCH TRADERS AS MIDDLEMEN.

Holland a Clearinghouse for Former War Rivals.

England's Pound, Germany's Mark Buy More There.

Huns Eager for Steel, Hides Cotton and Wool.

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

COBLENZ, Aug. 31.—(Delayed.) In the resumption of commerce Holland is rapidly assuming the status of the middleman of Europe. A large quantity of ammunition products is being purchased by the Germans through The Netherlands because the mark suffers less in the transactions.

For the same reason an official group of English metal merchants is placing large orders through the Royal Netherlands Trading Company, Amsterdam, with German steel works for products which hitherto have come from the United States. This change by the British is due to the depreciation in the value of the pound sterling on the American exchange.

German trade with Holland is developing to substantial proportions. The principal item is seafood and such products as Holland has been importing from America. Dutch firms are actively seeking to resume pre-war relations with German importers and have made arrangements to sell on long credits. Holland has coffee, tea, lard, butter lentils, chocolate, tobacco, dairy products and potato flour available in large lots and at reasonable prices.

The resumption of trade relations between Germany and Holland is not progressing as well as would be expected, seeing that the business men of both nations are eager to trade. The cause is the disinclination of the German authorities to grant import licenses in any considerable number. One result has been an increase in smuggling of foodstuffs which have been sold in Germany at very high prices. Various German associations are planning a concerted effort to bring about a freedom of trade.

The German national food administration has closed a contract with a Rotterdam firm for 150,000 tons of La Plata wheat to be exported by a house in Buenos Aires. The Holland firm extended a long credit on favorable terms.

The Hamburg-American Line has arranged with the Van Ommeren Navigation Company of Rotterdam for regular steamship service between Hamburg and India with monthly sailings.

The German Chamber of Commerce at Cologne has listed the firms which desire to renew relations with American manufacturers. There is pressing need in Germany for such raw materials as steel, hides, cotton and wool.

A number of small transactions for precious stones have been made with American importers.

MINNEAPOLIS LAWYER RECITES HIS OWN CASE TO SENATE MILITARY COMMITTEE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—Reform in army court-martial procedure was urged before a Senate military subcommittee today by William Bissell Thomas, a Minneapolis lawyer, who served two years in the American Expeditionary Forces.

Many cases of alleged excessive and harsh court-martial sentences for trivial offenses among the American forces abroad were detailed by Mr. Thomas, who said he was court-martialed and sentenced to a prison camp in France for four months on a charge of being absent without leave due to having been sick in a hospital.

The witness also told of having seen Paul Smith of Bisbee, Ariz., whose leg was shattered at Chateau Thierry, arrested while still confined in the hospital because he was physically unable to make up his own bed. Smith was sent to a prison camp and required to work beside Austrian prisoners until guards took pity upon him and returned him to the hospital.

AUSTRIANS GET PEACE TREATY.

tion has been made in regard to frontiers.

In defining the boundary of Czecho-Slovakia, it is pointed out, they have tried to assure this state a complete system of communications and have therefore departed from the historical frontier of the crown of Bohemia to assure west and east communications of Southern Moravia and in the Gmund region to give Bohemia a junction of the two large railroad lines supplying this province.

With respect to the frontiers between Austria and Hungary, the Allied and associated powers have desired to guarantee access to the sea of the Czecho-Slovak state, and have therefore provided that Pressburg should have its access to the sea assured by transit across Hungarian as well as Austrian territory.

NO CEREMONY.

The treaty was presented to the Austrian delegates by Paul Dutasta, general secretary of the Peace Conference. He also handed them the Allied reply to the Austrian counter-proposals and a covering letter reiterating that Austria had precipitated the war by an ultimatum unacceptable to Serbia.

It was set forth, however, that the Allies were willing to assist Austria to adapt herself to her new situation and to admit her in the near future to the League of Nations. The treaty was presented in French, English and Italian.

VIENNA IS DOOMED.

Under the terms of the treaty Vienna, with its 2,000,000 inhibitants, seemed doomed to lapse into comparative commercial insignificance, as there is a population of only $4,000,000 within the country outside the city to support he capital, while with Jugo-Slavia, Czecho-Slovakia and Hungary existing as separate powers, Vienna can hardly hope to recover the business formerly drawn from their territories.

If the internationalization of Fiume were provided for, as is expected by many quarters, it is pointed out Austria's shrunken commercial interests would thereby be protected to some extent, but it is generally thought that Vienna is doomed as a great capital, and must inevitably relapse into a residential city.

RUMANIA WILL NOT SIGN.

Rumania will not sign the peace treaty with Austria, according to Intransigeant, because of a clause introduced at the formal request of the American delegates concerning ethnical minorities.

Rumania also takes exception to a clause regulating treaties, commerce and railroad rates, Intransigeant says, considering that it would be undignified for her to accept it. The newspaper adds that the resignation of J. J. C. Bratiano as Premier is imminent.

COUNCIL WISHES REPLY.

The supreme council today discussed the failure of Rumania to make written responses to the council's notes. It is likely the council will send an emissary in the near future with an emphatic note demanding an immediate response by Rumania to the council's communications.

The supreme council, according to the Echo de Paris, considered the question of racial minorities in Serbia and their equality with others in economic matters. The question of unwarranted interference in their internal affairs has been raised by some of the smaller nations in this connection.

In order to avoid affronting Serbia in this respect, France, the paper adds, has proposed that protection apply only to new territory and not Serbia as constituted before the war.

The peace treaty to be signed by Bulgaria, says the Tempa, contains an article by which Bulgaria binds herself to accept future decisions of the powers with regard to Thrace and the Aegean Sea.

FOOD GAMBLE BOOSTS PRICES.

Europe has not found it necessary to purchase the coming winter supplies, we are likely to have lower prices and prices may fall below the level of production to American consumers.

"The present high prices of food are not due to overexpenditures in Europe from the United States during the past year. That can be demonstrated by the fact that we have a new harvest with larger crops than previous years' production and at this time last year.

CONDITION NOT NORMAL.

"The law of supply and demand will continue, 'is not working normally and probably will not for another year.

"We still have a large surplus for next year and must have a prosperous farming community in order to have the world feed itself in the future and maintain prosperity at home and abroad.

"It could also have been shown that to have prevented great speculation had we retained an embargo on exports and thus kept the speculators puzzled as to the government's action."

Dist.-Atty. Clyne announced the government was ready to proceed and said that at the opening of the investigation, complete records of the Cudahy Packing Company, going back to 1913, will be laid before the grand jury. These records, he said, run to forty different cities.

POULTRY IS SEIZED.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SPOKANE, Sept. 2.—According to orders of the United States district Court, deputy United States marshals today seized 32,000 pounds of cold-storage poultry. The United States District Attorney, in a libel charged had been held in storage a reasonable length of time.

"The seizure was made as a result of the findings of the federal grand jury that the food had been held in cold storage an unreasonable length of time," said District Attorney A. Garrecht.

It was declared that the poultry, if sold by the United States, would go to the highest bidder.

The NEW EDISON

The Three Million Dollar Phonograph

THOMAS A. EDISON invented the phonograph in 1877. Later he improved his original phonograph to a point where his business advisers said to him: "You now have the best phonograph in existence. Let's go ahead and market it."

Mr. Edison shook his head and replied: "I am not going to put out a new phonograph until it is so perfect that its reproduction of music cannot be detected from the original music."

Thomas A. Edison spent three million dollars in cold cash to develop an instrument which matched the human voice and all kinds of musical instruments so perfectly that the original could not be told from the reproduction—or RE-CREATION, as it is now called.

We are prepared to sell you today, for $285, an exact duplicate of Edison's three million dollar Phonograph. You may even have extended terms of payment, if you desire that accommodation. First of all, however, we want you to hear this wonderful new instrument.

May we have the pleasure of demonstrating to you that Music's RE-CREATION is a reality and not merely a fanciful phrase?

San Francisco Continues its Entertainment of Men.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SEATTLE, Sept. 2.—President Wilson will review the Pacific Fleet here at 4 p.m. Saturday, September 13, according to telegrams from Secretary Tumulty, received today by chairmen of Seattle's Presidential and fleet welcome committees. The historic battleship Oregon will be the reviewing ship, the wires said.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—Secretary Daniels has accepted the invitation of Canadian officials to visit Victoria, B. C., on September 11. The Navy Department announced today that Mr. Daniels and Admiral Hugh Rodman, commander of the Pacific fleet, would make the trip on the steamer Seattle from New York. A division of destroyers will accompany the battleship from San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 2.—Secretary of the Navy Daniels will arrive in Portland, Or., and Columbia river points on his way to Puget Sound, he announced here today. The Secretary will leave San Francisco late Friday night or early Saturday morning aboard the dreadnaught Arkansas.

Secretary Daniels is scheduled to leave the Columbia River en route to Victoria and Puget Sound ports, September 10.

FLEET AT SEATTLE SEPTEMBER 12.

The fleet will arrive at Seattle September 12.

The warships to accompany Secretary Daniels to the Columbia River and Portland are the same as previously announced. Secretary Daniels will not visit Yosemite National Park Saturday as he had announced in a radiogram while en route from Honolulu.

PAGEANT IS REVIEWED.

The crowning event of the actual fleet celebration in the city took place today when a great and colorful pageant wended its way through the heart of the city. The parade was in honor of war women's day, and was participated in by 5000 men of the fleet, a host of singing girls, dressed in white army and cadet suits and many other organizations. Three phases of the nation's history were strikingly set forth in the appearance of Civil Spanish-American and world war veterans. The parade was reviewed by Secretary Daniels, Admiral Rodgman, Mayor Dolph and many other notables.

At a luncheon in his honor earlier in the day, Secretary of the Navy Daniels gave cheering word to San Franciscans and people of the Pacific Coast generally, when he said the fleet here today was but a harbinger of a greater fleet to be built up on this coast, and a merchant marine "that shall fly the American flag and never again will be allowed to decrease in size, but shall steadily increase."

INSPECTS NAVAL BASE.

Secretary Daniels passed the morning inspecting the proposed Hunters' Point naval base, and the Union Iron Works, where Mrs. Daniels christened the destroyer Chase as it started to slide into the water.

A pretentious programme of entertainment was offered officers and men of the fleet tonight. At the civic center there was an official display of fireworks. Many private and public dances were held, at which the fleet's personnel were guests. Secretary Daniels and all fleet officers

Mr. Randall asked continuance of the war-time passport restrictions to keep Americans out of the Mexican city, but the Secretary explained the restrictions were not adopted to meet the situation complained of by the California member.

The murderer sent one bullet into each of his victims.

Police, who suspect John Smith, a "squatter," is connected with the crime, have learned Smith, soon after the murders, set out in an open boat for Vancouver Island, across the Straits of Juan de Fuca from here. Government boats were searching for him late today. Smith recently had trouble with the three men, it was said.

OPPOSES BILL, SAYS JAPANESE.

Kawakami Denies Authorship of Immigration Measure.

Replies to Statement Made in Senate by Phelan.

"Honorable Senator Should Publish Reply."

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 3.—In an open letter received here today from New York, K. K. Kawakami, Japanese publicist and author, replied to a statement made in Washington on August 17, by United States Senator James D. Phelan that he (Kawakami) and Dr. Sidney L. Gulick of New York collaborated in the preparation of an immigration bill introduced recently by Senator Dillingham of Vermont. Senator Phelan at the time made public the copy of a letter written by Kawakami to Dr. Gulick which, he said, proved his contention that "Gulick is simply a Japanese agent."

The immigration bill in question provides that immigrants may enter the United States at the rate of 5 per cent. each year of the total already in the country.

Kawakami, who is a resident of San Francisco, said in his reply that he regarded his letters on public questions as "public documents" and that he wanted Senator Phelan or anybody else to feel quite at liberty to examine them at any time. To be fair, however, "the honorable Senator should have published Dr. Gulick's reply to my letter," he said. Kawakami's reply in part says:

AROSE FIVE YEARS AGO.

"My attention was first called to Dr. Gulick's immigration plan some five years ago. The plan seemed original, clever and interesting. Because I had written a book or two on Japanese immigration I was asked to express my opinion on the plan. At that time I could not see my way to agree with Dr. Gulick, and I objected to the plan on these grounds:

"First. The Gulick plan is a camouflage for Japanese exclusion. It is very cleverely disguised, but no Japanese is unintelligent enough not to see its real intention, which is no less than total exclusion of the Japanese.

"Second. The plan is impracticable because it will be strenously opposed by European immigrants and American citizens of European descent who have voting privileges and exercise tremendous political influence. These people will turn heaven and earth to defeat the Gulick plan, because it proposes to reduce European immigration to a considerable extent.

"Third. Those who oppose the Gulick plan because it affects European immigration would, in their effort to defeat it, argue that it is designed to render favor to the Japanese, though in reality it does nothing of the sort. Thus the proposal, in addition to doing the Japanese injustice, would create an opportunity to start an anti-Japanese agitation on the part of those who would defeat this proposal from consideration of self-interest.

COAST NOT SATISFIED.

"Since I expressed the above view I have occasionally seen and corresponded with Dr. Gulick. He has emphatically disagreed with me, and insisted that the Pacific Coast is not satisfied with the gentlemen's agreement and that nothing short of practical exclusion would put an end to the anti-Japanese agitation there. Dr. Gulick has been confident that his proposal will have the effect of stopping this agitation because it will virtually stop Japanese immigration.

"Without, in the least, receding from my original stand that the plan implies an injustice to the Japanese, I have nevertheless come to reconcile myself to it in the hope that it will at least have the effect of terminating the perennial agitation on the Pacific Coast, because I am always interested in any honorable plan calculated to remove friction among peoples and tending to foster friendly relations among nations.

"As for the immigration bill introduced by Senator Dillingham, I know nothing about it."

PROHIBITIONISTS SEE REASON TO CONTINUE.

DECLARE LAW ENFORCEMENT IS GREATEST ISSUE IN UNITED STATES TODAY.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 3.—Declarations that law enforcement is the greatest issue in the United States today and that the prohibition party should be perpetuated with law enforcement as the dominant feature of its policy were loudly applauded today by members of the national committee of the party in session here.

Replying to assertions that adoption of the eighteenth amendment had ended the usefulness of the party, Robert Patton, Springfield, Ill., declared that "Bolshevism and disregard of law constitute the supreme issue in the world today," and argued for a vigorous campaign by the Prohibition party on the issue of law enforcement.

At noon the subcommittee on resolutions was meeting in executive session with instructions to report back to the committee on a large number of proposals by early afternoon. The future of the party and its policy will be determined by the committee before adjournment tonight. It is regarded as certain that a national convention will be held next year.

MAIL MEN ASK FOR 40 POUNDS AS LOAD LIMIT

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 3.—A resolution was adopted today by the National Association of Letter Carriers, in convention here, urging the Postoffice Department to limit the amount of mail for one carrier on any trip to forty pounds in residential sections, and fifty pounds in business districts.

CHICAGO TO REFORM HOUSE SERVANT RULES

WILL FOLLOW LEAD OF ENGLAND AND GERMANY IN IMPROVING CONDITIONS.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 3.—Reformation of the basis on which domestic servants work—such as the making of nursing a profession by Florence Nightingale—is to be the subject of conferences of women's clubs, led by officers of the Chicago Woman's Club, following action in Europe which has brought about a revolution in the so-called servant problem.

Chicago domestics and leaders in movements that will place them on a different footing than the one they now fail to enjoy, are interested in reports from Germany of the establishment of laws by the new government for the purpose of better caring for housemaids and men.

"Chicago is coming along well in its efforts toward a solution of the servant problem," said Miss Mary McDowell, head resident of the University of Chicago settlement. "The reconstruction minister of the British government last winter was working on the proposition of making some regulation for domestics. The women were objecting to return to housework after working in munitions' because housework had no set hours, pay, offered no contracts, in short, no regulations for their work to which they had been accustomed at the factories.

"Germany was the worst place of all."

Now comes a story of the new working plans as worked out by the new government in Berlin. The servant is required to be at call for thirteen hours a day, two hours of that time to be free for meals and other purposes. After 7 p. m. she may be called on to get supper, answer the door, prepare the beds and performs other light duties.

Washing, ironing or scouring are not to be undertaken after that hour. Extra work required by visitors or parties is to be paid for at over time rate, the rate to increase after 10 p. m.

Servants are to be free every other Sunday after 3 p. m. and are entitled to one other afternoon off each week. Servants must notify their employers before leaving the house. Girls under eighteen years old must be in by 10 p. m. Older women may arrange with their employer the hour for their return.

PASTOR EJECTED FOR INTERRUPTING SPEECH

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

PEORIA (Ill.) Sept. 3.—Rev. E. T. Munns, prominent pastor and settlement worker here, was ejected forcibly last night from a public meeting at which Patrick O'Donnell, Chicago attorney, was speaking on "The Shame of Shantung." E. N. Woodruff, Mayor of Peoria; W. C. Pomeroy, editor of the Illinois Labor Journal, and H. M. Powell, major Illinois reserve militia, when the minister interrupted the speaker and took issue with him, removed the minister.

"England has furthered her propaganda," said O'Donnell to several thousand people in the city coliseum, "which has poisoned the minds of every other nation against every nation except herself."

"She has not," quietly but forcibly, challenged the Rev. Mr. Munns.

Cries of "Put him out!" immediately were heard, but the speaker attempted to smooth the matter over. "And England saved America," continued the minister.

Quickly the Mayor, Pomeroy and Powell gathered about the minister. Two policemen were summoned and he was dragged up the aisle toward the exit.

Other ministers intervened and the Mayor instructed the officers to loose the Rev. Mr. Munns. Personally the Mayor and Powell conducted him out and walked him three blocks from the coliseum.

UNION CARPENTERS IN SACRAMENTO STAY OUT

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 3.—Fifty union carpenters remained idle today because of failure to reach an agreement with contractors over demands for a wage increase of $1 a day for new work, W. E. Truesdale, business agent of the union, reported. The contractors agreed to grant the raise if the carpenters would agree to assess themselves to pay carpenters working on old contracts, the new scale, it was claimed. The contractors said it would be impossible under the unequal wage rates which would have been created to keep men employed on old contracts.

LOS ANGELES SUPPLY OF GAS MAY BE AIDED.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 3.—Authority for the Midway Gas Company to purchase the stock of the Valley Natural Gas Company and to lease the properties of the Valley company was granted here today by the State Railroad Commission. Granting the application of the Midway Gas Company, the commission said:

"The combining of the operation of the two companies will conserve the natural gas supply, decrease waste and make possible a lower operating cost and an added natural gas supply for distribution in Los Angeles and vicinity."

MONEY IS ASKED TO FIGHT FIRES.

Appropriation of $2,500,000 Needed, Says Department.

Greatest Damage to Timber in Thirty Years, is Claim.

New England Timber Owners Urged to Co-operate.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—Congress was asked today to appropriate $2,500,000 for fighting forest fires in the West. The Department of Agriculture in requesting the appropriation, explained it had already spent more than $2,000,000 for this purpose, and that expenditures were continuing at the rate of $50,000 a day. Further appropriations will have to be made in addition to the two and a half million dollars unless rains set in within ten days, the department said.

Acting Secretary Marvin, in a letter accompanying the request, said the forest fires this year had been the worst in thirty years, although the prevention and extinguishing organization had been the best in history. Unless the fire fighting is continued a conflagration will sweep the western forest lands, he said, adding that if the drouth continues "great difficulties may be expected in both Eastern Oregon and Washington and on the western slope of the mountains."

URGES CO-OPERATION.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

BETHLEHEM (N. H.) Sept. 2.—Pointing to the tremendous forest-fire losses every year and to the three States swept by fires this summer, Charles Lathrope Pack, president of the American Forestry Association of Washington, today urged foresters and timber-land owners to get together on a co-operative fire-protection plan as the first step toward a national forest policy.

"The United States," said Mr. Pack, in addressing the New England forestry conference, "has only about one-fourth of its original forest and this is disappearing three times faster than it is being replaced. We must, before it is all gone, provide for a timber supply for our future needs and we can do so if foresters will get together with the lumbermen and timber-land owners and agree upon a practical workable forest policy."

RAIN HELPS SITUATION.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

MISSOULA (Mont.) Sept. 2.—Light showers in Western Montana and Northern Idaho of the last few days have subdued the flames, which have been spreading devastation throughout the national forests of this district, to such an extent that the fire situation is no longer considered serious unless a prolonged dry spell should occur, it was stated at forest service headquarters here today.

The rains were general except on the Montana-Idaho border of the Bitter Root forest, where the Deer Creek fire is still blazing.

UNDER CONTROL AT PRESENT.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PORTLAND (Or.) Sept. 2.—Forest fires are still burning in scores of localities in Oregon and Washington, but all serious blazes are under control at present, it was stated at the office of the district forester here today.

CHARGE TAMPERING IN JUDGE'S BOOZE TRIAL.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SEATTLE, Sept. 2.—Announcement by Deputy Prosecuting Attorney T. H. Patterson that he would prove to the jury that Superior Judge Clay Allen attempted to persuade a witness to testify falsely before the recent grand jury was the outstanding development today when Judge Allen was placed on trial on the indictment returned by the grand jury charging him with having whisky in his possession contrary to the law.

Most of the day was spent in impaneling a jury. Five prosecution witnesses called testified relative to the disappearance of the liquor from the Courthouse.

Prosecutor Patterson told the jury how, when the grand jury was in session, Judge Allen told of his possession of five quarts of whisky, and had delivered the liquor to the grand jury. It will be the contention of the prosecution, Patterson said, that the whisky was saved by Judge Allen for his private use, and not for any other purpose.

TO URGE METHODISTS TO LIFT THEATER BAN.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—A resolution urging the Methodist Episcopal Church at its general conference in Des Moines next May to lift the ban on theatergoing, was adopted yesterday by the Producing Managers' Association. The managers declared "we seek to have the theater on such a plane that neither church nor state can object to its social influence."

A convention of dancing masters last Saturday passed a resolution asking the conference to remove its prohibition on dancing.

SACRIFICES LIFE THROUGH LOVE.

Man Killed by Train with Wife He Could not Save.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 2.—"I'll stay with you Mary." With these words William F. Tanner, a cashier in the offices of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad here closed his eyes, embraced his wife, whose foot was caught in a railroad frog and was killed with her when a limited train of the Chicago and Northwestern railroad crashed into them last night.

John Miller, a flagman, in attempting to rescue the couple lost his left leg and sustained a fracture of the right arm.

PEOPLE REAL LEAGUE AUTHORS.

Taft Says Covenant is Response to Cry of Mothers and Wives Who Want Wars to be Prevented.

BY WILLIAM HOWARD TAFT.

I think there is a great deal of misconception as to what it was which brought about the League of Nations. It has been said to be a fad of Mr. Wilson's; it has been said that he surrendered things in the treaty in order to carry out his fad. This is great error. Mr. Wilson has not always been in favor of the league; neither has Lloyd George; neither has Clemenceau. The truth is that this league was incorporated in the treaty because the plain people of Great Britain and of France and of Italy demanded a League of Nations as machinery by which this might be made, as nearly as possible, the last war.

RESPONSE TO DEMAND.

That feeling grew as the morale weakened in these countries, and the morale was stiffened by those among the plain people who urged that the introduction of a League of Nations would make war in the future impossible, and that they ought to make the effort to win the war, because by so doing, and through a League of Nations, they would accomplish a purpose justifying the enormous sacrifices that a continuance of the war would involve. This is why the first resolution passed by the conference was that "not only must there be a League of Nations, but it must be the first thing considered, it must be an indispensable part of the treaty"—all this came because of the knowledge of Clemenceau, Orlando, and Lloyd George that the plain people of these countries demanded such machinery. If it is adopted it will furnish one more instance of the common sense of the plain people that justifies a step forward which statesmen and halting philosophers are afraid to take.

CHURCHES WANT LEAGUE.

The women in this country are in favor of the league. The working men are in favor of the league. The churches are in favor of the league. Why! Because they fully understand its provisions? No, but because they believe that it is a sincere effort to unite the forces of all the nations of the world to prevent war as far as possible. And they are willing to undertake the experiment. Now, the league is part of a treaty. Its constitutional validity, as far as we are especially concerned, depends on the question, what is the scope of the treaty-making power?

Now, whether the league is constitutional or not depends upon the construction that should be put upon it. The objectors to the league, many of them, say that it creates a super-sovereignty, an over-government, a managing directorate in which the delegated powers are given that only can be exercised under our Constitution by Congress. There might be such a league; there might be such a league as France desired to have in which there would be a managing directorate with a chief of police, so to speak, under that directorate, with a million men in the police force, so that Chief of Police Foch, hearing of a disturbance in one part of the globe, could send word by cable to his superintendent there, "take twenty thousand men, go over and suppress that disturbance, and put out the fire."

FRENCH PLAN FAILS.

France was anxious to have it, because France wanted an arrangement by which Foch could order to the German frontier at once on any threat of German attack on France, half a million men, and her delegates argued strenuously before the conference in favor of such an arrangement. But the other nations declined, and our representatives declined, because they said: "Not only do we object on the grounds of expediency to parting with sovereignty such as that would be, but we have not the power under the Constitution."

The league which I have described is not the league that is now presented for our consideration and adoption. What is it? It is only a partnership agreement. It is an agreement in which the partners agree to co-operate. It is written in the covenant what they shall do under the obligations so described. The circumstances under which these obligations arose are stated in the covenant; and it is for each member of the league necessarily to construe its own obligation, to determine how that obligation shall be performed, and then to perform it, itself, and not through any agency except its constitutional and normal agency to do the thing which it has agreed to do.

FUNCTION IS ADVISORY.

I think if you will study the league you will find that is the condition. It is said that the council is the managing body, that it is the supersovereign. There is no function to be performed by the council that is not advisory. The expression "to deal with" occurs once or twice, but you will find that expression refers rather to the scope of the subject matter to be considered in the meeting, of which all members must take notice so as to be there, and that the description of the functions of the council itself is contained in the words "recommend," "advise," and "propose."

Upon these words and the construction of these words must depend what the function of the council is. Those who object on the ground that that is supersovereignty maintain that "recommend" means "command," that "advise" means "direct" and that "propose" means "order." I submit on the face of it that that is a strained construction of the words, and that nothing but a most unusual context in each case would justify such a misinterpretation of the words according to their ordinary meaning. And when you consider that this league is a league not under a supreme court which has the power over every member to compel it to render its affirmative duty, but that this must depend upon the spirit of co-operation, and that each nation must determine for itself its meaning, the construction by us will certainly be reasonable.

THE LEAGUE'S OBJECT.

What is the object of the League of Nations and what does it propose to do? The object is to avoid war as far as possible. It is to make peace as permanent as it can be made.

How does it do it? It does it by four great steps. The first is Article VIII, the armament article. It declares it to be in the interest of peace that there should be a reduction of all the armaments in the world as far as possible, consistent with national safety and the obligations of the league.

It directs the council to prepare a plan for that reduction and the council to take a military commission to assist it. The council then takes up the matter of receiving information which the nation's covenant is to give as to all existing armaments. Then the council makes the plan, reduces the armament and fixes the limit for each country. That plan, when completed, is submitted to all the governments. Each government studies with a view to its own limitations, and its own limitations with respect to the limitations of other governments. It argues out the question, and negotiates, and finally a voluntary agreement is reached.

MEETS EMERGENCIES.

When that voluntary agreement is reached with a limitation to each nation proportionate to its needs, then the countries covenant to keep within that limit for not more than ten years, there being a revision before the end of ten years. If during that time any contingency requires the increasing of the limit of any nation the council has authority to increase it. That is a means of meeting emergencies. On the other hand, there is a check against disproportionate increase, for that council acts unanimously, and we can have a member on that council and no limit can be increased without our consent.

Now, what is the objection to this? It is said that this will paralyze our defense, subject our homes and firesides and free institutions to destruction and lay us naked to our enemies. That is eloquent, but there is not a scintilla of fact to sustain it, not a scintilla. It is a reduction of the armament so that armament will be defensive and not offensive, so it shall contain no temptation to war. While we may be said to lay ourselves naked to our enemies, they lay themselves naked to us. In other words, the convention is only an ordinary agreement as to style or latitude in dress—war dress. That is all it is. This whole war in its character of human disaster has come from race for armament. It began away back with Bismarck in the development of Prussia into the German Empire, when he said he would do it by blood and iron.

GERMAN MILITARISM.

The Kaiser had the dream of universal dominion. And to assist him in that he took this wonderful military establishment and enlarged it, and that enlargement went on from year to year, conscription of two years for all the youth of the empire, with a reserve of these trained soldiers after that service by from six or seven years in addition.

Strategic railways, great manufacturers of ammunition, artillery, small arms, explosives—everything was done that science could suggest or experience dictate with reference to making that military establishment the strongest in the world. The Germans stimulated action in their allies, Austria and Italy. Conscription went on in both these countries. France and Russia were roused by fear of invasion, and so they went on year after year and decade after decade, until in 1914, these armaments had reached an enormous figure, far beyond anything ever contemplated.

SHOWS CIVIL EFFECTS.

That is what brought about the war. The evil effects were fourfold. It loaded the poor people of Europe with overwhelming taxation. It took out of the life of all the youth two or three years of their producing capacity. It gave a truculence, a chip-on-the-shoulder disposition and temptation to war, a bullying tendency to the Kaiser, who felt the strength of this military establishment, so that when he went into conference with other nations and came out winner, he told his people that he won by standing forth in shining armor, by rattling his sword in its scabbard.

STARTS HOLOCAUST.

And when 1914 came he had won in the race. Russia had not completed her strategic railways. France had not completed her plan of artillery or conscription. And he said, "Now is the time to strike! Our enemies are in condition where we can strike them and win!" And when the Serbian difficulty came on he told Emperor Francis Joseph: "I will go north on a vacation, apparently, and then you put in the ultimatum, and when I hear of it I will be surprised and I will hurry back," and he did. "But," he said, "No conferences with other nations." And there were none. And war was on.

It brought on the war, this race for armament. And the worst feature of that enormous armament was the character of the campaign that it brought about. Never in history have we had, since the days of Attila the Hun, such savagery; instruments of destruction were directed not against armies only, but against old men, against women and children. Explosives, dropped from the clouds, made no discrimination between combatants and noncombatants. Explosives from the bottom of the sea destroyed innocent people on the sea who had a right to be there, men, women and children, noncombatants. All grew out of the enormous armament.

And then the devastation of the countries, for it was a devastation of people and of countries. The northern part of France, its great manufacturing centers, were absolutely destroyed, and the mines have been so injured that it will take fifteen years compensation by use of other mines to enable France to pull herself together.

Machinery was stolen from Belgium in order to interfere with her industrial future, so that when these nations were conquered, not only would their armies be conquered but their commercial supremacy would be injured and their power of competition would be forever destroyed. The destruction of trees and houses in the country has no parallel. That is all due to the enormous scope of the armament and the opportunity for destruction that this armament gave.

Is there a man or woman with soul so dead to the welfare of mankind, of his own people and the nations of the world, who does not long for some means of preventing a recurrence of that awful race for armament which is the inevitable alternative unless we adopt some means of stopping it? The League of Nations is the remedy.

SHIPPING REGULATIONS FOR ALASKA OPPOSED.

LAWYER SAYS INTERSTATE COMMERCE CONTROL WOULD MEAN HIGHER RATES.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—Alaskan steamship rates would have to be greatly increased if water transportation were placed under the regulatory jurisdiction of the Interstate Commerce Commission as proposed in the Esch-Pomerene bill for railroad regulation, Frank A. Law, counsel of the Alaskan Steamship Company told the House Interstate Commerce Committee today.

Existing laws limiting liability of shipowners for cargo losses would be canceled by the new bill, he said, making it necessary for the owner to carry more insurance, which in turn would be transferred to the shipper through advanced rates.

A communication from Gov. Riggs of Alaska, who is ex-officio chairman of the Alaskan territorial shipping board, favoring the Esch-Pomerene bill, was read into the record. The Governor said control of water traffic should be under one agency, but Mr. Law said he did not believe the board realized the effect the legislation would have on rates.

FRENCH SOON TO TAKE VOTE ON PEACE TREATY

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

PARIS, Sept. 2.—It is expected in official circles that the Chamber of Deputies will vote on the peace treaty Saturday, according to Marcel Hutin, of the Echo de Paris.

Rene Viviani, former Premier and president of the Treaty Committee, will make an address on Friday and Premier Clemenceau will wind up the debate.

The Senate will require four sittings before voting on the treaty. It is believed that the ratification of the convention will be promulgated in the Official Journal between September 15 and September 12.

Capt. Andre Tardieu, speaking for the government during the debate in the Chamber of Deputies this afternoon on ratification of the German peace treaty, said the French war losses constituted 16 per cent. of the men mobilized. Fifty-seven per cent. of all men with the colors under 31 years of age were killed.

OGDEN'S POSTMASTER DIES IN AUTO LEAP.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

OGDEN, Sept. 2.—W. W. Browning, president of the Utah State Postmasters' Association, and Postmaster here, and George C. Daniels, chief postoffice inspector at Denver, Colo., were killed and three other Utah postal officials were injured last night when an automobile in which they were riding from Logan to Ogden over a mountain road skidded, plunged off a bridge and turned a somersault into a swollen mountain stream.

Browning and Daniels were drowned, according to reports reaching here.

Postmaster Browning was a brother of John M. Browning, the fire arms inventor.

FRELINGHUYSEN MAKES DEFENSE.

Accuses Palmer of Trying to Condone Lusitania.

Says Attorney-General Uses Prussian Methods.

Gets Vituperative Attack in Answer to Charges.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—A charge that Atty.-Gen. Palmer was an "intermediary" between President Wilson and German agents anxious to condone the Lusitania incident and now is using his authority to "intimidate" those who criticise, was made in the Senate today by Senator Frelinghuysen, Republican, of New Jersey.

The Senator was replying to the Attorney-General's statement issued last Saturday charging Mr. Frelinghuysen was pleasing Germany by his official attitude. Mr. Palmer's nomination as Attorney-General was confirmed last week after a fight had been made on him by Mr. Frelinghuysen.

"Mr. Palmer," said the New Jersey Senator, "is pursuing the same methods as he has used before, shouting pro-Germanism at those who oppose his high-handed methods. He will not hesitate to use all the great powers of his office to intimidate those who oppose him. He has learned from the German agents. He is more Prussian than the Prussians."

DENIES CHARGES.

Senator Frelinghuysen said Mr. Palmer's charges that he had opposed the Alien Property Custodian Act and sought to protect German interests in this country were "malicious, specious, ridiculous and untrue."

The New Jersey Senator denied that he had ever had personal interest in or connection with German interests during the war and he demanded an immediate investigation of Mr. Palmer's administration.

Senator Frelinghuysen said it was well known that many "bargains" were secured in sale of enemy property. He told the Senate he did not charge Mr. Palmer with making personal profits in such sales. Personal and political friends of Mr. Palmer and the President's secretary, Joseph P. Tumulty, he charged, were appointed agents of the alien property custodian.

SPIRITED REPLY.

Replying to Senator Frelinghuysen, Senator Underwood, Democrat, Alabama, charged that the men who appeared before the Judiciary Committee in opposition to the Attorney-General's nomination were the paid attorneys of the same German interests that had been attacking the Trading With the Enemy Act ever since its passage by Congress.

Senator Underwood called attention to the fact that the committee, although controlled by the Republicans, rendered a unanimous report exonerating Mr. Palmer of any blame. When the Trading With the Enemy Act was originally proposed, Senator Underwood said, it provided for the seizure of German property in this country which was to be held for the German people, but later on his amendment "teeth" were put into the bill and provision made for the confiscation of this property by the United States government.

TO PAY CLAIMS.

Unless funds derived by the alien property custodian from the sale of these properties, the Alabama Senator said, were held intact, no way would be provided for the paying of the many claims growing out of the sinking of the Lusitania and other German outrages committed against Americans.

Senator Underwood declared that the charges against the Attorney-General emanated from Germany and were circulated as part of a general scheme of the Germans to "get back this blood money."

WILSON FAVORS BROAD PLAN IN CHURCH WORK

BELIEVES IN NEW PROGRAMME TO MEET DEMANDS OF AN INDUSTRIAL ERA.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

LAKE GENEVA (Wis.) Sept. 2.—In a message read to the Presbyterian New Era conference today, President Wilson, an elder in the church, declared himself "deeply interested in the character and purposes of the New Era movement which is designed to formulate a five-year programme to meet new conditions and problems."

"That the church should devote itself to these great purposes of service and enlightenment is an evidence, it seems to me, of its true interpretation of the spirit of the gospel and of its vitality as an instrument of high public service in the nation," the message said.

Appropriation of $35,000,000 for Christian education, $10,000,000 to endow a fund to support aged and disabled ministers and the establishment of one million family altars in American homes were included in the five-year programme presented by Dr. William F. Marquis of Chicago to the conference here today.

The mission of the New Era church, Barclay Acheson, Portland, Ore., said in an address, was to "Christianize industrial democracy."

The results have been forwarded to the international officers at Washington, he announced.

OPPOSITION TO DRY WORLD IDEA

Prohibitionists are Split on Foreign Work Plan.

Speaker Says Oversea Campaign is "Impertinent."

But Resolution Gives Fund to Aid Movement.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 2.—A resolution proposing that the prohibition party "have no connection with the so-called world work" was rejected late today by the National Committee of the party after a heated debate. In its stead was adopted an amendment recommending that individual members of the party be urged to "give active assistance in the world prohibition work through the instrumentality of the prohibition foundation."

The foundation is an organization composed of members of the prohibition party.

FUTURE POLICY UNSETTLED.

The National Committee adjourned its two-days' meeting tonight without outlining a definite policy for the future of the party. It adopted a resolution authorizing a national convention at a time and place to be determined by the Executive Committee. Speakers said it should be understood that the convention would be held subsequent to the conventions of the Republicans and Democrats and that action taken by the prohibitionists would be determined to a large extent by the courses pursued by the two larger parties.

A resolution was adopted recommending that the party unite with other parties "when for the good of the cause."

Hewson L. Peeke of Sandusky, O., chairman of the subcommittee on resolutions, whose report urging opposition to participation in European prohibition battles, was rejected, led the fight in the committee against the amendment which was adopted.

OPPOSES INTERFERANCE.

"What right have we to go to other countries and interfere in their domestic questions?" he demanded. "It is infernal impertinence on our part."

Another rift developed in the committee meeting over a proposal favoring a prohibitive tax on liquors should demobilization be declared complete and saloons permitted to reopen during the interim between war-time prohibition and constitutional prohibition. It was urged by members that such action would lay the committee open to the charge of sponsoring licensing of the liquor traffic through taxation. The resolution as adopted, urged Representative Randall of California, the only member of the prohibition party in Congress, to "persist in his work until all necessary enforcement legislation be adopted to put into operation the Constitutional amendment," and to urge a prohibitive tax should the ban on liquor be lifted.

Declarations that law enforcement is the greatest issue in the United States today and that the prohibition party should be perpetuated, with law enforcement as the dominant feature of its policy, were loudly applauded today by members of the committee.

Replying to assertions that adoption of the eighteenth amendment had ended the usefulness of the party, Robert Patton, Springfield Ill., declared that "Bolshevism and disregard of law constitute the supreme issue in the world today," and argued for a vigorous campaign by the Prohibition party on the issue of law enforcement.

WILSON FAVORS BROAD PLAN IN CHURCH WORK

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

LAKE GENEVA (Wis.) Sept. 2.—In a message read to the Presbyterian New Era conference today, President Wilson, an elder in the church, declared himself "deeply interested in the character and purposes of the New Era movement which is designed to formulate a five-year programme to meet new conditions and problems."

"That the church should devote itself to these great purposes of service and enlightenment is an evidence, it seems to me, of its true interpretation of the spirit of the gospel and of its vitality as an instrument of high public service in the nation," the message said.

The name of President Wilson was cheered when his message was read. The applause continued for several minutes and then the delegates sprang to their feet and sang "America." A committee was appointed to prepare a memorial to be sent to the President and Secretary of State Lansing.

"To bring men back to the spiritual standard, to make Christ's principles a vital and impelling force in the reconstruction of society, and to teach men to think true and live true is the mighty task to which the church is called," in the opinion of Secretary of State Robert Lansing, expressed in his address to the conference.

The character of the new era, the Secretary of State added, will depend upon whether materialism or spirituality dominates mankind and "it is for a living, aggressive Christianity to win in this supreme conflict and to vanquish evil ideas which now seem so potent in the world."

Appropriation of $35,000,000 for Christian education, $10,000,000 to endow a fund to support aged and disabled ministers and the establishment of one million family altars in American homes were included in the five-year programme presented by Dr. William F. Marquis of Chicago to the conference here today.

The mission of the New Era church, Barclay Achelon, Portland, Or., said in an address, was to "Christianize industrial democracy."

END OF THESPIANS' STRIKE IS RUMORED.

EQUITY OFFICERS SAY ONLY PEACE TERMS MUST BE BASED ON RECOGNITION.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—The actors' strike which has kept closed virtually all of New York's playhouses during the last twenty-five days is nearing an end, according to reports persistently circulated in theatrical circles here tonight.

Recognition by the Producing Managers' Association of the striking Actors' Equity Association is the only hope of terminating the strike, Equity officials declared. This assertion was backed up by S. B. Newman, an officer of the Stagehands Union, in response to the request of the newly-organized Actors' Fidelity League that the stagehands' sympathetic strike be called off, following the recommendation of the New York State Federation of Labor that labor disputes be held in abeyance for six months. Mr. Newman asserted the attitude of the stagehands would not be affected by the appeal and that they would stand behind the Equity Association until their demands were granted.

CHICAGO, Sept. 2.—Threats to disfigure Miss Laura Hope Crews, leading woman in "On the Hiring Line," are contained in a note turned over to the police today by her manager. The note was slipped under Miss Crews' door at her hotel and was found by her after the performance at the Blackstone Theater last night. It purported to be from a member of the Actors' Equity Association.

ILLINOIS MINERS VOTE TO CONTINUE STRIKE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

COLLINSVILLE (Ill.) Sept. 2.—Representatives of approximately 3000 insurgent miners in Troy, Belleville, Peoria, Marissa and Collinsville met here late today and voted not to return to work and to support striking miners parading through Southern Illinois to win recruits.

According to speakers at the meeting, Frank J. Hayes, president of the United Mine Workers, was automatically expelled from the union by the action of Frank Farrington, State president, in revoking charters of twenty-four locals.

President Hayes held his union card from local 655, Collinsville, one of the disfranchised locals, it was asserted.

The train, the newspaper adds, will be a special one of five cars.

ORDER FOR RAILROAD STRIKE IS RESCINDED.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

BUFFALO (N. Y.) Sept. 2.—An order for another strike of railroad men in Buffalo and vicinity, voted at a secret meeting of union leaders last Sunday night, was rescinded last night by Frank Hemerlein, executive head of the shopmen's organization on the New York Central lines.

SPRUCE ROADS ARE UNDER FIRE

Charge Made that Logging Routes are Obscure.

Plane Production Board is Getting Criticism.

Witness Says Soldier Crews did Poor Work.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PORTLAND, Sept. 2.—Direct attack of the spruce production corporation in locating its two roads in Lincoln county to tap the Siletz Basin and Blodgett tract areas of spruce timber, was made today by witnesses before the Congressional committee of inquiry, which resumed its sittings after a three-day rest.

Chairman James A. Frear, of Wisconsin, and Representative Magee of New York, directed the majority of questions, seeking to show that the reasons for selecting the coast route northward were obscure and unsatisfactory, while Representative Lea of California came frequently to the defense of the spruce corporation. In cross-examination, Representative Lea sought to elicit evidence that the witnesses were prejudiced by personal interest and the differences of opinion as to the route were such as might naturally arise among practical loggers.

COST QUESTIONS.

Comparative costs of private logging roads were again entered into, as they were when the Olympic peninsula line was under discussion. Witnesses informed the committee that Lincoln county logging roads could be constructed at a cost not to exceed $15,000 a mile at which juncture Chairman Frear invited attention to the previous testimony that the Lincoln county lines of the government, built on cost-plus contracts, had cost $70,000 and $90,000 per mile, respectively.

J. B. Miller, a lumber operator from Toledo, Ohio, told the Congressional subcommittee investigating the government's spruce production programme today that two railroads and a large saw mill built in the Yaquina Bay district by Brig.-Gen. Disque constituted an unwarranted expenditure of public money in his opinion.

SOLDIERS INEFFICIENT.

The spruce operations of Gen. Disque were attended by gross incompetency and inefficiency, Miller said, and added this was because the soldier crews who did the work were composed of "soap merchants," lawyers, doctors and dentists," instead of skilled lumbermen.

No spruce logs, Miller asserted, ever were transported over either railroad, and both were unnecessary.

The status of the spruce production properties with a Congressional investigation in progress apparently daunted all prospective purchasers, as no bids were received at local headquarters of the spruce production corporation today, when tenders upon the tremendously valuable holdings of the government came to a close.

ANSWERS LEA.

Coincident with the closing of hearings, Chairman Frear filed another report to Secretary of War Baker, calling his attention to the reply of an earlier communication, in which it was requested that the spruce property sale be suspended pending further developments in the official investigation.

The second report amplifies the first, and reviews the testimony and evidence to date, and is in effect a reply to the minority report by Representative Lea, California.

MAJORITY OF SHOPMEN OPPOSED TO STRIKING.

ONDY TWO WALK-OUTS OCCUR ON DAY SET FOR DEMONSTRATION ORDER.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—Partial returns from the strike vote now in progress among the railroad shopmen indicate, union officials said today, that the men will accept the advice of their officers and leave the matter of a strike in their hands pending the result of governmental efforts to reduce the cost of living.

This was the day originally set for a strike and it was feared that some of the more restless element might quit work.

CUMBERLAND (Md.) Sept. 2.—All the Baltimore and Ohio railroad shopmen here, about 1500 in all, struck today, having rejected President Wilson's plan of settlement.

LINCOLN (Neb.) Sept. 2.—A majority of the shopmen employed at the shops of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad at Havelock, near here, walked out today for higher wages, a report from the Havelock shops received here said.

Lindsley, chairman of the National Executive Committee.

USE CINEMA FILM IN SUNDAY-SCHOOL.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 2.—St. Timothy's Episcopal Sunday-school has initiated the silent drama into the class room for the youngsters and my, how they do flock to church.

Sunday-school lessons are depicted on the screen in the big community house, a part of the church. Special lights and fixtures have been installed so any picture may be shown. Twice a week the film fancies are flashed at matinees where educational and films suitable for children are shown.

"This is the first real church theater to be established in the west," said the Rev. Cyrus M. Andrews, rector of the church. "The movie has proved a success in the East. We do not intend to compete with the regular shows as they show first releases, which we will not be able to do."

PRIVATE RAIL CONTROL URGED

the government undertakes to fix his wages there is no room longer for the interruption to commerce by a strike or a lockout. I believe the bill will result in justice to the employee."

The bill's provisions for two directors representing the employees and two representing the government on all railroad corporation directorates, Senator Cummins said, recognized a "just demand" by the employees for participation in the policies and affairs of the companies.

"It will not be long until all industries are organized in that way," he added. "It is a condition precedent to peaceful, intelligent settlement of controversies between capital and labor."

The bill is the result of many months' work by the subcommittee, which, besides Senator Cummins, includes Senators Kellogg of Minnesota and Poindexter of Washington, Republicans, and Pomerene, Ohio, and Robinson, Arkansas, Democrats.

Salient provisions of the Cummins bill include:

Termination of government control and return of the railroads to private ownership on last day of the month of enactment.

Establishing the Interstate Commerce Commission with greatly increased powers, as the supreme body over railroad affairs. Supervision and control of virtually all railroad affairs, including rates, wages, operation and financing, by the government.

NEW CONTROL BOARD.

Creation of a new railway transportation board of five members, appointed by the President, to supervise railway development and operations, subject to final action of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Creation of a new committee on wages and working conditions, composed equally of representative employees and employers, with wide authority in settling labor questions, subject to decision of the Transportation Board and Interstate Commerce Commission.

TO PENALIZE STRIKES.

Prohibiting strikes and lockouts of railroad employees under fine and imprisonment penalties.

Defining a new policy for concentration in ownership and operation of railroads, with Federal incorporation into not less than twenty, nor more than thirty-five regional systems.

No guarantee by the government of future railroad income, but limitations made upon revenue to "fair" dividends based on value of properties fixed by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The bill provides that existing railroad payment contracts with the government shall be continued not longer than four months.

REGIONAL SYSTEMS.

The keynote of the bill, Chairman Cummins stated in an explanation, is the plan for establishment of twenty to thirty-five regional rail systems.

The new method for settling labor disputes is in a proposed committee on wages and working conditions, Senator Cumming said, adding:

"It creates a committee of wages and working conditions which is to be composed of eight members, four representing labor and four representing the railway companies. This committee is to judge all complaints submitted by representatives of the employees or of the carriers.

"The committee and transportation board shall take into consideration the scale of wages paid for similar kinds of work in other industries; the relation between wages and the cost of living; the hazards of the employment; the training and skill required; the degree of responsibility and the character and regularity of the employment."

Another provision of the bill requires that railroad corporations must have among their directors two representatives of their "classified employees" and also two directors representing the government.

PROFIT SHARING.

Another clause would create, through the new transportation board, an employees' advisory council composed of representatives of "each organized craft of railroad employees" to use one-half of excess earnings of companies, above their "fair" dividends for the benefit of employees.

The other half of excess dividends would be used by the transportation board to buy equipment for lease to the companies or for equipment loans.

Upon passage of the act, the bill provides that the Interstate Commerce Commission shall divide the country into rate-making districts, hold regional hearings and fix new rates with regard to public and shippers' interests, wages of labor, cost of maintenance and operation, and "a fair return upon the value of property"—to be fixed by physical valuation of the commission.

EXEMPT INTERURBANS.

The transportation board would establish the policy of establishing twenty to thirty-five regional railway systems, under Federal incorporation, for distinct operation under competitive conditions. Street and interurban railways principally used for passenger traffic would be exempted from such consolidations, which would have to be approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission. The board's powers would include general supervision of operating and financing of railroads, diversion of traffic, pooling of equipment, joint use of terminals and other matters.

For seven years, under the bill, voluntary combinations of the carriers in conformance with the board's plan would be permitted. If not voluntarily combined in seven years, the board could require compulsory consolidation under Federal charter and based upon actual physical valuation.

Division of companies' traffic and earnings also is authorized by the bill under authority of the commission which would be empowered to require connections between water and rail carriers.

RADICALS TAKE SOVIET EMBLEM.

Left Wing Socialists are Now Communists.

Objection to Terrorist Name is Voted Down.

Revolutionary Object of New Party Exposed.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 2.—Three hundred representatives of the left wing faction of the National Socialist party, which recently withdrew from the parent body, today organized the Communist Labor Party of America, and adopted the emblem of the soviet republic of Russia, with the motto: "Workers of the World Unite." The emblem consists of a scythe and hammer surrounded by a wreath of wheat. A suggestion that a torch be added to the emblem was voted down.

Delegate Zimmerman of Indiana led a small minority who wanted the new organization christened the Independent Socialist party, but his suggestion was overwhelmingly defeated.

"I think the word communist will strike terror to the American workman, and we cannot succeed in this movement without this element," said Delegate Zimmerman. "I will go as far in the revolutionary movement as any man in this hall, but I think it unwise to adopt this name. We know that this country is not yet ripe for the revolution. If it was, the name communist would be all right."

SOCIALISM DISCREDITED.

Speakers, in urging the adoption of the name, declared that the term Socialism had been discredited, and that the word communist fitted expressed the revolutionary objects of the new political party.

Tomorrow the party will adopt a constitution, which, it is said, will be largely patterned after that of the soviet republic of Russia.

One of the first acts of the new party was to approve a plan for a general strike in the United States October 1 to compel the release of Tom Mooney, Eugene V. Debs and other alleged "class-war" prisoners.

The new party claims to have representatives from every State in the Union, attending its convention. It was decided to use phonograph records of "The International" and other Russian soviet songs to spread propaganda.

WANT TROOPS BACK.

Among the resolutions adopted was one demanding the immediate withdrawal of American troops from Russia and Hungary.

The communist group of ultra-radicals, recently expelled from the National Socialist party, which is meeting here, expects to form another political party before it finally adjourns at the end of the week. This faction consists of foreign-language Socialists and other radicals who regard the parent body and the left wing faction too conservative.

The emergency convention of the National Socialist party, under the leadership of Congressman Victor Berger of Milwaukee, Adolph Germer of Chicago, Algernon Lee of New York and Mayor D. W. Hoan of Milwaukee, devoted the entire day to committee work.

Deliberations of the three factions were in separate halls under police guard. The sessions were quiet and orderly, compared with previous days.

The National Socialist party or parent body completed the election of standing committees and received more than a hundred resolutions which, under the rules, were referred to the various committees without being read.

SEEK TO SAVE PARTY.

Congressman-Elect Berger said: "Our purpose is to preserve the Socialist party and to save it from its enemies, the ultra-radicals who have sought to destroy it. We have won our fight by expelling from the membership the insurgents, and we expect no further difficulty. The Socialist party is being reorganized and will be stronger than ever when the work is completed."

The communist or revolutionary faction devoted the day to passing on the credentials of delegates. This group is composed largely of Russian and Jewish radicals, and all delegates whose record on radicalism was questioned were denied seats in the body.

GROCERS PROTEST ON HIGH COST OF RAISINS.

CHARGE EXCESSIVE PRICE REFLECTS UPON GOOD NAME OF CALIFORNIA.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 2.—P. C. Drescher, Sacramento, president of the California Wholesale Grocers' Association, authorized the statement today that a protest had been wired by the Grocers' Association to the California Associated Raisin Company, at Fresno, objecting to the "excessive prices" named by the raisin company, "considering excessive prices not only detrimental to her industries, but reflecting upon the good name of California as responsible to the nation for increasing unnecessarily the cost of living, particularly on products in which our State has an approaching monopoly of production."

Drescher said the California raisin crop this year will be 200,000 tons, the largest in history, and the wholesale price for fancy seeded raisins is fifteen cents, against 9 5-8 cents in 1918 when the United States Food Administration was in control, and 6 5-8 cents in 1917.

The California Associated Raisin Company, Drescher said, controls 90 per cent. of the crop.

What's stylish for fall?

JUST about one year ago, the stylish thing with young men was "olive drab;" the "Navy blue;" a drive at "Fritz;" a shot at a "sub."

Now "the boys" are back in civil life; they want all the good style they can get; we have it for them; here's information about the newest ideas for fall.

Belted suits are here in new designs and variations.

Yokes, plaits, slanting, vertical, and crescent pockets are all lively touches.

Double-breasted suits are favorites too; in one-, two-, and three-button models; some with belts; some without belts.

Coats are a little longer; waists are a little higher; natural shoulders, higher and wider lapels, giving the wirey, deep-lunged, athletic look that the young men want.

Now about price and quality; all clothes cost good money; you'd better be sure to get quality equal to the price. You can get it in our clothes; all-wool, careful tailoring; guaranteed to satisfy—money back if they don't.

SUGGESTS THAT BOARD RESIGN.

City Official at Pasadena Makes Novel Proposal.

Would Put Entire Question up to the Voters.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PASADENA, Sept. 2.—Suggestion that all the Pasadena City Commissioners resign their jobs was made by City Commissioner William H. Reeves in a communication presented to the commission today. The proposal states that since the recall petitions had been started against two members, and was threatened against a third, the wholesale resignations would give citizens a free rein to act. Recall petitions are being circulated against Commissioners John J. Hamilton and M. H. Salisbury. Their friends say that Commissioner Reeves's supporters inspired the petition, and they threaten to start recall petitions against Reeves. Commissioner Reeves's novel proposal to his fellow-officials follows:

"The recall having been started against two members of this commission, one of whom is now quoted as about to invoke it against a third member, it would seem highly desirable that the whole situation be immediately clarified so far as possible. I therefore make the suggestion that the entire commission resign as a body, to stand for re-election later, if they so desire, thus giving our electors a free hand and full opportunity to vote for the best interests of the city."

Commissioner Reeves was absent from the session today attending his mother's funeral, and the Commission took no action on the proposal. Recall petitions are said to have dated back to a misunderstanding between Commissioners Reeves and H. F. Newell, with Commissioners A. L. Hamilton, J. J. Hamilton and Salisbury, on the salary budget.

Commissioners A. L. Hamilton, M. H. Salisbury and J. J. Hamilton today issued a statement denying charges made in a communication in the Star-News signed by the Pasadena firemen, charging that they offered $20 increases in wages to firemen if the recall petition against J. J. Hamilton and Salisbury was dropped.

The Commission voted to hold a special session tomorrow to consider these charges, and subpoenaed Fire Chief E. F. Coop, Judge W. A. Spill, who drew up the recall petitions and is the reputed attorney for the firemen, and C. F. Sheop, city editor of the Star-News, to inquire into the firemen's communication.

STREET CAR ACCIDENT.

Four women, one of them carrying a baby, were slightly injured late this afternoon in a rear-end collision between two Pasadena street cars on East Colorado street near Los Robles avenue. A North Loop car crashed into a Lamanda Park car. Both cars were eastbound. Pacific Electric officials said the brakes of the North Loop car failed to hold. Mrs. Charles M. Schlosser, 124 North Bonnie avenue, sustained wrenched neck. Others less seriously injured were Mrs. Elva M. Hall, 685 South Euclid; Mrs. Clarence Munns, 645 North Mentor, and Mrs. Ralph Miller, South Lake avenue. All were passengers on the cars.

COMES TO PASADENA.

J. J. Hays of Mount Pleasant, Texas, has sold his eighteen farms in Eastern Texas to enable him to come to Southern California and live permanently. Mr. Hays has selected Pasadena as his home. He and Mrs. Hays are visiting Dr. H. D. Mathews, 138 Parkwood avenue, for the present, but they propose to build their own home here.

CAR SERVICE IS RESTORED.

Harbor District Given First Service in Two Weeks.

San Pedro to Rush Improvements Delayed by War.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LOS ANGELES HARBOR, Sept. 2.—For the first time since the start of the Pacific Electric strike San Pedro had local car service today. Cars were running regularly on the Point Fermin and La Rambla lines on a daylight schedule but no service was given on the outer harbor line to the submarine base. Cars on the Point Fermin line were operated on a twenty minute schedule and on the La Rambla line on a thirty minute schedule. Steam lines are operating as usual here. While the car shortage was aggravated by the strike, shippers were not so badly inconvenienced by the strike itself as they would have been but for the falling off of steel shipments several weeks ago. The shipyards had already received most of the material to complete present contracts. The slump in steel shipments created a shortage of empty cars for a lumber company that had been depending on them for cars for shipments to the interior.

START CITY IMPROVEMENTS.

Councilman Fleming and Langdon met with the directors of the San Pedro Chamber of Commerce today to discuss plans for new public improvements and revive old projects started before the war. The chamber was asked to recommend a location for the proposed comfort station to be built by the city and decided upon Sixth and Palos Verdes streets as the most available place. The station is to be built under the street and will cost about $15,000. Plans for forming an improvement district to vote bonds for parks and playgrounds in the harbor district were also discussed. Street improvements to be revived are the extension of Western avenue to Point Fermin and the construction of the Alameda street truck highway.

CARRIER PIGEON.

A carrier pigeon supposed to be from the naval aviation station at San Diego alighted on the mast of one of the hulls recently launched by the Los Angeles Shipbuilding and Drydock Company today. It carried a band with the inscription "N A S I S D 19." No message was found and the bird was turned over to the police.

ELKS TO OFFICIATE.

The funeral of A. K. Maloy, former San Pedro merchant and at one time a member of the Los Angeles Harbor Commission, appointed by Mayor Alexander, will be held tomorrow afternoon, in charge of the Long Beach and San Pedro Elks. Mr. Maloy was a resident of San Pedro for fourteen years and was fifty-eight years of age. Death came from cancer of the throat. He leaves a wife and three married children. Interment will be at Inglewood, where he resided for three years after coming to California from Hankinson, N. D.

PORTERVILLE SUFFERS FROM RECENT STRIKE.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PORTERVILLE, Sept. 2.—Sustaining a loss of $75,000 occasioned by the strike of railway employees, Porterville canneries resumed work this morning. In addition to the loss of the cannery managements the community lost $30,000 in wage accounts, and the peach growers practically their entire output of Lovells and Muirs, running into a value of hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Deliveries of cling peaches started today and are expected to continue until late in September.

STATE MAKES AWARD TO OFFICER'S WIDOW.

PAYMENT TO WIFE OF INFLUENZA VICTIM FIRST OF ITS KIND.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 2.—An award of $3762 was made by the State Industrial Accident Commission from the State compensation fund today in favor of Mrs. Louise F. Holcomb, widow of Policeman Walter B. Holcomb, who died of influenza said to have been contracted in the performance of his duty as police officer.

The allowance establishes a precedent. The claim was first turned down by the State commission but the City Attorney's office pressed an appeal and won in spite of the difficulty in establishing the fact that Holcomb contracted influenza in line of duty and not elsewhere during the epidemic. Lacey D. Jennings conducted the appeal as deputy City Attorney.

It was proven to the satisfaction of the commission that Holcomb contracted the disease while caring for an influenza patient as part of his duty as a member of the police force. He was a wagon man at the station and made it a practice to answer calls and care for patients until they could have the attention of the emergency medical organization.

COMMUNITY FAIR.

Town Without Railroad Shows Progressive Spirit.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PORTERVILLE, Sept. 2.—What will be one of the most unique agricultural fairs to be held in California this year is to be held September 18, 19 and 20 at Poplar—a rural community west of here, one without railroad or postoffice, and with a population of less than 500 people. Despite these handicaps as to location and numbers, Poplar people—largely "down East Yankees"—already have secured sufficient entries for the scores of classes to assure them that the fair will rank in size and character of attractions with the best district fairs of the State this year. All classes of agricultural products and farm animals will be exhibited, with special prizes for pig clubs and similar organizations. In automobile row practically every dealer of Tulare county will have an exhibit, while the tractor demonstration, for which plans are now being completed, promises to be an important event.

READERS DEMAND FACTS

Circulation of Fiction Decreases at Visalia Library.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

VISALIA, Sept. 2.—Visalia readers are showing a greater preference for non-fiction works, especially since the close of the war, according to the annual report of the city library. While, during the war period the readers almost universally demanded something "light," the cards since that time show a constantly-increasing demand for informative works.

The records of the librarian indicate a total circulation for the year just closed of 73,444, which includes an increase of nearly 1000 volumes of other than fiction.

Still further increase for the coming year is expected as a result of the union of the school and city libraries.

SIBERIA HOTTER THAN PHILIPPINES.

POMONA SOLDIER WRITES FROM YANKEE CAMP IN THE FROZEN NORTH.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

POMONA, Sept. 2.—Declaring that Siberia is hotter than the Philippine Islands, Earl Wilkinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Wilkinson of this city, and well-known local jeweler before the war, writes to his parents of the summer season in what is generally considered the coldest of the more thickly-inhabited portions of the globe. Extracts from the letter bringing the information are as follows. The letter is dated at Vladivostok:

"Just in from the barracks and going out again in about an hour. No explanations, as usual. Have been seeing a lot of the country, but had no chance to write. I am feeling fine. Two sheets of paper are my allowance this time, and so must of necessity be brief. I cannot write many of the interesting details of the 'operas' I have been attending, only to say that the cheapest show in Los Angeles would seem grand to me now.

"It's hot in Siberia in summertime. The regular army officers from the Philippine Islands say that the heat is worse here than in the islands, and is harder to bear because of the humidity. I never felt the heat so much in my life, and the mosquitos and bugs are here in all sizes and shapes. The flies are something fierce, and it takes all of a fellow's makings to keep up the blue.

"We are finishing a line barricade on a big, flat prairie where the land is frozen; the Bolsheviki will have a hard time trying to capture us in such a location, for we can see many miles and have a perfect range. Out here it pays to be always on guard. Experience has been an expensive teacher to some, and those who are not careful have suffered most. The only time that we leave camp is when we want to forage for eggs or go to the swimming pool. At these times we take our guns along with us.

RECRUITING OFFICERS FACE HARD TASK.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

VISALIA, Sept. 2.—Officers recruiting for the United States Navy have found the San Joaquin Valley anything but a fertile field for their work, and despite all the inducements which are now being offered, including the strong probability of assignment to the new Pacific Fleet, few, if any, young men of this section are entering the service.

According to C. M. Bishop, chief boatswain's mate, who has been assigned to this section for recruiting work, the present high scale of wages for all classes of employment is the chief cause of his difficulty.

"What do you have left when you pay all your bills for the month?" Bishop asked one prospect who objected to the small pay.

"Well, I have the fun of spending a lot of money, anyway," was the reply.

PLENTY OF WATER.

Spend Money for Engineers, not Litigation, Says Newell.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

REDLANDS, Sept. 2.—"If the money expended in water litigation in Southern California had been spent, instead, in the employment of capable engineers for the development of water resources, Southern California would have no water problems and no arid land today. There would be more than enough for all," was the statement of F. H. Newell, father of the United States reclamation service, to a group of engineers of San Bernardino and Riverside counties. He says that there is no doubt but that water enough could be and can be provided to make all the desert bloom as a rose. He spoke also of the little appreciation that is given engineers because usually the public is not able to appreciate the difficulty of the problems that are overcome, especially in dam building.

REJECTED PLAN FOR OPERATION.

Witness Discloses a War-Time Proposal for Packers.

Committee Made an Adverse Report to President.

Canal Reference Brings Out an Unpublished Story.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2. — Plans for governmental operation of the plants and distributing systems of the "big five" packers during the war received serious consideration but were dropped when a majority of a special committee reporting on the subject to President Wilson rejected the proposal it was developed today through testimony before the Senate agriculture committee.

M. Sansom, a Texas cattleman who served on the committee as a representative of the Agriculture Department, appearing at the hearings to oppose passage of the Kenyon and Kendrick bills for the Federal regulation of the packing industry, referred casually to the subject and Senate members overcoming Mr. Sansom's objections to discussing the matter because the President had not published the report questioned him until they got the full story.

INVESTIGATION MADE.

"After the Federal trade commission made its report upon the packing situation, a committee was appointed to go into the subject for the President, which had on it representatives of the Agricultural Department, the Food Administration, Labor Department and the Interstate Commerce Commission," Sansom said. "They put me on for the Agricultural Department, because I was supposed to know about stockyards and cattle handling. After we went into the question pretty thoroughly we divided up.

"Two of the committee, representatives of the Labor Department and the Federal Trade Commission having voted to take over the plants but the balance of us were against it. The trade commission representatives seemed to be pretty severe at the time for prosecuting the packers."

"You say they were prosecutors?" Senator Pansdell, Democrat, Louisiana, inquired.

"Well, I hardly meant that," Sansom responded. "They were prejudiced, perhaps because of their investigations."

DO AWAY WITH BUTCHERS.

Mr. Sansom, in opposing the regulatory bills, also developed an entirely novel solution for the high price of meat problems.

"My investigation has convinced me that the large packer hasn't gone as far with the meat and food business as he ought to go," he said. "They ought to carry the meat straight through to the consumer and cut out the retailer. They could do it better and cheaper. I've found that it takes from 50 to 100 per cent. increase to get the meats through the butcher shop.

"If the packers did the retail business with more efficiency, fewer shops and we got complaints on high prices as we are getting them now, it would be a simple matter to find out then who was profiteering."

CONFLICT OVER MOTIVES.

A conflict as to the motives of witnesses who have appeared during the hearing was precipitated earlier in the day, when Senator Kenyon, Republican, of Iowa, author of the principal bill at issue, introduced two letters for the record. One was from J. G. Miller of Denver, and asserted that Colorado packers who classed themselves as independents in opposing the legislation last week really were connected with the larger companies.

Senator Kenyon declared the committee should put witnesses under oath. "A good many statements are being made here by people who claim absolute independence of any connection with the large packers," he said. "I have a letter to introduce on the subject."

The letter was from J. G. Miller of Denver and it referred to W. N. Bloyney, James Doyle and Harvey Nuckolls of Pueblo, who testified before the committee last week. Miller said Bloyney was at the head of the K. & B. Packing Company, which is owned by the Cudahy company; that Doyle was a wholesale meat dealer and "did not kill a single steer" and that Nuckolls owned "enough stock to be able to vote and that is all in the Nuckolls Packing Company of Pueblo," which Miller said was owned jointly by the big five.

"There are no independent packers, and I can prove it, so far who have appeared before your committee," Miller wrote.

HAS SECOND LETTER.

Senator Kenyon, in a statement to the committee later, said he was receiving a number of messages concerning witnesses who had appeared to oppose the regulatory measures, and introduced a second letter. This was signed by J. C. Morrow of the United States Land Office at Alliance, Neb., and referred to F. P. Meyers and Tom Batchelor, Nebraska stockmen who were heard last week.

"These men have been and are notoriously known to support the packers," the letter said, "in every instance when any question comes up in the Stockmen's Association and when it is understood that the shipments of these men are generally preferred over the ordinary shipper on the Omaha markets, it may be understood why this is so. This delegation does not represent the stockmen of Nebraska."

Mayor W. B. Davis of Fort Worth, Tex., and Robert D. Kleberg, a Texas rancheman, presented arguments against the regulatory bills. Mayor Davis said that the chief object today should be "to get people off government pay rolls, not on," and expressed the view that "regulation would increase the overhead expenses of the packing business and the charge to consumers alike."

Henry Veeder, counsel for Swift & Co., interrupted the proceedings a little later, denied the assertion for all of the packers and introduced Nuckolls, who also denied it flatly. The second letter, from J. C. Morrow of Alliance, Neb., said that cattlemen from that State who have supported the contentions of the big packers were people who secured special favors in marketing their stock.

INDEPENDENTS OPPOSE.

A number of independent packers were heard during the day and Michael Ryan of Cincinnati presented the committee with a set of resolutions adopted by small packers in that city, objecting to the legislation.

Patrick Brennan, president of the Independent Packing Company of Chicago, said his company, established in 1905, had built up its business in competition with the big packers and that its business volume in 1918 was $27,000,000.

James Cochran, president of a Kansas independent concern, told the committee his experience in doing business under license during the war had not made him like it. "Most of the government regulations," he said, "turn out with the big houses getting bigger and the little houses getting smaller."

ENGLISH MINERS TO REJECT TERMS

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, Sept. 2.—The National Executive Committee of the coal miners has resolved to recommend to the delegates in attendance upon tomorrow's conference rejection of the government scheme for dealing with the mines.

The conference will decide Thursday whether to act immediately with the other unions of the triple alliance, which embraces, in addition to the miners, the transport workers and railroad men, or take constitutional steps towards forcing the government to appeal to the country on the question of nationalization of coal mines.

[In an address before the House of Commons, August 18, David Lloyd George, the British Prime Minister, dealing with the internal affairs of Great Britain, said it had been decided by the government to reject the majority report of Justice Sankey's coal commission, which provided for the gradual nationalization of the coal mines. Instead, he added, the government would launch a plan for partial government control. Under this plan the government would buy from the owners of coal lands who receive royalties from mining companies, give the miners a share in the control of the mines and organize the mines into districts and establish a fund for improving the living conditions of miners.]

LONDON, Sept. 2.—The British destroyer Viltoria was torpedoed and sunk in the Baltic Sea, Saturday, August 30, the Admiralty announced today. Eight of her crew are missing.

[The Viltoria was one of the "V" class of destroyers constructed by the British Admiralty during the war period. Presumably the Vittoria was one of the units of the British squadron operating against the Bolsheviki in the Northern Baltic and the Gulf of Finland.]

COPENHAGEN, Sept. 2.—The Lithuania Legation announces that the Bolsheviki has been surrounded on the Lithuania front. They are offering to make peace with the Lithuanians whose advance continues.

PARIS, Monday, Sept. 1.—An American brigade for service in the Lithuanian army has been formed, the work being a complete success, according to an announcement made by the military mission of the Lithuanian delegation to the Peace Conference. Enough demobilized American officers to form the staff have applied for commissions and many discharged enlisted men have entered the ranks, it is said.

David H. Myers, a public chauffeur who drives a taxicab, will have to defend himself before the Police Commission on the charge of improper conduct—and it appears that Police Commissioner Burge will be the chief witness against Myers.

When Commissioner Burge remonstrated he says the driver became abusive. He placed Myers under arrest and Judge Richardson fined the chauffeur $20.

Then followed the charges preferred against Myers by Chief of Police Home, and developments at yesterday's Police Commission meeting showed that Myers has been arrested several times for violation of the traffic ordinance.

MATTER CLOSED, IS POSITION OF BOARD.

DENY FAVORITISM IN POINT FERMIN APPOINTMENT OF PRINCIPAL.

A public statement was issued yesterday over the signatures of six women residents of the Point Fermin district setting forth their reasons for objecting to the appointment of Mrs. [illegible] Cotting as principal of the Point Fermin school. The statement declares that the matter is not a religious, political or social quarrel, but that the signers' objections to Mrs. Cotting are based upon "purely patriotic and public-spirited reasons." It alleges that Mrs. Cotting is temperamentally unfit because "she is unable to control her temper under trying conditions," and charges past neglect of school work. It further charged that a fair hearing was not given the matter by Deputy Superintendent Montuz, who, it alleges, opened the proceedings with a defense of Mrs. Cotting. The statement continues with like allegations to a lengthy extent and indicates that the signers will withdraw their children if Mrs. Cotting is installed. They say they want Miss Hooker, last year's principal, returned. The signers are Mrs. J. Wolf, Mrs. Alfred B. Trefethen, Mrs. Robert J. Stirling, H. C. Castle, Mrs. W. O. Stewart and Mrs. W. O. Wolfe.

The local school authorities consider the matter closed by the definite appointment of Mrs. Cotting. They deny any favoritism and consider the appointee qualified for the position.

CAME, SAW, STAYED.

Texas Couldn't Resist Buying Home and Store Here At Once.

Expediency was the motto adopted by Burt S. Chandler, of Greenville, Tex., when he arrived in Los Angeles a few days ago.

Mr. Chandler conducted a profitable furniture business back in Greenville for many years and finally decided to take a brief rest in Southern California. When he arrived here he was so captivated by the scenic and climatic splendor centering around Los Angeles and the prosperity wave that is engulfing it that he immediately resolved to stay here. And this is what he has done already:

Arrived on Saturday, August 23.
Bought a home on August 26.
Bought a furniture store on August 28.

And today he is settled in his new home and is engaged in the furniture business on Vermont avenue.

FOR BUS TERMINAL.

Check Parking of Private Cars on Block in Olive Street.

H. E. Osborne, Jr., chief engineer of the Board of Public Utilities, yesterday issued the following notice regarding terminals for interurban busses:

"The police department has been requested to assist in keeping the terminal for interurban busses on Olive street, between Fifth and Sixth streets, open for loading and unloading at all hours of the day and night. The Board of Public Works has been requested to place signs along the block prohibiting the parking of private cars.

"The attention of the public is called again to the fact that busses during this temporary interruption of traffic, routed to Venice, Ocean Park and Santa Monica, as well as to Hollywood, load and unload on Olive street, between Fifth and Sixth streets."

"Sweet Sixteen" was so, so sorry—

—of the inability to welcome every one yesterday who came.

—it just seemed as though all of Southern California came at once.

But now it's different, do come again today!

UTAH POLICE TO ENTER INTO REST

National Prohibition Ends Their Hard Labor.

Days of "Rum Running" are Now All Over.

Seized Liquor is Valued at Total of $175,000.

[BY A. P. CORRESPONDENCE.]

SALT LAKE CITY, (Utah) Aug. 30.—When national prohibition under the agricultural appropriation bill rider went into effect on July 1, peace officers of Utah breathed a sigh of relief. Since Utah went into the "dry" column of states in August, 1917, the police, sheriff and Federal officers have been busy with the so-called "bootleggers" and not with the ordinary "drunk."

"Rum-runners" was the name given those who brought liquor into Utah and they gave officials more trouble than did the heavy drinkers of the days of the saloon.

Since Utah became a prohibition state arrests for drunkenness have been few and infrequent. It formerly took two pages of the "blotter" at the police station to list the arrests for a twenty-five hour period. Now, according to Chief of Police J. Parley White, one sheet generally is sufficient.

MANY SEIZURES.

Since liquor was prohibited the police have seized thousands of gallons, valued at $40 a gallon—prohibition State prices—in former years worth about $8 a gallon. Chief White estimates that the value of the liquor his department has seized and destroyed or given to hospitals is $175,000. During the recent influenza epidemic much seized liquor was turned over to hospitals. Several hundred gallons were sent to the War Department at Washington and used by the Motor Transport Corps.

The few breweries here, in Ogden and Provo, have recovered from the first shock of national prohibition and are being utilised as cold storage houses, soft drink manufactories and other legitimate enterprises.

REST FOR POLICE.

With the coming of prohibition to adjoining States, it is the expectation of the police officials that their work will be lightened. Liquor was formerly brought into Utah in quantities from Montana, Wyoming and Nevada, after that State went into the prohibition column. Montana and Nevada became "dry" States in December and February respectively and Wyoming was the newest "dry." Work of the police and other officials was doubled in watching Wyoming lanes, with the result that some of the biggest seizures in two years were recorded during that last two months before prohibition became effective.

There are many who have been making their own "beer" since prohibition became effective, but there have been no prosecutions for this.

CITIZENS GATHER AT MASS MEETING.

EMPLOYERS AND UNION MEN SUBMIT STATEMENTS AT SANTA BARBARA.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SANTA BARBARA, Sept. 2.—An audience of a thousand citizens gathered at Recreation Center tonight to hear the reading of statements from the Employers' Association and Building Trades Council, explaining from their respective viewpoints, the reasons for the present strike in the building trades in this city.

Charles L. Taylor, member of the Carnegie Institute, opened the meeting, introducing Mayor H. T. Nielson, who presided. Occupying the platform with Mayor Nielson was Dr. Henry H. Pretchett, president of the Carnegie Institute, who is working actively to settle the differences between the local employers and their helpers.

The sum total of the statements was that the employers have granted every demand but that involving the closed shop and are standing firm for the open shop principles for which they propose to fight as a right guaranteed through their American citizenship.

The unions as vigorously refuse to treat with the Employers' Association and will not surrender their right not to work with a nonunion employee. Among the employers it is stated the fight is really waged as part of a general campaign against Los Angeles and if won by the unions no open shop materials of any description would be permitted from the southern business houses.

No discussion of the two statements submitted was permitted at the mass meeting.

ARREST MOTORISTS.

Principals in Auto Accident Held In Santa Monica Jail.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SANTA MONICA, Sept. 2.—After telling in their automobile over a mountain cliff on the coast road near here tonight, Leo Willis and Ray Thompson, both claiming Los Angeles as their residence, escaped serious injury, only to be taken into custody by the officers, charged with driving an automobile while intoxicated.

A third occupant of the car, who suffered a broken rib, was taken to St. Catherine hospital here and later was taken away by a friend before his identity became known.

Willis and Thompson, who say they reside at 4424 Staunton avenue and the Monroe apartments respectively, were driving on the coast road about a mile beyond Inceville west of here, when for some reason they lost control of their car and fell with it over a twelve foot embankment onto the sands. Neither of the men was injured, except a few minor bruises.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

Sept. 2.—With the death of Sam Fern at Anlauf, Saturday, the tribe of Calapooia Indians became extinct and none remain to claim the tribal holdings in Scott's Valley, where the tribe, which many years ago had dwindled to about fifty, was given several sections of land by a paternal government. ONE ORGANIZATION FOR ALL VETERANS.

SPANISH WAR SURVIVORS PROPOSE UNION FOR ALL OF THE SEVERAL SOCIETIES.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 2.—About 500 delegates were present when the twenty-first annual national convention of the United Spanish War Veterans was formally opened here today. After a short session in which committee reports were presented, the convention adjourned to allow delegates to participate in the parade which was to be held here late today in honor of the new Pacific Fleet.

All the States of the Union were represented and there were delegates also from the District of Columbia, the Philippine Islands, Porto Rico, the Hawaiian Islands and Canal Zone.

Among the resolutions which it was stated would be given consideration was one condemning the Industrial Workers of the World and pledging all Spanish War veterans and members of the women's auxiliary organization to combat it by all possible means. Another was one favoring the amalgamation of all organizations of veterans of wars in which the United States has participated.

The women's auxiliary of the United Spanish War Veterans was to open a convention later in the day. Both conventions will close Friday.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

VALLEJO, Sept. 2.—The battleships Nebraska and Rhode Island are due at the Mare Island navy yard on September 3, to remain a long period for repairs, it was announced tonight by Mare Island navy yard officials.

Nine thousand and fifty men are employed at the navy yard at present. With the arrival of vessels for repairs it is expected the number of workers will be increased in excess of the number employed at the yard during the war, when 9300 men were on the pay roll.

KNOX STARTS FIGHT ON ANGLO-PERSIAN TREATY.

INJECTS FOREIGN ISSUE INTO HEARING OF SUBJECT PEOPLES BEFORE COMMITTEE.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—Discussion of the treaty recently negotiated between Great Britain and Persia was precipitated by Senator Knox, Republican, of Pennsylvania, during the session today of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. At the Senator's suggestion, Charles W. Russell, Minister to Persia during President Taft's administration, was heard. He asked that the Senate make "a written protest" against the pact.

The treaty as quoted by Mr. Russell provided for control of Persian financial and military matters by joint British-Persian committees, but Senator Knox declared that by the terms of the treaty the decisions of the British members would be final. Mr. Russell told the committee he had obtained the copy he read "confidentially" and would not disclose the source, but added that it was authentic.

Senator Swanson, Democrat, of Virginia, asked if it was a secret treaty. Mr. Russell said it could not be under the Persian Constitution, nor, for that matter, could it be constitutional in any case.

Mr. Russell declared the treaty gave Great Britain absolute power "over the purse and the sword of Persia."

Representatives of the Hungarian-American and Albanian organizations who were heard admitted that their contentions had little direct bearing upon the pending German treaty except that Germany was bound in advance to accept any decision that might be made in the Austrian or other treaties as to national boundaries. Both groups expressed the conviction, however, that the most extreme demands of nationalities laying claim to areas of Hungary and Albania were to be granted.

Pearl Button Tariff Restored.

SENATE INDORSES PERSHING'S RANK.

NOT TWO FLEETS, BUT ONE, EXPLAINS RODMAN

DIVISION MEANS DEVELOPMENT OF PACIFIC COAST AS IS THE ATLANTIC.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 2.—"We haven't really two fleets, but we have a United States fleet which, it has been worked out, can be united in seven days," declared Admiral Hugh Rodman, commander-in-chief of the Pacific Fleet, in an address here today at a luncheon tendered Secretary Daniels and officers of the fleet by associated civic organizations and the city.

"No matter where trouble may come, you may rest assured that the whole fleet will take part in anything that comes up. I may safely say that the recent war was brought to a conclusion by the injection of American blood. The army did its full share in France, and the ships did their share in absolutely eliminating the German fleet. There is nothing left to it, nothing.

"Heretofore it was necessary that the east coast of the United States should be developed for natural reasons, leading to the result which followed, the war with Germany. Now that is passed. But it is natural that we should not lie down, but that we should develop the Pacific Coast. This development means dry docks, naval bases, supply bases and the general development to support the navy. It also means the development of harbors so ships can operate.

"While in a naval sense there is but one United States fleet, we want you to feel that this Pacific Fleet is your home fleet, and we feel sure that you do in the welcome you have accorded us."

LEADERS FAVOR LEAGUE TREATY.

Poll of Noted Californians Shows Sentiment.

Nonpartisan Organization is for Covenant.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

BOSTON, Sept. 2.—Out of nineteen prominent Californians, members of the National Economic League, sixteen are absolutely in favor of the League of Nations covenant ratification. They are in favor of America joining the league without a reservation or interpretation. This is announced today at the league headquarters here where results of a poll of thinking American men who have noted places in the economic world have just been tabulated.

The Californians who voted in favor of the League of Nations are: R. H. Ballard, Edward Berwick, Edgar W. Camp, George I. Cochran, A. D. Foote, W. J. Ghent, R. S. Gray, R. B. Hale, S. Hazard Halsted, John B. Henck, David Starr Jordan, O. K. McMurray, Charles W. Pike, Seward C. Simons, Harris Weinstock, Walter C. Wright.

Those who voted against the covenant are:

W. H. Dagg, Elwood Mead, Clyde L. Seavey.

RESULT OF POLL.

The poll of the National Economic League shows that three out of every four thinking men in America favor the covenant for a League of Nations.

The Economic League's resolution is worded as follows: "Resolved, that the United States should ratify the treaty with Germany, including the League of Nations covenant, without complicating, delaying, or invalidating reservations." A footnote explains that "this is not to be construed as excluding such interpretations of the treaty and covenant as may be thought necessary to clarify the American position, provided no danger is thereby created of delay or of furnishing ground for Germany, or other signatory to declare that the ratification by the United States is not complete and building."

Out of a total of 685 votes, 519 members are recorded as favoring and 166 as opposing this resolution.

VOTE BY STATES.

In addition to this the National Economic League has compiled the votes from each State and also to print the name and record the vote of each member. It is shown that from New York State, for example, eighty votes were received, sixty-one of which were for and nineteen against the resolution; Illinois shows thirty-two favoring and seven opposing; Massachusetts thirty-seven for and eleven against; Alabama, Arkansas, Mississippi, South Carolina and Virginia are unanimous for the resolution, while Indiana and Wyoming, each with a tie vote, represent the strongest opposition, as no State succeeded in scoring a majority against the resolution.

The council of the National Economic League is elected by ballot in each State, from nominations submitted with the aim of making up a representative body of the most influential, well-informed and public spirited citizens.

As an indication of "the informed and unbiased opinion of the country" which the National League claims is what it has aimed to present, this vote is interesting and significant.

ACCUSES COMPTROLLER OF SLANDERING HIM.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—Appearing in rebuttal before the Senate Banking Committee considering the nomination of John Skelton Williams to be Comptroller of the currency, Frank J. Hogan, former attorney for the Riggs National Bank of this city, today accused the comptroller of making "slanderous" statements regarding him. He also charged that Mr. Williams's testimony before the committee was full of untruths.

After the Comptroller had presented a prepared statement, declaring that Mr. Hogan was conducting a propaganda against him, the committee adjourned until Thursday.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

MAYENCE, Sept. 1, (via Basle.)—The French authorities of occupation announce the German newspapers have published erroneous reports concerning Friday's disorders at Ludwigshafen. They declare there has been no revolt and that the disturbance which resulted in the death of the postmaster and another postal official was due to exaggerated nervousness on the part of the local police.

BUILDING IN SEATTLE SUSPENDED BY STRIKE.

GRAVE PROBLEMS ARE CONSIDERED

Undertakers Convene Here for Business, Pleasure.

Funerals Must be Unionized, Laborites Demand.

High Cost of Dying Serious Menace to Trade.

One hundred of the brightest and cheeriest undertakers in California doffed their black gloves, silk hats and other badges of their calling and, donning jazz shirts, light summer suits and glad smiles, gathered yesterday at the Hotel Hayward for the first day's session of the fifteenth annual convention of the California Funeral Directors' Association. They have before them such problems as the increasing demands of grave-diggers, culminating in a strike at San Francisco during the influenza epidemic; the soaring cost of caskets and shrouds, making it almost too expensive to die; also what is to be done about the insistent demands of organized labor that funerals be made strictly union, from the deathbed to the last shovelful of earth on the coffin, under penalty of "no union card, no funeral."

In Missouri the unions demanded that a union label be stamped on the lid of every coffin, but Jack Lazenby, Coast representative of the St. Louis Coffin Company, of which Gov. F. W. Gardner is president, said that his company refused to stand for the label-on-the-coffin-lid demand and the unions gave in.

Mayor Snyder welcomed the undertakers at the opening session yesterday and his address was responded to by Frank J. Monahan of San Francisco. The convention was called to order by President C. N. Cooper. The delegates inspected the motion-picture studios yesterday afternoon and had dinner last evening at the Hotel Hollywood, as the guests of W. M. Strother and F. H. Bertelsen of Hollywood. Today the undertakers will talk shop in the morning and have a barbecue at Eagle Rock Park in the evening.

INJURED BY FALL.

Jule Vaughn, 45 years of age, a painter living at 1413 Eighteenth street, Santa Monica, was injured late yesterday when a scaffold on a building at Forty-ninth street and Kansas avenue, broke and fell twenty feet. Mr. Vaughn was treated at the Receiving Hospital for possible internal injuries and many lacerations and bruises on the body. He will recover.

BOARD WILL NOT BE INTIMIDATED

Strong Statement is Made on the Matteson Case.

Here are the Charges Against Unionite Teacher.

Five Hearings Already Held; No Defense Made.

That the members of the Board of Education decided to give A. G. Matteson, a vocational training teacher at the Jefferson High School, a sixth and final hearing in order to end forever the false charges that Matteson had not been re-employed this year because he is a member of a labor union, was learned yesterday from members of the board. The hearing is set for 9:30 o'clock tomorrow morning before the entire board at its rooms in the Security Building. Mr. Matteson has given notice that he will be present with witnesses as to his character and his abilities as a teacher. He was told by members of the board that the hearing will be confined to these issues, which were given originally for the failure to recommend Mr. Matteson's re-employment this year:

(1.) Insubordination, in refusing to carry out the instructions of Principal Theodore Fulton.

Mr. Matteson is reported to have told members of the board that if he can regain his job only by disproving this charge, then his case is lost before he starts, thus tacitly admitting the truth of this allegation.

(2.) Refusing to co-operate with other teachers at Jefferson High School.

(3.) Assuming authority which did not belong to him, thus incurring undesired censure for the school and its principal.

(4.) Ignoring the established policies of the school.

(5.) Not properly attending classes taught by him at Polytechnic Evening High School, as charged by Principal V. Kersey of that school.

A member of the board who has long served the people of the city and has been repeatedly re-elected by them to his office said yesterday:

NO BROWBEATING.

"The board does not intend to be browbeaten by labor agitators into establishing the policy that a labor-union member is, because of that, immune to ousting for cause from the Los Angeles schools. The alleged fact that 15,000 people at a labor-union picnic petitioned the board as to whom it shall hire to teach the children of Los Angeles means nothing to me, nor, I dare say, to the other members of the board. If Mr. Matteson is shown to be insubordinate as a teacher he will not be re-employed."

A majority of the members of the board stated yesterday that they are flatly opposed to giving Mr. Matteson another hearing, but had done so at the urging of one member, who said that it would bring to an end the bombardment begun by the labor unions to force the board into keeping Matteson as a teacher, regardless of whether or not he was fit.

The records of the Board of Education show that Mr. Matteson has been given five previous hearings, at which he had every opportunity to disprove the five charges made against him, but failed to do so to the satisfaction of the former Board of Education, which went out of office last July 7, and to the present board.

FIVE HEARINGS HELD.

Mr. Matteson was notified before June 10, last that his re-employment had not been recommended, and on June 9 he applied for a hearing, which was held by the previous board's committee on teachers and schools, on June 19, the members being Miss Bessie Stoddart, chairman; C. C. Parker, Charles E. Seaman and President Lynn Helm, ex-officio. Mr. Matteson, previous to the hearing, had been given a copy of the five reasons leading up to the recommendation that he be not re-employed, and the committee after hearing Mr. Matteson, saw no justification for overturning the recommendation of Principal Fulton.

The new board took office July 7, and Mr. Matteson opened his attack to retain his job. He was given a hearing by the Teachers' and Schools' Committee of the new board, consisting of Miss Stoddart, chairman, Mrs. C. C. Ashley, C. J. McCormick and President Helm, ex-officio. At this hearing Mr. Matteson was again given every opportunity to present his case, and answer the five allegations, but instead of answering them, he brought a number of witnesses including the fathers of two of his pupils, and two other men to testify that he was an experienced and competent teacher. On July 23, he was given another hearing at which Mr. Matteson's witnesses included J. Siegel, a Mr. Eckle, J. W. Earnhardt, who testified as to Mr. Matteson's ability. In the meantime Mr. Matteson's labor union friends were at work, and on August 7, the joint executive board of the Central Labor Council, Building Trades Council, Metal Trades Council and Allied Printing Trades Council sent a letter to the board, demanding that Mr. Matteson be retained as a teacher. In order to give the members of the board an opportunity to learn all the facts in the case of Mr. Matteson, the board as a whole considered Mr. Matteson's case on August 18, at which Mr. Matteson's witnesses included a labor union leader named Noel, and a Mrs. Corwin. The board saw no reason to disapprove the recommendation nor did they hea any testimony which convinced them that Mr. Matteson was not insubordinate, and hence not a fit teacher. Labor union leaders still continued their visits to members of the board, declaring that the failure to re-elect Mr. Matteson was on affront to union labor, and dire threats

CALLS STRIKER WORST PERIL.

Vanderlip Says He's to Blame for Business Unrest.

Noted Financier Here by Auto from Santa Barbara.

Must Work, Earn to Cut Cost of Living, He Declares.

Sitting on the porch of his cottage overlooking the sea at Portugese Bend, in one of the most picturesque spots of the immense Palos Verde rancho which he owns, Frank A. Vanderlip, former president of the National City Bank of New York, yesterday expressed himself as profoundly regretful of the present tendency on the part of workmen to strike, declaring this to be one of the largest contributing causes of business unrest.

Mr. Vanderlip had only just arrived from Santa Barbara by automobile with Mrs. Vanderlip, their four children and three young guests, reaching Los Angeles as the terminus of a motor trip which took them through the Glacier National Park and thence to San Francisco. They expect to remain here about ten days, and beyond that time, as Mrs. Vanderlip explained, their plans are unformed.

Mr. Vanderlip expects to go thoroughly over his Palos Verde property, and, while he declined yesterday to discuss the probability of making extensive improvements, in the event the option which he recently granted to Irving H. Hellman and associates is not taken up, it is understood that he has plans in mind for extensive development work. In answer to the query as to whether he saw a tendency toward improvement in the business outlook, he said:

CONDITIONS GOOD.

"As a country we have done phenomenally well in making the transition from war work to peace work without any more serious difficulties than we have experienced. No other country has been able to do this so well. Today there is very little unemployment. Wages are the highest we have ever known, and there are many marks of great prosperity. In spite of that, there is a feeling among business men of the lack of security, and among workingmen there is an unusual amount of unrest. There has been a tendency to inaugurate strikes with great freedom, and it is in this direction that one of the chief concerns regarding the future lies."

The high cost of living, Mr. Vanderlip believes, is a large contributing factor in the present unrest. The first break in the cost of living, he believes, will come when our immense exports to Europe decline.

"It would seem inevitable," he said, "that our exports must decrease. The extraordinary demands of the war brought our exports in five years up to the astounding total of twenty-six billions. Europe will not need and could not pay for a continuance of our exports at any such rate. Perhaps the first marked decline in the high cost of living will result from a sharp falling off in our exports."

"Would governmental action be effective in bringing down the high cost of living?" he was asked.

MUST WORK, EARN.

"I think your question illustrates one of the weaknesses of the present situation," he replied. "We are all inclined to lean too much on governmental action. We cannot legislate prosperity. We have got to work for it and earn it. There is a growing disposition throughout the country, however, to try to lay all our problems on the government's shoulders. Undoubtedly there are certain things the government can do that will be helpful —a certain amount of profiteering, for instance, is going on which can be stopped. The government can be responsible in no small part for the reduced value of the dollar. More than 1,500,000,000 of government bonds have been rediscounted with Federal reserve banks, and the result in the way of inflation is much the same as though the government had printed that amount of currency. Banks have added to their reserves by rediscounting these bonds, and the effect is much the same as though the government had put out that amount of currency. It was right to do this when it was necessary in order to sell the government loans. Now that that necessity is over, the quicker the government secured bonds are gotten out of Federal reserve banks the sooner we will see the dollar tend toward its old purchasing power."

Mr. Vanderlip expressed himself as immensely pleased at being in Southern California, adding that he intends to take full advantage of the opportunity this trip affords him to enjoy a real vacation. He had noted many signs of Los Angeles' phenomenal growth, he said, and remarked it as being particularly evident in the traffic congestion in the business section.

"It would seem as though you had a problem of your own in relieving the city of its greatly congested traffic," he suggested, referring to the impression he gained in motoring through Broadway to reach his ranch.

FISHED TOO CLOSE.

Pleading guilty to fishing with a net inside the three-mile limit off Catalina Island, George Vlahovich was granted a year's probation yesterday by Judge Craig. Vlahovich was arrested while using a net from the motor launch Liberty Girl, but said he misunderstood the law.

WINS "UNDERWEAR" DIVORCE

Guy Garner and Mrs. Medley are Cleared.

Mrs. Willie E. Medley.

ALTHOUGH Judge Crail yesterday cleared the name of Mrs. Willie E. Medley of a charge of misconduct with Guy S. Garner, a real estate expert, she wept as finis was written to a married life of twenty years with John C. Medley. She is the mother of six children, the eldest 17 years old. Mr. Medley was granted a decree on the ground of cruelty, but Mrs. Medley was awarded the custody of her children and $6 a week.

Mr. Medley at first charged his wife with cruelty, then, in an amended complaint, accused her of misconduct with Garner, naming the latter as co-respondent. Garner was in court, and defended his conduct with his former secretary.

It was intimated strongly in the beginning of the case that there was a conspiracy to get Garner mixed up in the Medley divorce suit, and on cross-examination by Attorney Schauer, Mr. Medley admitted that the expenses of the suit had been paid by another party.

City Mother Aletha Gilbert testified that Mrs. Medley came to see her and talked over the children, and in the course of this conversation made certain admissions with regard to Garner.

Mrs. Medley denied making any such admissions.

Testimony was introduced to show that she had been seen with Garner on the street and that he had called on her at her home while Mr. Medley was in Fresno, and both had stopped at the same hotel in San Diego. They explained that Garner was there on business and that Mrs. Medley knew the proprietress of the hotel.

Mr. Medley testified that he had observed that every time his wife put on her fine silken underwear in the morning she always came home late at night.

Judge Crail, in granting a decree to Mr. Medley on the ground of desertion, which was not alleged in the amended complaint, directed Attorneys Gilbert and Bryer to file an amended complaint setting up this allegation.

"BE SANE"—SEIBERLING.

Declaring it is high time that Sam Gompers turn his guns on his own crowd and bring about some sanity of thinking and acting among them, F. A. Seiberling, president of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, in a letter received here yesterday, makes the pertinent suggestion that the stomach and pocketbook be forgot for a time and the brain put to work.

Mr. Seiberling's letter follows:

"It must be a matter of very great regret to the people of California to have the Southern Pacific employees go on strike in these times, and for the apparent reasons that the papers give. It seems to me we have come to the time for a show-down on this whole labor question and a determination of the question as to whether any class is going to urge its own selfish interests to the detriment of the community at large, and seek to carry its ends by duress and lawless force.

"We are confronted by a situation created by the war, where we have billions of debt that must be paid; where values have been pushed abnormally high, totally out of ajustment with normal times. To my simple way of thinking, the best way to correct the situation is for our government to cut down expenses and taxes to the lowest operating point; for the people everywhere to economize, save and produce as much as they can. Ordinarily when a man is in debt, he starts immediately to save as much as he can, to earn as much as he can, to pay off his debt as quickly as he can; then if he desires to indulge in luxuries and extravagances, he at least has a sound basis to carry out his desire.

The union-labor fellows, however, are unwilling to do any saving and economizing, unwilling to produce more; on the contrary, their policy seems to be to force continuing higher wages, which in its vicious circle makes for higher values on all things that enter into living, and instead of producing more, are constantly seeking to make themselves more inefficient by working less hours and producing less. If Sam Gompers will turn his guns on his own crowd and bring around some sanity of thinking and acting among them we'll go back to normal a good deal quicker than we can by the policy that the A. F. of L. is now pursuing. There is too much thinking nowadays of the stomach and the pocketbook, and not enough of the brain. It's high time that we get the gray cells at work.

"The strike against the car lines is particularly unjust and unfair since, as I understand it, the rate of fare has not changed in the past several years, and everyone knows that the cost of operation has practically doubled, and the lines must be making a tremendous deficit. I am well convinced that half the street railroads of the United States will be in the hands of the undertaker within the next three years unless values shall be brought into equilibrium, and the purchasing power of the dollar brought back to where it was, within that time, which I am not at all hopeful can be done."

REDUCE AUTO INSURANCE.

Automobile insurance rates, affecting thousands of auto owners throughout Southern California, were lowered 25 per cent yesterday by the Automobile Club of Southern California, through its insurance department, setting a precedent for the United States.

While club rates were considered unusually low already, due to the elimination of costly overhead expense and the co-operative plan under which the big organization is conducted, the directors and officials, according to President Fred L. Baker, have decided that an even greater saving may be effected for automobile owners.

It was the Southern California organization of motorists which in 1912 led the way for other clubs in establishing an insurance department calculated to save individual auto owners large sums annually. So successful was the plan that organizations throughout America have adopted the idea, and as a consequence insurance rates on fire, theft, collision and property damage for automobiles have been forced downward.

According to Ralph Reynolds manager of the club's insurance department, immediate adjustments of loss through the nineteen branch offices of the club located in all southern counties will be one of the features of the insurance in the future.

NIGHT SERVICE RESTORED ON PACIFIC ELECTRIC.

Cars Run Till Ten on Most Lines; Yellow Ones to Come Back Soon; ex-Workers Vote not to Return.

Resumption of night service on interurban lines, trains being scheduled to run as late as 10:50 p.m. on some lines, was announced last night by the Pacific Electric Railway. San Bernardino trains will run to Los Angeles up to 10:50 at night, and trains will run to and from Pasadena, Glendale, Whittier, Santa Ana, Long Beach, Redondo Beach, Santa Monica and many other interurban cities as late as 9:30 and 10:20 in the evening.

H. B. Titcomb, vice-president of the company, states that conditions are rapidly approaching a normal status and that better night service will be given as fast as the company finds it possible to arrange such schedules.

The Los Angeles Railway finds it impossible to resume night service at present. It feels that normal day service is more necessary to the welfare of the community than poor service both day and night. The present plan is to build up day service till it can take care of the crowds and then renew night service. The indications are that it may be a week before cars will be running late at night.

Both transportation companies are receiving scores of applications daily from men who want work as conductors or motormen. The Pacific Electric received applications yesterday from over forty men of its former employees. Some of these will be reinstated it is admitted, but many will never be accepted by the company again.

The Pacific Electric company's offer of two years' seniority for all new men entering the service appears to be attracting a considerable number of former employees back to the service. When the platform men struck they all lost their seniority. The beginning wage was formerly 41 cents an hour and up. The present arrangement gives every man entering the service a two-year start, which entitles him to a beginning wage of 44 cents an hour.

Yesterday the Los Angeles Railway ran more cars than at any time since the recent strike. It is hiring some former employees and taking on quite a number of new trainmen.

Former employees of the Los Angeles Railway met at the Labor Temple and voted on the question of returning to work on the company's terms. The vote was in the negative. Chairman R. P. Dix of the strike committee announced. No figures were given out. Mr. Dix declared that the situation remains unchanged and that the men will not return unless the company will take them in a body. He denied that there have been desertions from the ranks. About 200 attended the meeting.

C. D. Roundtree and Chairman Parker of the Pacific Electric strike committee last night denied that the red-line men were addressed yesterday by international officers of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen and stated that no mass meeting was held by the interurban men during the day. The situation was reported as being quiet and unchanged.

Wild rumors were circulated yesterday. One of these, which traveled as far as San Bernardino in an hour, was to the effect that the Pacific Electric company had compromised by giving the strikers an increase of 9 cents an hour and that the strikers were returning to work immediately. Company officials branded this as a fabrication made out of whole cloth.

Another rumor had it that Paul Shoup, president of the Southern Pacific Railway, was soon to announce that the company would take over the Pacific Electric line, operating it as a branch of the steam road, and under Railroad Administration wage and working conditions. Mr. Shoup's reply to this was: "The company would be insane to make such an arrangement."

A. F. Whitney, vice-president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainman, yesterday denied that he had met with former Pacific Electric Railway employees for the purpose of aiding them to get their jobs back or otherwise.

"I am willing to do all that I can to settle the present disturbed conditions, but I have not been invited to do so. Ever since coming to Los Angeles I have devoted my entire time to the steam railways and have not met the officials of the Pacific Electric," Mr. Whitney stated. "As far as I know the matter is no nearer adjustment than it was several days ago, but I certainly would like to see it settled, and settled soon."

The following night service schedule was announced last night by G. A. Smith, general passenger agent of the Pacific Electric Railway:

Pasadena Short Line—Leaving Los Angeles until 9:30 p.m.; leaving Pasadena until 8:45 p.m.

Pasadena city lines—Until 10:30 p.m.

Glendale line—Leaving Los Angeles until 9:30 p.m.; leaving Glendale until 10:20 p.m.

Alhambra-San Gabriel—Leaving Los Angeles until 9:30 p.m.; leaving San Gabriel until 10:25 p.m.

San Bernardino line—Leaving Los Angeles until 7:40 p.m.; leaving San Bernardino until 10:50 p.m.

DELECTABLE DAINTIES.

"Times" Prize Winners Prescribe Sure Cure for Gastronomic Blues.

If those pessimists who are complaining that the modern woman pays little or no attention to cookery and that the delicatessen has supplanted the kitchen could only see the stacks of letters which reached The Times this week, and read the hundreds of interesting missives from the housewives who write of pickles and preserves, of sauces and relishes, they'd have to admit that the majority of Los Angeles women are of the thoroughly domestic variety, exceedingly proficient in utilising all our abundance of fruits and vegetables. And the California housewife has an advantage over her eastern sister. We have delicious tropical fruits whose very names are alluring and the eastern housekeeper who pays 60 cents for a tiny jar of guava jelly to eat with her Thanksgiving turkey would be mighty happy to be making right now such delicacies as these two with which Mrs. Martin captures the

FIRST PRIZE RECIPE.
GUAVAS DE LUXE.

Wash the guavas, remove blossom and stem ends, and cook in a syrup made in the proportion of two cups of sugar to one quart of water. This amount suffices for one quart of guavas. Let cook moderately fast until the fruit is tender. (The guava is the queen of all fruits, and has a delectable flavor and beautiful color.)

DELECTABLE GUAVA JELLY.

Wash the guavas, remove ends and to each quart add one cup of water. Simmer until tender, put in jelly bag and let drip. Measure the juice and boil twenty minutes. Heat an equal quantity of sugar. Combine the juice and sugar, boil until drops form on end of a spoon held sideways. Pour into sterilized glasses. When cool, seal with melted paraffine. (Guava jelly is incomparably best of all.)—Mrs. Mabel Martin, 317 South Kingsley drive, Los Angeles.

Grapes and figs and strawberries! Wouldn't they make an attractive fruit centerpiece, heaped together in a glass bowl? And won't they make an inviting dish cooked together and served from a marmalade jar next winter, prepared as Mrs. Dye suggests in her

SECOND PRIZE RECIPE.
FIG MARMALADE.

Five pounds ripe figs, cut in quarters, but do not peel.

Three pounds Thompson seedless grapes.

Two boxes of hulled strawberries, cook until tender and then measure the same amount of sugar as stewed fruit. Cook slowly until thick like jam, then when cold and set seal with para-wax.—Mrs. I. R. Dye, 1116 South Flower street, Los Angeles.

And could any easterner, whose only knowledge of figs comes from buying the tiny packages of dried ones, ever get enough of our delicious pickled figs, especially if they were prepared from this recipe for THIRD PRIZE.

CALIFORNIA FIG SWEET PICKLE

Soak figs over night, in salt water, drain, and run cold water over them and drain.

Take 3½ pounds of sugar to 7 pounds figs, 1 ounce of cinnamon bark, 1 ounce of whole cloves; put the sugar, spices, and 1 pint of (apple) vinegar on stove and when it comes to a boil put in enough figs for the juice to cover, and cook until they are tender, but not broken, skim out and put in jars; continue until all the figs are cooked, a few at a time, then cook the juice down, and pour over the figs in jars and cover tight; they are delicious, in a few weeks.—Alice Robertson Marks, 1940 Budlong avenue, Los Angeles.

And so many people don't know how to prepare mixed pickles that every housewife will be glad to save and try this tested recipe from Mrs. James which surely deserves honorable mention.

FAVORITE PICKLE.

Cucumbers, 2 quarts; tomatoes, green, 2 quarts; onions, 2 quarts; beans, green, 2 quarts, cooked tender; cabbage, 2 quarts; cauliflower, 1 quart; sugar, 6¼ cups; mustard, ground, 6 tablespoons; mustard seed, white, 2 tablespoons; peppers, sliced, 6 tablespoons; flour, 3½ tablespoons.

Cut vegetables fine, put in salt water over night, strain. Cook in weak vinegar until tender; strain 3 quarts vinegar over it; add sugar, mustard and peppers, cook a few minutes longer. Mix flour with a little water, add to above, boil down. Then add 4 tablespoons tumeric. Put in glass jars. Will keep indefinitely.—Mrs. Harry James, San Dimas.

CLEANING HINTS.

Never put a particle of soap on silverware if you would have it retain its lustre. Wet a flannel cloth in kerosene and dip in dry whiting and rub the plated ware. Let it dry on, then polish with a chamois skin.

A mixture of oil and ink is good to clean kid boots with. The first softens the kid and the latter blackens them.

Baking plates and pudding dishes that have been used for a long time need a thorough cleaning occasionally. To do this put them in a kettle of water in which you have put a spoonful of wood ashes to one quart of water. Let them boil in this for one hour, and if any grease has been absorbed through cracks in glazing it will be removed, and pie crust baked on a plate thus cleansed will be sweet and not unwholesome.

To remove grease spots from floors, saturate a clean white cloth with kerosene and rub hard on the spots. Then wash your floor, using plenty of soap on the spots. The oil will evaporate in twenty-four hours and the spots will be gone.

SOME SUGGESTIONS ABOUT PRESERVES.

Be sure not to use fruit that is over-ripe as it will cook to a mush and not keep its shape.

Soft fruits should be cooked in a rich syrup, usually from three-fourths to a pound of sugar for each pound of fruit.

Sugar tends to harden the fruit, so firm fruit like quinces, crab apples, hard pears, should be cooked in water until tender. The water in which the fruit is cooked, a small quantity at a time, may be used in making the syrup.

In making jelly, put soft fruit into a sauce pan, crush and let heat slowly, when hot throughout, drain in a bag, then press out the remaining juice. Add water enough to cover the pulp, mix thoroughly, and cook about half an hour, then drain again.

Hard fruits, such as apples, quinces and plums, should be covered with water and cooked until soft. When the fruit is soft, drain and treat as directed for soft fruits.

Heat the juice to a boiling point and either can for future use or let boil with sugar and make jelly at once.

The quantity of sugar to be used varies, depending upon the amount of pectin in the juice. As a usual rule equal amounts of juice and sugar give best results. If crystals of sugar form in jelly you can be sure too much sugar has been added.

With peaches and other fruits lacking pectin, the jelling quality may be added by cooking the peaches, peelings and all, in as little water as possible, drain this juice and cook apples or crab apples in the peach juice, the apple will make the peach juice jell and the peach gives a delicious flavor. Pineapple jell may be made the same way.

HELPFUL HINTS.

Coffee made with an egg has a rich flavor.

Left-over salad or dessert fruits may be diced, sugared and served with whipped cream.

Remember that every family must have some green food every day, especially in winter.

Lima beans may be cooked with bacon, onions, tomatoes, flour, salt, pepper and spices.

To get the greatest amount of warmth out of a down quilt, put it on next to the sheet.

Vegetable oil can be used in making a cake, greasing the pans and making icing.

Boil a perspiration-stained garment in water in which you have put a little washing soda.

HOW TO USE OKRA IN COMBINATIONS.

Housekeepers who complain that "There are so few things to cook, nowadays, that it's hard to get any sort of table variety," should take account of that frequently unappreciated vegetable, okra. In the South okra is highly esteemed and deliciously cooked in a variety of manners, but in the North, we know it mainly in "chicken okra" or "chicken gumbo" soup.

Now okra, properly cooked, makes good eating, a fact which should be considered while okra is in the markets. It adds something to the richest stew or soup and redeems to tempting delicacy the plainest. It is alluring cooked in combination with other vegetables or singly. Served alone it needs only seasoning and a little butter for finish, though sweet green peppers chopped and added to the butter improve the dish for pepper lovers. Okra cooked with cabbage, added when the cabbage is half done, is delightful, too.

HAM AND OKRA.

The recipe for an appetizing combination of meat and okra is sent us by Mrs. E. A. Pulsci of 853 North Mariposa avenue, Los Angeles. She says cut a slice of ham in small pieces and brown, add onion, cut fine, cut okra in small pieces and mix with ham and onion, but sure to have it rich enough and if the ham is not fat add bacon fat. Add half can of tomatoes, season with salt and pepper. Cook half an hour or until okra is tender. Serve with boiled rice.

From Glendale comes a recipe for STEWED OKRA.

One pint of okra cut in inch pieces. One pint of raw tomatoes peeled and sliced. Three good size onions sliced thin. In a granite vessel, without cover, cook okra and onions together slowly, in enough water to cover them until done, and free from water. Stir often. Add tomatoes, and cook fifteen minutes longer. Season well with butter, salt and cayenne pepper. Mrs. Tillie Cummings, 221 East Maple avenue, Glendale.

Okra cooked alone is best prepared by blanching the pods (pouring boiling water over them, allowing them to stand for five minutes then draining and rinsing with cold water) then cooking, whole, until tender, but not sticky. Okra so cooked has no stringy or slippery appearance, but it must not be stewed too long nor in too much water. Okra gently boiled with string beans (both vegetables whole) also is most appetizing. Like most green vegetables it should be cooked with as little liquid and over as low a fire as possible, so as to preserve the attractive fresh green color.

OKRA SAUTE.

Chop a peeled onion, a clove of garlic, one-half red or green sweet pepper pod, saute in a little butter without browning, add six tomatoes, peeled and cut in quarters, simmer one-half hour, then add a dozen boiled okra pods, cover pan and let simmer until mixture thickens, season with salt. Serve on slices of hot buttered toast. Mrs. C. P. Funda, 231 E. Hazel, Inglewood, Cal.

A DISCOVERY THAT BENEFITS MANKIND

Two discoveries have added greatly to human welfare.

In 1835 Newton originated the vacuum process for condensing milk with cane sugar to a semi-liquid form.

In 1883 Horlick at Racine, Wis., discovered how to reduce milk to a dry powder form with extract of malted grains, without cane sugar.

This product HORLICK named Malted Milk. (Name since copied by others.) Its nutritive value, digestibility and ease of preparation (by simply stirring in water) and the fact that it keeps in any climate, has proved of much value to mankind as an ideal food-drink from infancy to old age.

URGES BALLOT TO LOWER LIVING COST.

WOMAN LAWYER ATTACKS THE KENYON BILL AND ALL RADICAL LAWS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—Declaring that some of the national legislation aimed at high food prices leads the way to a Czar-like dynasty in this country, Miss Mary Potter of New York, pioneer woman lawyer and suffragist, in an interview yesterday urged women voters of America to interest themselves in the whole problem of the high cost of living—and to find a practical solution.

Miss Potter who has been a practicing attorney in New York for twenty years, is one of the founders of the Woman's City Club of New York. High prices are one of the greatest menaces this country faces at the present time, Miss Potter declared.

"Many women vote now—all of us will vote soon," she said, "and every one of us can regulate this high cost of living problem through our ballots. As the first intelligent step in this direction, I believe in studying the provisions of the different bills now before Congress and then trying to form an intelligent opinion as to the effect of legislation on the consumer.

"Take the Kenyon bill now before Congress as a type of legislation which is aimed, supposedly, at lowering the cost of food. As a matter of fact, this bill will keep prices as high as they are now and may even ultimately force them higher. Every woman, every housekeeper, should study the provisions of this bill as it affects her directly and the market basket she seeks every day to keep well filled for her family.

"The bill seeks to take the control of the distribution of meats out of the hands of men who have spent their lives in studying the subject, and put it into the hands of political appointees. The evils set forth in the recent Federal Trade Commission's report cannot be met efficaciously in this way. Under this bill power would merely be transferred from the hands of the packers to one individual, the "Secretary of Agriculture," who virtually becomes a Czar through this bill.

"Just how this will cut the cost of food, women in America are at a loss to understand. The vesting of such powers in one man is un-American and is not in harmony with American principles of liberty which afford an equal opportunity for all."

Miss Potter believes that women have a great responsibility as voters, a responsibility that women of all the States will soon actively share. "Women voters should work against radical changes such as this," she declared. "We must keep Socialism out of our legislation and must prevent the giving of sweeping, arbitrary powers to any individual, be he President of Cabinet officer."

WHAT SALT WILL DO.

Salt is excellent for gargling and also for cleaning the teeth. It preserves and hardens the gums and teeth.

A little salt rubbed on cups will take out tea stains.

Put into whitewash it will make it stick better.

As a tooth powder it will keep the teeth white and the gums hard and rosy.

It is one of the best gargles for sore throat, and preventative of diphtheria if taken in time.

Salt and water held in the mouth after having a tooth pulled will stop the bleeding.

As a fertilizer salt is very valuable.

COTTON HOSE AGAIN BECOMES POPULAR.

What's this? Cotton hose popular? What will the high school girl do if silk stockings go out of style. Really cotton costs about as much now as silk did in the good old days, but that isn't the real reason why Los Angeles women are turning again to cotton. The real reason—whisper—is because it is quite the thing to roll the hosiery down from the top, and cotton rolls better than silk.

Royal blue silk stockings are often seen with otherwise entire white costumes. These, and all shades of orchid, and yellow are worn with white buck or white canvas oxfords, with promenade and sports dresses, but never with slippers or pumps. For dressy afternoon wear matching satin pumps are often worn, and in the evening silver or white kid slippers, with matching rolled stockings fastened just below the calf of the leg with jeweled pins, or round garters of roses or other small flowers on narrow elastic fastened just below the roll.

Cotton hose are popular (when obtainable,) for they hold the roll better than silk, they are made with solid lowers and striped tops. The real "kilties" have little on the young ladies of today, for above these hose are very bare legs to the knickers, teddies, or whatever.

With this bare knees fashion there is much care taken of the corset, for without the garters from edge to hose to hold them down, the corset must be made with insets of elastic below the belt to give the supple, uncorseted effect.

Corset makers have been endeavoring toward this end, for this is no new departure, as it was launched from a fashionable school over a year ago, and worn all during the winter, even at this resort, where the cold is severe.

APPLE ECONOMY.

Into a rather deep two-quart pan put a full teacupful of sugar, grate about one-third of a small nutmeg and add a cupful of water. If the apples are of the juiceless sort they will require a half-cupful more of water.

Pare, quarter and core enough apples to make two quarts after they are prepared. Empty these into the pan and place in the oven, keeping a steady but moderate heat, so that the apples cook slowly until tender and the tops are delicately browned.

If done just right, the apples (which if baked or stewed in the ordinary manner would be mushy and insipid) will be delicious. The quarters are transparent and often a little broken, surrounded by a clear, rich syrup.

Do You Know Your Own Business?

If you own shares in a business do you want a Government employe to tell your executives how to run your business?

If you are a loyal employe, do you want a political appointee to have the power to injure your concern by hampering its operations or by interfering with its efficiency?

Perhaps you have noticed the effect of Government control on the railroads, telegraph, and telephone.

Bills have been introduced to license and regulate the packing industry—perhaps your business will be next.

You would probably dislike to have this happen to your business even more than you would dislike to have your daily supply of meat interfered with.

PICKLES AND CATSUPS.

Recipes from "Times" Readers for Pungent and Appetizing Relishes.

The clever woman who delights in combing odds and ends into a savory dish will surely enjoy making

CHUTNEY SAUCE.

Eight pounds of ripe tomatoes (peeled,) 4 pounds of tart apples (peeled,) 2 pounds of onions (peeled,) 2 pounds of raisins (seeded,) 2 pounds of brown sugar, 5 green peppers seeded, 2 or 4 stalks of celery, chop this or put through large size food chopper, then add sugar, 1 ounce of cinnamon, 1 ounce of cloves, 1 ounce of allspice, 2 tablespoons of salt, 1 quart of cider vinegar. Boil one and a half hours. Bottle and seal.—Mrs. O. R. Dye, 1116 South Flower.

And while corn is still plentiful, the thrifty housewife will prepare half a dozen jars of

CORN RELISH.

One large onion, 2 green peppers, one red pepper, 1 small head of cabbage, 18 ears of corn, ½ cup of salt, 2 tablespoons of dry mustard, 1 pint vinegar, 4 cupfuls sugar, cut corn from cob, chop onion, peppers and cabbage, mix with corn, add salt, sugar and vinegar, boil slowly forty-five minutes, mix the mustard into a smooth paste with vinegar, add to mixture and boil ten minutes longer. Pour into hot jars and seal. —Lois Abbott, Rialto, Cal.

Is there any better relish than chili sauce? And there surely isn't a much better recipe for preparing it than this.

CHILI SAUCE.

One peck tomatoes, ripe, scald with boiling water and peel, cut into small pieces 1½ cups green and red peppers, measured after chopping, 2½ cups onions, chopped fine, 2 cups celery, chopped fine, 3 cups sugar (granulated is best,) 2 pints vinegar, ½ cup salt, 3 teaspoons ground cloves, 3 teaspoons ground cinnamon, 2 teaspoons ground ginger, 2 teaspoons ground nutmeg. Stir all together and cook slowly three hours and seal while hot. This quantity will make seven quart jars.—Anna M. Schrade, 558 South Hope street, Los Angeles.

Here's a good recipe to try on a hot morning, for it requires no cooking whatever.

COLD TOMATO PICKLE.

Peel and chop fine 1 peck ripe solid tomatoes ("beefsteaks" are best,) add 1 cupful salt and let stand overnight. Drain well in a coarse sack. Take the drained pulp (throw juice away,) add 1 cupful finely chopped celery, 2 cupfuls finely chopped onion, 1 cupful finely chopped green peppers, ½ cupful white mustard seed, 2 cupfuls white sugar, 2 teaspoonfuls ground cinnamon, 2 teaspoonfuls ground cloves, 5 cupfuls vinegar. Mix well and put in jars. Do not cook or heat up at all; keeps raw. —Mrs. Charles C. Bell, Box 64, R.F.D., Artesia, Cal.

SWEET PICKLED BELL PEPPERS.

Cut the tops off the bell peppers (save tops,) and remove seeds. Make a mild brine (cold,) and put peppers in, let stand overnight, then drain. Take cabbage and green tomatoes (a little more cabbage than tomatoes,) add a few onions, and chop or grind fine. Have enough of this mixture to fill the peppers, then add a little salt, mix thoroughly, and let stand overnight, then put mixture in a sugar sack or cloth and hang up to drain.

After brine is drained off, put the mixture in a preserving kettle and add enough vinegar to moisten well. In the vinegar put two or three cups of sugar, some white mustard seed, some whole cloves, and allspice. Let it cook an hour or two, or until it is tender. Then fill the peppers with the mixture, tie the tops on, and pack in a large crock or jar. Make a sweet vinegar enough to cover the peppers (3 cups sugar to 1 quart vinegar,) put on stove and let it come to a boil, then pour over the peppers, and let stand twenty-four hours. Then pour off the vinegar, re-heat it and pour back, do this for about six days. The peppers will then be ready for use, but a month or two will give them a better flavor, as the seasoning will have a better chance to mix with the peppers.—[Mrs. H. B. Graeff, 4308 Woodlawn avenue, Los Angeles. And from Santa Ana comes another recipe for preparing peppers, concerning which Mrs. Bond writes:

In this land of peppers a relish called pepper hash may be of interest to your readers.

PEPPER HASH.

Twelve red peppers (medium size,) 12 green peppers (medium size,) 15 onions (medium size,) 5 pints vinegar (medium size,) 3 cups sugar. Eliminate seeds, chop fine, soak in hot brine 5 hours, drain, cook ten minutes, seal; unusually fine relish.—Mrs. J. A. Bond, 607 East First street, Santa Ana, Cal.

SERVING TOMATOES IN UNUSUAL WAYS.

Now is the time to serve tomatoes—they're plentiful and comparatively cheap—and we can serve them without any monotony by following the unusual recipes submitted last week. Doesn't this favorite recipe which Mrs. Francis sends us sound appetizing?

TOMATO SUCCOTASH.

Four large tomatoes, three large ears green corn, one chopped green pepper, one teaspoon salt, one chopped onion, two tablespoons butter, one teaspoon sugar, one-fourth teaspoon paprika. Fry pepper and onion in the butter until soft. Have corn cut from the cob and the tomatoes skinned and sliced, cooking together. Add pepper, onion and seasoning. Cook gently until the ingredients are done and the succotash is a little thick. Mrs. J. H. Francis, 596 East Avenue 28, Los Angeles, Cal.

And here is a recipe that would prove a meal in itself.

BAKED TOMATOES WITH EGGS.

Select small, firm tomatoes of even size, scald and peel them. Scoop out a spoonful from the center of each, and chop this fine. For six or eight tomatoes, chop fine, one small onion and fry it brown, in one large tablespoon of butter, add pepper, one cup of stale bread crumbs, the chopped tomato, and one teaspoon of chopped parsley, stir over the fire for five minutes. Pack the tomatoes closely, in a shallow baking pan. Fill the centers with some of the cooked mixture and put remainder between the tomatoes. Bake in a hot oven until brown, then break over the top one egg for each person and return to the oven until the eggs are set. Miss Marion M. Janvier, 520 Oakland avenue, Pasadena.

Miss Janvier also sends an unusual recipe for

TOMATO SALAD.

Peel ripe tomatoes carefully, scooping out the centers. Blanch one pint of roasted peanuts by putting in boiling water, then into cold. Skin them and pound them to a paste. Mix with a thick mayonnaise and fill the centers of tomatoes with them. Serve on lettuce leaves.

Those housewives who have gardens and raise their own tomatoes can indulge in a delicious dish, the recipe for which is sent us from Azusa.

SAUTEED GREEN TOMATOES.

Six tablespoonfuls lard or crisco, six tablespoonfuls flour, one teaspoonful sugar, one teaspoonful salt. Mix flour, salt and sugar, slice tomatoes, pepper and dip in flour mixture and fry first on one side and then the other. Mrs. H. Grihalva, Azusa, Cal.

And while tomatoes are abundant is the time to prepare for winter days. Tomato sauce is one of the most useful aids to appetizing meals and Mrs. Loofbourrow sends us her tried and tested recipe.

TOMATO SAUCE.

Thirty large ripe tomatoes, five large onions, five green peppers (long ones,) five tablespoons of brown sugar, three tablespoons of salt, five cups of vinegar. Cut the tomatoes, onions, and peppers. Boil until tender enough to strain through a sieve. Add other ingredients and boil until thick enough to suit. This will make several pints and it keeps nicely. Mrs. D. B. Loofbourrow, La Varne, Cal.

CARE OF BRUSHES.

All brushes, especially floor and vegetable, should be washed clean in suds, scalded, then dried, brush down, in the open air and put away thoroughly dry. Clothes brushes are best cleaned in gasoline. All brooms should hang from hooks. There are half a dozen inexpensive broom holders on the market, but the cheapest and easiest way is to screw a tiny screw eye (a dozen can be bought for a dime) into the end of the brooms and mops. Then any small nail will answer for a hook.

Make Your Own Candied Fruit.

Fruit which is to be candied should be washed, pealed or pared if necessary, and then cut or sliced. Drop fruit into boiling water for two or three minutes, drain well and cover with a syrup made by boiling together one pound of sugar for each pound of fruit, with one cup of water. Boil fruit rapidly in this syrup for 15 minutes. Remove from the fire and allow to stand over night. The next morning boil for 10 or 15 minutes again. Repeat the heating and cooling for 4 to 6 days, according to how rapidly the water is drawn out and the syrup absorbed. When the fruit is transparent and bright lift it from the syrup and dry in the sun or in a cool oven.

HAVE YOU AN IDEA?

Tell How You Save Time, Money, Labor.

Domestic economy is not a special science to be acquired by close harmony with text-book and classroom. Not altogether. Domestic economy is something which follows us through our everyday life and stands at our elbow as we perform our necessary household duties.

In these days of high prices and scarce help, when a dollar shrivels up and all but vanishes before it even begins to work, any suggestion which tends to save a portion of the debilitated coin is eagerly welcomed by the average housewife. Next to new and attractive recipes such as The Times has been printing for several weeks the chief interest of the readers of this department centers in ways and means to effect a real economy in domestic affairs.

Necessity is said to be the mother of invention, and there must be any number of mothers, or at least stepmothers, who will read this and be willing to pass along for the benefit of their sisters some idea which has served to reduce expenses without impairing efficiency. No recipes this time, but a time-saving, labor-saving device or substitute.

If two heads are better than one, several thousand heads are sure to be regular generators for really worth-while, practical domestic economies. This week The Times will devote its prize columns to this purpose. What do you do that saves you money, time and labor? It may seem trivial to you, but remember that the cutting of corners brings us sooner to our destination, so send along the idea.

There are no ifs or ands to this offer. For the best and most original idea that results in conserving either one or all of the elements mentioned and which enter so completely into the conduct of a home, The Times will pay $3; for the next best, $2, and for the third choice of the judges, $1. As many as possible of the other clever saving plans will be published.

Here is a really worth-while way to pass along a good thing. Send in your saving plan so it will be in hand not later than Saturday noon. Write plainly on one side of the paper and address to Editor Times' Domestic Page. Explain your homemade economy as briefly and as plainly as possible, that it may be tried by everyone interested in making a dollar do the work which 50 cents formerly accomplished.

POSSIBILITIES OF CUCUMBERS.

Have you had an idea that about all that could be done with cucumbers to keep them for winter use was to pickle them, and that there were only three varieties of pickles, sweet, sour and dill? Just read the following recipes from our readers and see what different and exceedingly appetizing relishes can be prepared from them. You'll only need to wait two weeks to test this:

CUCUMBER RELISH.

Peel part the coarse skin from three dozen large cucumbers, chop fine, put in stone jar and sprinkle a handful of salt on it. Stand until morning, drain. Chop six white onions, six red or green peppers, add one ounce of white mustard seed, mix together, with one-half cup brown sugar and one pint cider vinegar. Place in pint jars. Add a little cold vinegar and sugar on top and seal. Good to use in two weeks. —Mrs. Francis E. White, Athens-on-the-Hill, R.F.D. 4.

CUCUMBER CATSUP.

Select large, nearly ripe cucumbers, peel, remove seeds, chop fine or grate; measure, place in colander, sprinkle over 1 teaspoon salt to each pint. Drain 6 hours, measure. To each quart, allow 2 cups vinegar or white wine, 4 tablespoons grated horseradish, 1 tablespoon each minced red pepper (sweet,) excluding seeds, and white mustard seed. Bring vinegar and flavoring to boiling point. Skim, let get cold, add to cucumber pulp. Stir well. Seal and keep in dark place.—Mrs. R. C. McCollum, 1612 Wall street.

OIL CUCUMBER PICKLES.

Slice with slaw cutter green cucumbers without peeling, and soak in salt water three hours, then put in glass jars. To each quart of cold vinegar take ½ cup of olive oil, 1 tablespoon white mustard seed, 1 tablespoon celery seed, mix and pour over cucumbers, cold and seal. Finest ever, no cooking. Try it and report. —Lucy K. Brown, 501 Walnut avenue, Long Beach, Cal.

SLICED CUCUMBER PICKLES.

Peel and slice thin 25 lbs. of cucumbers and 5 cents worth of white onions. Let stand in salt and weak vinegar, 4 hours. Drain well through colander, then to 1 quart of vinegar take 1 cup granulated sugar, 1 tablespoon white mustard seed, 1 teaspoon black pepper, 6 small red peppers, 1 teaspoon celery seed, 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon, 1 teaspoon tumeric powder, a few mixed spices. Put cucumbers and onions in this and scald. Put into glass jars and seal. Will make 7 or 8 quarts.—Mrs. Frank M. Perry, 1111-A Fair Oaks avenue, South Pasadena, Cal.

CUCUMBER PICKLES.

One peck of small cucumbers, wash well, make a brine of 1 gallon water, 1 cup salt, when boiling hot pour over the cucumbers, cover closely and let stand 24 hours. Pour off brine, wipe the pickles and crowd into wide-mouthed jars, and for each quart pour over the following boiling hot: Three-fourths quart vinegar, 1 tablespoon sugar, 2 teaspoons mixed spices. Seal as soon as this liquor has been added. These are crisp and most excellent.—Anna M. Schrode, 558 South Hope street, Los Angeles.

SIMPLE METHOD DILL PICKLES.

Wash small or medium cucumbers, pack in glass jars with dill scattered among them; fill jars with one-half water and vinegar (measured,) then one tablespoon of cooking salt on top; screw on lid. In six weeks you will have crisp green pickles. They will keep as long as you can keep them away from the family. This recipe is fine for people living in apartments, as it does away with the bother of large jars, as you must have to salt them down in the old way.—Mrs. Bertha S. Morris, route 1, box 103, Los Angeles, Cal.

RIPE CUCUMBER PICKLES.

Take 6 large, ripe yellow cucumbers, cut in halves, take out all the seeds and pulp, then cut in strips about like one's finger, stand over night in salt; next morning take each strip and wipe as dry as possible, placing the pieces back into the stone jar. Have half a dozen red peppers prepared, by removing the seeds and cut in small narrow pieces about an inch long; have also one fresh horse radish prepared in the same manner (in small pieces) and about a half pound of mustard seed—more is better. Sprinkle all these pieces of peppers, horseradish and mustard seed between the strips of cucumbers. Have enough vinegar (I should say at least one quart) boiling hot and pour this over. On the third morning scald vinegar again, they are then ready for use. When cold can be packed away in glass jars, although they will keep fine if left right in the stone jar, by placing a bag filled with white mustard seed over the top of the pickles. This is an old and well-tried recipe, and certainly looks attractive when served on the table, as well as tasting very good.—Mrs. A. W. Becker, 1328 Genesee street, Hollywood, Cal.

DOMESTIC ECONOMIES.

The dime, the quarter and the dollar are the passwords of the home, and how to make the first two do the work of the third is the problem which confronts every housewife. Here are three suggestions which Times readers have found efficacious. The first will interest every girl and woman who swims and is confronted each spring by the problem of the rotted cap. If you will put your cap away with talcum powder sprinkled thoroughly over it inside and out the rubber will neither stick nor rot, and the cap will be as good when the wild waves call next spring as it is when you put it away. The same is true of rubber gloves.

To Wash Cretonne.

The cretonne coverings for the furniture become soiled very quickly. A heavy household expenditure is the extra laundry bill when they are sent to be cleaned. Those who possess washing and drying accommodations should make use of their advantages and launder the coverings at home.

First, shake or brush all loose dirt from the coverings. Soak them in water for at least twelve hours. If they are much soiled, change the water several times.

Add salt to the water if they are being washed for the first time. This prevents the colors from fading.

Dissolve a cake of yellow soap in boiling water, making a plentiful supply, if there are many covers to be washed. Add enough to a tub of water to produce a good suds. If the water is hard, a little ammonia will soften it. Rub them well in the soapy water, changing it once or twice as required.

The covers should be rinsed through several waters to which salt has been added. This keeps the colors from fading. Wring out thoroughly and starch through hot starch to which has been added some shredded white wax and a teaspoonful of powdered borax. Rub the starch well into the material and hang out to dry.

When thoroughly dry, sprinkle and allow ample time for the water to dampen uniformly each piece of cretonne. Press with a hot iron until dry.

FIGS ARE RIPE AND OH, SO DELICIOUS.

HALF A DOZEN WAYS TO MAKE READY FIG DAINTIES ARE EXPLAINED.

FIG CONSERVE.

Eight pounds figs.

Five pounds sugar, (granulated.)

Two and one-half pounds walnuts (weighed in the shell.)

Dissolve sugar without water. Bring to a boil, add figs and cook twenty minutes, add nut meats and cook twenty minutes longer. Mrs. W. H. Coryell, R 2, Box 373, San Gabriel, Cal.

CRYSTALLIZED FIGS.

Wash and weigh the figs and for each pound allow ten ounces of sugar. For 10 pounds of fruit add to the sugar a pint of water, stir till dissolved and bring the syrup to the boiling point. Drop in the fruit and bring quickly to such a vigorous boil that the syrup rises and covers the fruit. Keep at this point for one hour, then drain off the syrup and set fruit and syrup aside separately. Next day reheat the syrup, add fruit and boil one-half hour, drain, and set aside again. The third day, if syrup is much reduced add a little water to prevent burning. Heat, add figs and boil thirty minutes. Drain, letting fruit stand in a colander long enough to drip well. Spread the figs slightly apart from one another on platters or trays and dry in the sun, turning once a day. Mrs. C. A. Flagg, 151 S. Meredith avenue.

FIG MARMALADE.

Peel and weigh figs; add an equal weight of sugar, let stand over night.

Boil till transparent; skimming off scum and seeds frequently with spoon.

Ten minutes before removing from fire, add grated ginger root, to taste. Pour in glasses, when cold cover with melted paraffin. Mrs. Agnes Hindman, Inglewood.

FIG SWEET PICKLE.

Eight pounds white figs just under ripe; 1 pint water; 1 pint Heinz's cider vinegar; 5 cups sugar; 1-4 ounce ginger root; 2 teaspoons whole cloves; 1 ounce cinnamon bark.

Put the mixed spices in small bags. Boil all for five minutes before adding the figs a layer at a time. Do not cook too long.

Good. Canned hot immediately with spice bag in each jar.

Better. Put into stone crock with reheated liquid, poured over every day or two for a week, then canned hot.

Best and clearest. After pouring hot liquid over two or three days arrange the figs cold in glass jars, remove spice bags, pour over strained, heated liquid and sterilize twenty minutes in hot water bath. Mrs. J. O. Downing, 727 S. Rampart street.

PERFECT PRESERVED FIGS.

Scald perfect, whole ripe figs in boiling soda water, (one cup soda to six quarts hot water,) allowing fruit to remain in liquid five minutes. Drain and rinse twice in cold water. Drain again, meanwhile make a syrup by boiling two and one-half quarts of sugar with three quarts of water for ten minutes. Add fruit gradually, cooking rapidly until the figs are tender, and clear. (Two hours.) Pack in jars, set them in hot water, boil syrup until thick, pour over figs and seal. A dependable, tested, home recipe. Mrs. Eva Francis, 131 S. Vendome, Los Angeles.

PEARS RIPE BUT FIRM ARE BEST FOR CANNING.

Pears which are ripe but not yet soft are best for canning. Peel, and with large pears, halve and remove core. Small ones can be packed whole with stem on. Blanch by lowering for fifteen seconds in boiling water and then put for an instant in cold bath. Drain and place one layer with stems up and the second layer with stems down in jars which have been boiled for fifteen minutes. Space is saved by this method of packing.

When the jars have been packed with fruit, fill to overflowing with a syrup made to suit the individual taste. An excellent one is made of 7 cups of sugar to 4 quarts of water. Boil and skim. Put in place rubber which has been cleaned in a hot soda solution (1 teaspoon baking soda in one quart of water,) and boiled cover. Tighten cover about half way.

Place jars on false bottom in water-bath canner with water sufficient to cover them. Process for 25 minutes after the water starts to boil vigorously. Remove, tighten top, test for leaks, and store in a cool, dark, dry place.

SEEING STARS.

That's not a bad idea of the astronomers to come here to study the stars. There are so many of them in Hollywood that at times night seems turned into day and it is a wonder that more men do not forget to go home.

FUR BEARING.

How the women are going to bear up under the weight of some of the furs offered for their adulation beats us. It's no wonder they have to take off everything else in order to put on their furs. Woman is surely the largest fur-bearing animal in captivity.

ALL IS VANITY.

The "vanity" is one case in which the women make no attempt to beat about the bush. It is exactly what its name indicates and is the outward and visible recognition of that which every woman has within—whether she will admit it or not. Possibly the extent of the lady's vanity may be indicated by the magnitude or the gorgeousness of her "case."

THE SLOTHFUL.

The principle of profit-sharing is worth extension in American industry, but no firm will consent to share the profits with the walking delegate or with workmen who are seeing how little they can do in the least number of hours. With the costly machinery in service there are few industries that could show a profit on a six-hour day, and yet there are open-faced and leather-lunged agitators already clamoring for that very thing.

HOME BREWING.

People who have in mind the idea of a little booze-building in the home are disturbed by recent rulings of the revenue department to the effect that wine-making in the family is illegal. But it seems that there are reservations or exceptions. Wine may be made for medicinal purposes and home beer may be brewed as a beverage. If a man can have his home-made beer when he is thirsty and his wine when he is not feeling well it may help to ease his outlook on a weary world.

AN IDLE KNOCK.

Union-laborites were complaining in violent terms on Labor Day at the alleged inadequacy of the street-car service to the scene of the labor picnic. Yet if the union members had had their way not a car would have been running in any direction. To be consistent they should not have patronized the lines at all. As a matter of fact the service was beyond the normal schedule, in spite of the unceasing efforts of strikers to cripple it. Why should the walking delegates complain? They all have their own cars.

THE HIGHER COURT.

The murder in Tennessee of Robin Cooper recalls the assassination in 1908 of Senator Carmack and the alleged participation of Cooper in the crime. At that time Senator Carmack was campaigning for re-election to the United States Senate and Gov. Patterson of Tennessee, with an eye to the same position, was opposing him. When Carmack was killed Cooper was accused of participating in the murder and was tried and convicted of murder in the first degree. The Supreme Court upheld the lower court's decision, but Gov. Patterson pardoned Cooper before he left the courtroom. One result of all this was that Tennessee, a Democratic State, went Republican in the following gubernatorial election. Cooper was a lawyer and had many friends in the courts of men, but evidently there is a higher court than any held on earth, a court in which sits the Supreme Judge who can neither be frightened nor bribed.

THE PRICE OF LEISURE.

Vice-President Marshall is a genial old scout with a homely and practical philosophy that is thoroughly American. In an address at Washington he smilingly confessed that he had never lived within his salary and had often thought of striking for a higher one. But there was a distinction. If he struck because he was not getting what his services were worth, how he spent his money was nobody's business but his wife's. But if he struck because of the high cost of living, justice would demand that he show how he spent his salary in order that the arbiters might determine whether it was the high cost of living or the cost of high living that ailed him.

The Vice-President also said something when he remarked that the real evil which we are confronting today is the high cost of leisure.

This is a blunt and simple statement of fact. In a proneness for leisure many a man is forgetting the exquisite joy of accomplishment. Many men have struck—not because their services were worth more; not because of the high cost of living, but because of a whim for insolent leisure and because of the luxurious price of extravagance. They are becoming strangers to the vast contentment that comes through an honest day's work honestly performed.

REMEDIES FOR THE HIGH COST OF LIVING.

The most vital question in the mind of the American public today is, how can the high cost of living be reduced? The monster, popularly known as the h. c. of l., is not an imaginary creature, but a real dragon, born from the womb of the recent world conflict, gaining strength as age increases. Leading thinkers of every shade of political opinion, including President Wilson and Vice-President Marshall, are becoming frankly philosophical and nonpartisan in the discussion as to the best method of meeting, combatting and killing this evil thing that has raised its hydra-head from the desolation of war, threatening the nation with greater disaster than even Mars had power to inflict. It occurs to The Times that there are five ways of organizing for battle against this monster, five methods of attack each of which should be applied simultaneously by all of the people in the United States.

First: There must be more production—not spasmodic production and feverish activity by a few zealous patriots, but continuous productivity on the part of every member of society. This, of course, would necessitate the elimination of strikes; but it does not take a deep student of economy to see that strikes are always destructive, rather than constructive, and that the STRIKE STRIKES the wage-earners even harder than it does their employers. Since the law of supply and demand is inexorable it naturally follows that a greater production of the articles necessary for comfortable living must necessarily result in a decrease of prices. The unwillingness of so many people to do any real work is one of the most mischievous factors in the frightful increase in living cost.

Second: The question of wages must be logically, conscientiously and generously considered by both employers and employees. There must be an evening-up in the wage scale. No reasonable man, if he be informed as to conditions in this country, will deny the fact that the wages paid to certain classes of labor are proportionately unjust as compared to the amount of money received by other classes of workers whose services to society are no less important. For instance, the railway engineers have been getting more than their share, while teachers, book-keepers, preachers, newspaper men and other intellectual laborers often do not receive all that they are entitled to. President Wilson was right when he informed the striking trainmen that it would mean disaster for them to attempt to bring about an exaggerated increase in the wages of artisans at a time when all the wise men at Washington, as well as all the industrial leaders of the country, are working in unison to adjust wage conditions and to find a solution to the problem of inflated prices.

Third: The warfare against profiteering must not be abated, but rather must it be waged more vigorously. There has been, and still is, in America a class of men whose profit-taking can be mentioned in no milder term than that of extortion. The advent of the war, which necessarily ushered in the custom of thinking in billions, also brought with it an unnecessary habit of charging tremendous and often outrageous prices. To just what extent the present national administration was responsible for this state of affairs let every clear-headed citizen decide for himself. Lay all the blame at the door of war or consider it purely as a national psychological blunder, if you will. Suffice it to say that whatever the people were charged for food, clothing and other necessities, they paid without a murmur, willingly and cheerfully, without a second thought, unless that second thought consisted of a vague idea that the war was responsible and that they would be slackers to complain. And they paid enough, and often too much—for many fortunate people, from manufacturers to retailers, being in possession of products or the machinery of production, took an unfair advantage of conditions, or rather of the public, and heaped up enormous profits, on the principle that their temporary possession of absolutely-essential products, and the machinery with which to produce them, gave them the RIGHT TO CHARGE what they had the MIGHT TO CHARGE, in the words of a railroad manager of the old school, "to charge all the traffic will bear." Many of these profiteers have seen the handwriting on the wall and have adopted a sane method of business, but there still remain a more than sufficient number who evidently do not realize that the war is over or, if they do, have come to imagine that the people are so accustomed to being abused that they will not dare to lift a hand against their persecutors. But let them beware! When selfishness preys too long on patriotism or trades too long upon a people's patience the rebellious reaction that follows is not conducive to the happiness of the nation's betrayers.

Fourth: There must be co-operation and universal considerateness on the part of everyone if any appreciable reduction in the cost of necessities is to be achieved. President Wilson has repeatedly emphasized this point and other good and wise men of the country have enthusiastically indorsed his sentiments. The captains of industry and the soldiers of industry must work together. There must be no lagging, no shirking, no dissension. Employer and employee must work equally hard and in perfect harmony; unified effort is the only hope. "The One Big Union" is the right idea if it is really applied to this ONE BIG UNION CALLED AMERICA, by all the members of that Union—and not misapplied by a disgruntled element which at heart is as guilty of treacherous secession as if it advocated the establishment of two separate governments within the borders of these United States. The Times ventures to assert that the one item contributing most exasperatingly to the high cost of everything which the public is compelled to purchase has been and is the abnormally high wages paid to the steam railway workers, which not only set the example that caused unrest and discontent to a boiling-over degree of unreasonableness of other workers, but which has necessitated an increase in freight rates on everything which the railways have hauled from one part of the country to consumers in other sections. If the present near-panic is not to continue and grow worse, if we really are to have a reduction in living costs, a reduction which all of us desire and should have, then, let us repeat, THERE MUST BE CO-OPERATION AND CONSIDERATENESS ON THE PART OF ALL WORKERS, whether they work with brain or hand, or both; whether they be farmers, salesmen, mechanics or railroaders; whether they be managers of factories or employees engaged therein. No one must look at the matter from a selfish viewpoint. Greed will not settle the question. The give-me-mine,-that's-all-I-ask spirit will not do it. There must be fair play and reasonableness on all sides. If the fight is waged by all of us on this basis, then the warfare against the high cost of living will meet with success—and not otherwise.

Less striking, less kicking, less grabbing—more working, more thinking, more helping!

Fifth, and finally, but by no means of least importance: There must be a cessation of individual extravagance. This is where the shoe of criticism pinches all of us most; it is an unpleasant point to have to make, but without the application of this precept to all of us and by each of us all other talk and action will count for little. The world war has left the world poorer than it was before, and America's part in that war certainly did not tend to increase the wealth of the nation. We may as well face this fact—coolly, calmly, if we can, and with determination to make conditions better as fast as possible, but face it we must, for it is a hard, cold fact. In plain view of this condition have we any right or reason to attempt an extravagance of living which we cannot maintain with justice to ourselves, our families, our nation—and our world? Too many people have mortgaged their homes to buy automobiles that they do not need; too many girls are buying fancy gloves, white shoes and silk stockings; too many young men are spending money foolishly, recklessly for things which they would be better off without. On every hand men and women, rich and poor, are pursuing a course of extravagance and wastefulness which, under present conditions, is sure to bring want and suffering either to themselves or to those whom it is their duty to protect. In the last analysis the government is THE PEOPLE, and no amount or character of legislation can go far toward reducing the high cost of living unless the people of the nation, as individuals, co-operate with their representatives and with one another in the effort to produce, conserve and justly distribute the necessities and comforts of life.

America is living beyond its income. Two more years of progress in the present direction and the bank balance of the nation will be in red. That means bankruptcy. The individual American must produce more essentials and consume fewer luxuries.

Let's all get together—and each do his part in this campaign against Old Hi Cost!

POLICEMEN'S UNIONS.

Great Britain has had its experience with a policemen's union, such as is proposed here now. The police forces of the United Kingdom were organized along trade-union lines. In due course of time came a policemen's strike which seriously threatened the security of life and property. In Great Britain, as in Los Angeles, the organization of the peace officers into a trade union was not a spontaneous effort from within, provoked by a sense of grievance; but it was a conspiracy of agitators, not primarily to benefit the members of the police force, but to promote revolutionary ends. It was a case where the policemen were used as pawns in a revolutionary plot in which they had no concern.

The menace of the policemen's union became so apparent that a bill has already passed its third reading in the House of Commons which requires all peace officers to renounce the right to refuse duty before they can hold positions on the force. They are also forbidden to organize themselves into a trade union. Shall we permit the organization here of something that has already proved so perilous elsewhere? Surely the hour is at hand when the ounce of prevention should be administered.

CAPITAL SPORT.

An association has been formed in the States tributary to the Mississippi Valley which has as one of its casual purposes the removal of the national capital from Washington to some city of the Middle West to be hereafter agreed upon.

Possibly nothing will result from this crusade, but it is a fine sport both in and out of doors and any number of persons can play.

It is a pity that a popular vote of the entire Union cannot be taken on questions of general interest, such as prohibition, who shall be food dictator and what city shall be the nation's capital? In a free-for-all on the latter question Washington, with its prestige and possession, would undoubtedly have a vote in excess of any other city, but as against any other one town it could easily lose. It would be necessary to have an elimination contest to decide which city should compete with Washington in the finals. As a matter of fact, the most popular and practical capital the country could have would be that city which was the second choice of the greatest number of people.

There is ample argument for the removal of the capital. Washington is a city of villainous climate. The winters are bleak and wet and the summers are hot and sticky. Everybody knows how hard it is to get anybody to run for Congress from Southern California. The thought of having to spend most of their time in Washington makes them scream with terror.

Furthermore, Washington is not a beautiful city. Outside of the public buildings there are few notable structures, and living is distressingly high. The public buildings in Washington only represent an investment of $63,000,000, which is a trifling sum to a nation that does its counting in billions. Beside this, before and during the war the government was compelled to lease no less than 180 privately-owned buildings at an annual rental of nearly $2,000,000. This sum is almost 3 per cent. interest on the government's total construction investment. It indicates that the government would be ahead in the long run if it adopted an entirely new building programme in a new field. Then the planning could be on a majestic scale and every building could be a definite unit in a magnificent whole. There would be an abandonment of the present haphazard, "catch-as-catch-can method of housing the government and its departments.

When the capital was located in Washington the entire country had a population less than that of the single State of Illinois today. Now the geographical center is in Kansas and the population center in Indiana. The capital can never be in Los Angeles, but it could well be 1500 miles nearer this city and be more convenient and accessible to the hundred millions of the nation's people.

Of course Mrs. Wilson would never willingly consent to have the capital removed from Washington, but that need not prevent the Mississippi Valley folk from going on with the spreading of their gospel. The capital will not always be under the Wilson hat.

HAS DOUBTS.

A California gentleman writes to the Star that as soon as the Senate stands aside and permits peace to pass the cost of living will come down. On the side which the California gentleman has chosen he will find some distinguished company. But we have looked over our new apartment lease, as we always do soon after signing it, and can find nothing in it providing that the $20 increase which it calls for this year shall be no longer in effect in the event that peace is ratified before the termination of the lease.—[Kansas City Star.

RIPPLING RHYMES.

THE TREES.

The trees have music of their own,
A soft and soothing monotone, that lulls a man to rest; I have a volume to peruse, but, under them, I snore and snooze, my chin upon my breast. To sit beneath a swaying birch is much like being in a church; your drowsy eyelids close; and to the realms of dreams you hie, until an active loathsome fly camps down upon your nose. How often I have lain awake until I saw the morning break and slumber would not come; and I would sadly leave the hay to face another toilsome day, all punk and on the bum.
My nights are often things of dread,
I toss around upon my bed and find no comfort there; but when I sit beneath a tree, the sweet restorer comes to me, its coattails in the air. The trees have voices sad and sweet, their world-old music they repeat, a solemn, sylvan choir; the same old song they used to sing when Earth was but a half-baked thing and mortals worshiped fire.
They croon their mournful lullaby while men are born, grow up and die, they sigh with every breeze;
and when I quit this vale of tears
I hope to sleep a million years beneath the nodding trees.

WALT MASON.

QUEST OF THE KICK.

BY ALMA WHITAKER.

Poets have long sung of the superior zest of the chase over that of realization. Prohibition has inspired a new and zestful chase for a blase world. About every second man one meets these days has a zestful eye as he confides his perilously-near successes in the search for a "kick." At dinner parties nowadays we are all gaily sampling utterly harmless but virulently amateur liquids manufactured in the cellar by a proud and hopeful host who is positively certain that his next brew will be thoroughly naughty. This particular brew, you will understand, has so many of the proper elements. True, it doesn't exactly kick, but, oh, it stirs. Embryo power is there. Like the model airplanes of the '90's, it will do everything but leave the ground. It cannot fail to fly someday.

And while ardent prohibitionists may frown at this reprehensible ambition, it has its compensations. There is no more enthusiastic stay-at-home hubby than he whose cellar is transformed into a young and promising brewery, replete with "wooden vessels, fermentation vats, waiting bottles and brand new corks" as called for by the precious but elusive recipes. The lure of the downtown cafe is no more; he yearns for nothing better than an admiring row of expectant friends inspecting his so-promising and pretentious-looking "plant." The popularity that goes with high endeavor for the public weal is his.

For instance, take John. John was always a popular host in the bad old days and he has no intention of losing caste. He has a most impressive recipe for old brown English ale. He has a cellar. The golf links have scarcely seen him since June 30. That distingue air of slightly-bored ennui has left him forever. There is the glitter of coming achievement in his eye. He almost giggles. The last brew attained 7 per cent.—at least he thinks it did. It certainly tasted most realistic. And all his guests, oozing unqualified confidence in John's intentions, waxed as buoyantly hilarious as any three thoroughly vicious cocktails could once have achieved. Oh, the zest of the chase.

But, then, John has a rival. There is Edward. Edward's wife says he has been perfectly adorable since he got that recipe for orange wine. Sip his brew enthusiastically, evince utter confidence in its future kickableness and Edward will give her the moon. Moreover, he will eat any poor meal with amiable complacency, never stays out at night, asks nothing better of life than unfettered leisure in the cellar and the sacred consideration of the family for his lofty hopes and fears. They all assure him his orange wine beats John's brown ale to fits.

But not alone to the masculine sex does this sort of new eclat apply. Many a plumptical mamma, who had some time since begun resigning her social charms with her complexion and her figure, has come back into her own. She has recalled how grandma used to make blackberry and elderberry wine on the old homestead, to say nothing of piquant apple cider that you couldn't tell from champagne. She has hunted up grandma's formulas to aid her memory—and, behold, she is a queen among women. King Solomon once set forth the essentials of a good and virtuous wife, among which was an ability to buy and exploit a productive vineyard and provide good wine for her family and handmaidens. Her modern counterpart is getting as near to it as she can—and it is near enough to bring eclat upon her spouse, who braggingly invites all his friends home to sample the achievements of the choice of his heart. Like the rooster in the barnyard, he crows when she lays the egg with the kick, as it were. And the sun duly rises for all concerned. So far the kick is modest and the fruitiness impressive, but, like Johnny's drawing and Milly's pianoforte solo, it is full of the promise of genius in a mundane world, and the family swells with just pride and confidence.

Those bloated plutocrats who laid in a thousand dollars' worth of supplies can never know this superb zest of the chase. The best they can do is to dole out supplies with present pomposity, fearsomely intermingled with future drought. They but live in a hectic present haunted by doubts. But your amateur strivers with the sure recipe bubble with hope and exuberance. They are not living in any old effete past, but in a wildly-enthusiastic present with a frothy, poppy, fizzy future in the, oh, so near offing.

Unlike budding authors and poets and musicians, these home-recipe strivers are genial folk to associate with. Listening to the reading of an unpublished poem has none of the thrill of sampling a coming-kick brew. However, there is a type of "kick" yearner who is very aggravating. It's the chap who doesn't try 'em himself, but always has a new recipe to foist upon some hopeful friend. He always has such an air of profound knowledge, of finality.

"Oh, sure, dead easy," he asserts. "Just put a couple of raisins in a bottle of bevo, cork it down, leave it over night and you get all the kick you can stand." Well, there may be a kick in that concoction, but it's quite the nastiest stuff ever offered in friendship to a civilized mortal. The brute has a dozen such recipes which he glibly passes on. Don't believe him. There is no royal road to the kick. It is a lot more trouble than two raisins—and that is why the home-recipe striver, like the scientifically-studious, hard-working, budding genius, receives the worshipful encouragement of his friends. He works his arduous way to success via one-half-of-one-percents, and infinite patience. We have a wonderful time holding the right thought for him. It's the zest of the chase, mes amis, and the longer it eludes him the better the fun. He is doing his kickful best, bless his heart.

How the heathen in Africa must smile at the news from Knoxville Tenn.

The report that the unions had captured Los Angeles was much exaggerated.

Now for the fall opening of the city schools. Are you ready, children? Grand chorus: "We are not."

The colloquialism, "where are you at"? has been answered by the movers. They know where they are located.

The local Federal officeholders are getting ready to form into a hollow square and march to welcome the President on the occasion of his visit to Los Angeles. As the old school-day song used to go, "Tra-la we love our teacher," etc.

Possibly when Gen. Pershing gets back to the United States he will tell what he knows about the expenditures of the War Department. The laws of the U.S.A. function in America if they don't in dear old France. The commander is constituting to a bad impression.

The latest news from Libya ought to make it a popular place for the colored folks. Consul Pickering Bride tells the story about the transplanting of watermelons into that country by American negroes. And they do say they are so lascivious that there ain't any core left.

Atty.-Gen. Palmer, now that he has been confirmed by the Senate, is out in an interview attacking Senators Calder and Frelinghuysen and saying that their efforts to defeat his confirmation must be pleasing to Germany. It will be recalled that Doug Fairbanks pulled some of the German stuff when his name got up to the papers, etc., etc., some months ago.

BROTHERHOOD.

We read of mighty groups of men
Combining for great power
To work their will on other folks
To make them yield and cower
To further their own selfish ends
They practice tyranny,
They call themselves the "Brotherhood"
Spelled with capital "B."

Long, long ago there lived a Man
In far-off Galilee,
Who fixed the meaning of this word
For all humanity;
He showed us in a golden rule
The way for you and me
To form a world-wide brotherhood
Spelled with a little "b."

WILL OPEN HILL LANDS TO CARS.

Half Million Dollars to be Spent on Highways.

State, Government, Others to Share in Costs.

Territory Involved is One of Many Scenic Charms.

Supervisor Charlton of the Angeles National Forest Reserve returned yesterday from San Francisco, where he spent the past week conferring with Department of Agriculture and forest officers in regard to the winter programme of road building in the forest reserve.

Two road improvements were definitely determined upon as a result of the deliberations—the Arroyo Seco and the San Gabriel Canyon projects. The first-named will begin to materialize first, possibly with the first work to be begun within the next few days. This road will lead from the mouth of the Arroyo Seco to Wilson, then down to Pasadena, a distance of about twenty miles. The highway will be twelve feet wide, with turnouts for the benefit of automobilists, and concrete dips that can be negotiated by machines, instead of bridges, where feasible. This will be a very expensive bit of road work on account of the grading that will be necessary, and as there is now $65,000 available for improvement, contributed by the city of Los Angeles, the city of Pasadena, and the forest service, there will be such additional $125,000 expended to be available from the recent bond issue voted by the people of the State, but the State in turn making a twenty-foot highway, and operations may be delayed for a time until some agreement is reached on that point.

It is declared by the forest service that to make a roadway that will show the scenic beauties of the country through which the thoroughfare is expected to pass, as it will be necessary to blast out a large portion of the overhanging rock that contribute so much to the beauty of that section. In any event the forest service will begin operations along the line of the proposed outlined.

The second project, known as the San Gabriel road, to extend for a distance of twelve miles from the end of the present road to the head of the north fork. This road will be sixteen feet in width. It is estimated that $250,000 will be required for this improvement, the cost of which is to be apportioned between the forest service and the State. The construction of this road has been made necessary by the great number of persons who have gone beyond the present limit of the road to build homes, and who insisted upon having some means of communication with the outside world. They not only demanded it but have raised quite a sum of money to assist in the work of construction. It is the understanding that operations will begin upon these two roads simultaneously, so that they will both be pushed to early completion.

ENGINEERS' DELEGATES.

Frederick MacKay, president of the National Association of Stationary Engineers; Harold R. Hilton, Tapham and O. D. Spray, delegates from local chapters, will leave for the meeting of the national association at Huntington, W. Va. They will extend an invitation to the association to hold its convention next year in Los Angeles.

TAX RATE FOR COUNTY HIGHER.

Levy is Nearly Two Dollars on Each Hundred.

Includes Basic Tax, Schools and Flood Control.

Half Million Increase Given Charities, Hospitals.

BY JONATHAN S. DODGE,
Chairman Board of Supervisors.

The county tax rate for the year 1919-20 was agreed upon by the Board of Supervisors yesterday, and will be $.645 on each $100 of value. The items that go to make up this tax rate will be as follows:

General fund	$ .326
Salary fund	.227
Exploitation fund	.02
Highway maintenance fund	.06
County highway interest and sinking fund	.06
Relief of the blind fund	.002
	$ .645

This is an increase over last year of $.145, and the increase is made up of items that are easily explained.

In the first place there is included in this year a budget item of $400,000 for highways and bridges, over the above any expenditure of last year. This $400,000 is to be spent in certain improvements, a list of which follows:

Harbor truck highway	$212,400.00
Bridge over Rio Hondo	2,500.00
Santa Monica boulevard—Los Angeles to Olive drive	57,000.00
Harbor boulevard—Olive street to Walnut street	22,800.00
Harbor boulevard—Manchester to 190th street	28,500.00
Vernon, Downey, Wilcox avenue to Jabonería road	23,000.00
Downey, Norwalk, Artesia street—P. E. railway	14,200.00
Slauson avenue—Santa Fe to Pacific	2,500.00
Vermont and Western avenue	25,000.00

Another increase over last year has been the determination of the board to provide an exploitation fund which will be used in exploiting the resources of Los Angeles county and advertising its advantages to the world. This fund will be used for advertising fiestas and public entertainments, and will be disbursed by experts either employed by the board or employed by the Chamber of Commerce. The amount of this item alone is $175,000.

HALF-MILLION MORE.

The greater part of the additional levy will be made up by increases in the department of charities and corrections, and the specific increases so far as this work is concerned may be itemized as follows:

Superintendent of Charities	$ 1,775.00
Outdoor relief	89,676.75
County Farm	111,879.40
Hospital	218,965.00
State aid for children	20,000.00
State Reform Schools	6,100.00
State hospitals	4,400.00
Care of psychopathic court wards	4,800.00
Jail	4,820.45
Juvenile Hall	42,153.72
El Retiro	20,562.00
Care of Juvenile Court wards	20,000.00
Lancaster jail	4,000.00
Making a grand total of these items alone of	$557,384.27

This does not include increases of salaries in the department of charities, hospitals and corrections, which would add an additional amount in the neighborhood of $200,000.

The increase in the salary fund for this year amounted to some $400,000, which is not a large amount when we consider that the county employs some 3500 people, and the total amount paid out for salaries and wages amounts in the course of a year to the huge sum of almost $3,000,000.

It is not surprising that the expense for charities and corrections will be large for this year for we have had to contend with the flu situation that has turned upon the county large numbers of dependent people, particularly children and old people, who must receive relief.

In addition, it must not be overlooked that the hospital, farm and other institutions house and feed in the neighborhood of 3000 people, and the cost for their feed and care has been very greatly increased by reason of the cost of supplies and provisions during the last two years.

Provision has been made for a number of new improvements that have also been cared for in the tax levy.

Another item of increase has been in the flood-control department. Last year only 2 cents was levied for the maintenance of this department, but this year it was found necessary to make a levy of 6 cents, which would care for the ordinary maintenance of the department and also take care of the interest and sinking fund to retire bonds that have been issued for improvements now under way.

So far as the county rate is concerned, the rate this year is for all practical purposes the same rate as that in force in 1915-16, when times were normal and the normal amount of work was being undertaken by the county. Next year, when prices are reduced and times are normal again, it is hoped that the rates can be reduced again.

The school rate of Los Angeles county has been increased from $1.06 total, to a $1.185 total. This raise was imperative on account of the increase in the salaries of teachers, and the increase would have been larger than this amount if the last Legislature had not increased the amount paid by the State to each school district from $13 per child to $21 per child, figured on the average daily attendance of each pupil. I might say that the county tax rate for schools was increased by an act of the Legislature from 16 cents for county common schools to 24 cents this year, the high school rate of 11 cents remaining the same as last year. This increase alone of the county school rate makes an additional tax rate of 8 cents per $100 all over the county.

AS LOW AS POSSIBLE.

It was expected that the rates of taxation would increase along with other expenses, and the board has conscientiously attempted to reduce the rate to as low a point as may be consistent with the activities of our county work.

At the present time no commodity furnishes as much value for the amount paid for taxes, and we can rest assured that the tax rate for county government is as low, or lower, in Los Angeles county, as the tax rate in any other county in the State.

The rate of taxation within the city limits of the city of Los Angeles will be as follows:

County rate	$ .645
General county common school	.24
General county high school	.14
Flood Control	.06
	$ 1.085

To this should be added the additional levy made by the Board of Education of the city of Los Angeles as follows:

High school special	$ .80
Common school special	.70
Kindergarten special	.005
Elementary building	.04
High school bonds and interest	.04
Common school bonds and interest	.06
	$ .805

Add to this the amount levied by the city of Los Angeles for city purposes, and you have the total rate levied on each $100 of assessed valuation within the city of Los Angeles for the year 1919-20.

The city's rate will be $1.90, it is indicated, giving a total city and county levy of $3.79 per $100, the highest in history.

CHANNEL JOB TO BEGIN AT LAST.

Government Gets Lower Bid than Appropriation for Flood Control.

Col. Downing, United States Engineer for this district, notified the Supervisors yesterday that the government had received a bid of $807,000 for the construction of the big channel through Long Beach under the Flood Control plan. The lowest bid previously received was $1,050,000, which exceeded the government's appropriation for the work. The work will shortly be started on this phase of the Flood Control system.

BOMB CASE BEFORE GRAND JURY AGAIN.

INQUIRY TO BE MADE ALSO IN TO DAY KILLING AND PRISONERS' ESCAPES.

Inquiry into the bombing of the home of Oscar Lawler on August 3 will be resumed today by the county grand jury, it was said yesterday at the District Attorney's office. One more witness, Detective James Bean, who has been away on a vacation it was indicated, will be examined. His testimony before the inquisitors, it was said, will complete the inquiry.

The grand jury also will take up again the investigation of the shooting and killing of I. R. Day on August 21, during a riot at Sixth and Alameda, near the Los Angeles Railway barns. Subsequent to the death of Day, Mayer Snuckler, 19 years old, a deputy constable, was rearrested. He was a guard for the railway company and says his revolver was fired, but that the bullet struck no one. A report from the jury on this affair, it was said, may be forthcoming today.

In addition the grand jury may take testimony regarding the escape from the same ward of the County Hospital of Sid Joseph, being held for burglary, and G. W. West, charged with passing fictitious checks. The jury also may consider an extradition matter, wherein a man now under arrest in Oregon, may be accused.

VETERANS' CLASSES.

Especial attention is to be paid to the formation of classes for soldiers and sailors at the Polytechnic Night High School, and applications for admission to these classes may be made at the Soldiers' and Sailors' Replacement Bureau. W. H. Salyer will be at the bureau daily to give full information regarding courses available, etc.

NOW A CITY STREET.

An ordinance adopted by the City Council yesterday accepts the dedication of certain land for street purposes between Meridian street and the north city boundary line as a portion of Eagle Rock avenue. A petition for the improvement of Echandia street was referred to the Public Works Committee.

CITY WILL STAY "WET," HE SAYS.

Cafe Men's Leader Calls Bone Dry Act Futile.

If Passed Referendum will be Invoked at Once.

Sees no Occasion Here for Any Sudden Aridity.

Positive assurance that the proposed "bone-dry" ordinance, in the event of it being adopted by the City Council, will not become operative before the national prohibition act on January 16, 1920, places a permanent ban upon all alcoholic beverages was given last night by Charles H. Crawford, cafe proprietor, who is leading the opposition to the measure which is scheduled to come up again this morning before the city's legislative body. He said that unquestionably the referendum will be invoked if such action is made necessary and, as less than 5000 signatures of bona-fide electors are necessary to refer the proposition to the people, they can be secured in twenty-four hours. The referendum petitions have been prepared and will be placed in circulation the minute that the proposed ordinance is adopted, Mr. Crawford asserted.

"The cafe men and others interested in the liquor business do not feel that they are waging a selfish fight," said Mr. Crawford. "We believe that the majority of the people of Los Angeles are opposed to a bone-dry city. They have demonstrated it at two or more recent elections and we believe that we are making this fight for them as well as ourselves.

"In the face of the petition signed by nearly 400 of our most prominent business men protesting against the ordinance and the many logical arguments against the proposed measure it does not seem possible that a majority of the Council will vote for it.

"The principal argument advanced by the Anti-Saloon League is based upon the effect that our so-called intoxicating beverage-beer of only 2.75 strength will have after the armies are demobilized. Such an argument might be applicable in other cities, but not in Los Angeles. It should be remembered that the people of Los Angeles less than two years ago voted out the saloons and all hard drinks. We constitute the largest saloonless city in America, dispense beverages with the least percentage of alcohol and there is no more to fear from their effect after demobilization than before it.

"The general counsel for the Anti-Saloon League of the United States yesterday declared that his organization would make no attempt to hasten the end of the so-called liquor traffic. Why our City Council should become hysterical over a condition that is not alarming in any particular is beyond the reasoning of those vitally interested in the permanent welfare of Los Angeles."

EMBEZZLEMENT TRIAL SET.

M. C. Gray, accused of misdemeanor embezzlement in signing the name of a newspaper to a cashier's check and collecting the money, will be tried next Friday before Justice Forbes.

BEERY BREATH ISN'T ENOUGH.

Police Surgeon Says Aroma of Suds Doesn't Constitute Intoxication.

"Alcoholic breath" does not constitute intoxication according to the testimony given yesterday by Police Surgeon Zorb in Justice Brown's court. He said that if a man acts normally and can keep his balance he cannot be said to be drunk, even though he has a beery breath.

The surgeon's opinion was given during the hearing of C. A. Brown, a former soldier and ex-government employee, charged with driving an automobile while intoxicated. The surgeon said that Brown, who figured in an accident, was not drunk at the time. He said, however, that a long ride in an auto and the shock of a collision might sober a man.

Justice Forbes held Brown to answer, the court saying that the ex-soldier had admitted drinking beer and a little of that brew was known to intoxicate some persons. Bail was fixed at $500.

were made that if he were not re-elected union labor would oppose the next school bond issue. As an example of the pressure brought to bear on the board, Machinists' Lodge No. 311, of which Mr. Matteson is a member, under date of August 27, sent resolutions to the board demanding that Mr. Matteson be given still another hearing and that he have compulsory process of obtaining witnesses.

DELAY ON "DRY" ACT.

As Councilmen Fleming and Langdon were unable to attend yesterday's session of the City Council, having been called to San Pedro on harbor matters, the Council postponed action on the proposed bone-dry liquor ordinance until this morning at 10:30 o'clock. Indications are that six of the Councilmen will vote in favor of the ordinance. It is expected that both proponents and opponents of the measure will be present this morning to present their views.

WAY JUDGES REST.

Judge Shenk's idea of a vacation, according to his wife, is to keep busy around his South Pasadena home, building, painting and doing odd jobs. Other judges have gone to the mountains and sea, putting on a coat of sunburn and extra weight. Judge Crail has returned from Catalina and his divorce court opened up for business yesterday. Mrs. Hewitt has managed to persuade Judge Hewitt to bask on the sands of Catalina and fish a little.

MANY DODGE TAX.

Any Person who Operates Auto for Hire Must Pay, Carter Says.

Many persons who are using their automobiles for occasional hire are not obeying the law as to taxes, declared Internal Revenue Collector Carter, yesterday. He stated that many persons are carrying passengers to and from the shipyards, etc., and receiving payment for such transportation.

Under the internal revenue law all persons who operate passenger machines for hire are liable to a special tax of $10 a year for cars carrying five passengers or less, and a tax of $20 where seven passengers or more are carried.

Complaints are also being made to Collector Carter that many stages and other machines operated for public service are not carrying the stamp issued by the government where it can be readily seen by an internal revenue officer.

It is further stated that where machines are operated with a degree of regularity and no definite fare fixed, but the operator receives such amount as the passenger cares to offer, that the tax liability is incurred and Collector Carter expects to enforce rigidly the provisions of the law.

CALL FOR CLOTHING.

Community Service Opens Another Charity Sewing-room.

The Council of Community Service will open an emergency sewing room on the third floor of the Earl Building, 241 South Broadway, beginning tomorrow morning.

Demands for clothing for children for school opening are so great that although over 150 units of community service are continuously sewing the supply is inadequate.

A hundred sewing machines are being installed at the rooms and volunteer workers are urged to enroll for making and remodeling garments. The rooms will be open daily, except Saturdays, from 9 to 4 o'clock.

Precinct auxiliaries, church and fraternal organizations are asked to deliver to the executive offices, room 12, City Hall, any used or completed garments that they may be utilized immediately.

"MIDDY" HOME AGAIN.

Charles A. Dodge, a midshipman at Annapolis, arrived in Los Angeles on a visit to his parents yesterday. He was met at the station by his father, Chairman Dodge of the Board of Supervisors. Midshipman Dodge has been absent from home for a year.

WAR :: BABES :: SAVIOR :: HOME.

Noted Worker is Decorated for Efforts.

Mrs. Fred W. Wood and Son, Ensign W. D. Wood.
The former mothered children in Belgium orphaned by the Huns, while her son hunted piratical U-boats.

AFTER twenty-one months devoted to nursing and feeding eighty orphaned and abandoned Belgian babies in the ravaged area of Flanders, Mrs. Fred W. Wood returned to her home in this city yesterday, wearing a bronze medal presented to her by Queen Elizabeth for her noble work.

Mrs. Wood, who resides at 910 West Twenty-third street, is a descendant of the Pigne-Depuytren family of Belgium, and was called overseas by the Aide Civile et Militaire de Belge to carry on her charitable duties, which she started in this city early in the war. She departed from her home in November, 1917, and began her work of saving Belgian orphans and foundlings, between the ages of 1 week to 5 years, in Poperinghe, Belgium.

During the heavy fighting around Ypres in March, 1918, Mrs. Wood was within five miles of the front, and with twenty-three babies in her care, was under continual shellfire for three weeks. Her work was conducted amid such great hazards that she was forced to move from one battered town to another quite often. At Castre, in Northern France, she was compelled to move her creche and infant wards within two and a half hours, for the Germans were about to shell the town. Within five weeks her small orphanage had to be moved four times to escape the Huns.

The orphanage, or creche, as it is known in Belgium, was moved to Brussels last February, and a month ago was placed in the custody of the Belgian authorities.

"My work was made possible through the donations of thousands of dollars and tons of clothing by the people of Southern California," said Mrs. Wood. The money was raised at the Leona P. Wood booth in Little Belgium, in this city. The children whom Mrs. Wood mothered lost their parents in the Hun advance or had been abandoned. All the children born during the war were abnormal in various ways, she stated.

Following the completion of her work Mrs. Wood was summoned to the royal palace in Brussels, where the Queen of Belgium pinned the Order of Elizabeth, Queen of the Belgians, upon her.

While at Castre Mrs. Wood met her son, Ensign Warren D. Wood, who at that time commanded a unit of submarine chasers off the coast of Ireland.

A woman, who wished her name withheld, yesterday, added $1 to the loyalty fund for the Espee men, who saved the stock. "I only wish that it was $100. It was a righteous act they did," said she.

IN THE COUNCIL.

Councilman Criswell at yesterday's session of the City Council spoke of the local street-car strike situation, and read to the Council, for introduction into its official minutes, the latest statement of R. P. Dix on behalf of the strikers. This was followed by a speech by Councilman Wheeler, urging arbitration.

Councilman Millard objected to the Dix statement going into the Council minutes.

"I believe in arbitration, and I believe in collective bargaining," said Councilman Mallard, "but I object to having this article go in as as statement, by inference, that this is an instruction from the City Council to the railway company. The employers may not always be right, and the same thing is true of the strikers, but I believe the company's officials know what they are doing, and I do not believe that it is our province at this time to undertake to instruct either side."

President Workman finally ruled that the statement should go into the minutes simply as that of Councilman Criswell and his presentation of the Dix article.

FEW WALK OUT.

The much talked of general strike scheduled for Labor Day failed to materialize, and it was apparent yesterday that only a small number of union men quit their jobs in the various trades because they could not compel their employers to meet union demands.

It was reported that small groups of carpenters quit their jobs in different sections of the city, and here and there a few mill hands walked out, but the strike was by no means general, nor is it expected to spread.

Cutters in the mills and furniture factories are asking $5 a day and have been told by the unions to quit unless the demand is granted, and that other jobs at $5 a day will be found for them. The painters are out with a new demand. They want an increase from $6.50 to $7 a day.

Yesterday the big truck companies of the city got together and announced a blanket wage increase of 25 cents a day and a nine-hour day for all their employees.

The tailors, 800 to 900 strong, are out because their employers will not pay them $1 an hour for a forty-four hour week. The employers are meeting in San Francisco today to join in the formation of a Pacific Coast association of merchant tailors.

AGAINST CONSTABLE.

Civil Service Commission to Take up Switchmen's Complaint.

Secretary Doty has issued a call for a special session of the Civil Service Commission for tomorrow at which time a date will be fixed for the hearing on the charges filed by a committee of striking switchmen, against Constable Charles Thomas. The switchmen charge that Constable Thomas was negligent in making appointments and issuing badges to special deputy constables during the strike of the transportation lines, naming in particular the case of Mayer Smuckler. The latter is now being investigated by the grand jury for the shooting of T. R. Day, who died of his wounds. Mr. Smuckler denies that he shot Day, a striking switchman.

FUNERAL OF PASTOR.

Last Rites for Hemet Minister Who Died Here Last Night.

Funeral services for Rev. Henry Williams, pastor of the Baptist Church of Hemet, who died last night at the Pacific Hospital following an operation, will be held today at 2 o'clock in the chapel of Bresee Bros.

For many years Rev. Williams was a leading figure in the Baptist churches of the Middle West. He came to Southern California four years ago on account of failing health. He took the pastorate of the Hemet church over a year ago. He was sixty-eight years of age and leaves a widow, Mrs. Mary Williams, and a son, Robert E. Williams, of this city, besides two sons and two daughters in the Middle West. For some years Rev. Williams was secretary of the American Baptist Foreign Missionary Society.

GAS MASKS FOR FIRE FIGHTERS.

Consignment is Now on Way from San Francisco, Forester Hears.

Another use has been found for the gas masks used by the American soldiers in the great war—that of assisting forest rangers in the Angeles Reserve to fight fires.

Supervisor Charlton was informed yesterday that a shipment of gas-masks had been made from San Francisco, and they will be utilized when the first opportunity presents itself.

It has always been a question how fire fighters could successfully fight a forest fire at close range. It is often necessary to make it a hand-to-hand contest and the clouds of black, dense acrid smoke are so destructive to the eyes of the forest rangers and other employees summoned quickly to turn back the flames that it is almost impossible to make any progress.

So far this season the local reserve has been almost immune from fire, but it is the intention of Supervisor Charlton to send a consignment of the masks to all of the rangers in the district. The first thing in order will be a series of drills teaching the wearers how to don the new-fangled things quickly. The supervisor states that there are a number of returned soldiers at work on the reserve who will be able to qualify as experts in this work.

MUST PAY PENALTY.

Probation Denied Youth Charged with Stealing Autos.

W. H. Brummett, 18 years old, who was charged with stealing automobiles, stripping them and selling the parts, was denied probation by Judge Myers yesterday and sentenced to Ione until he is 21 years old. Brummett is said to have operated with other young men.

Judge Myers stated that parents, in some instances, were responsible if their boys frequented poolrooms and grew up to commit crimes. If courts were lenient in violations of the Motor Vehicle Act, the court said, the inclination to steal automobiles would be greater because the culprits would feel that they could ask for and receive probation instead of facing imprisonment.

DISCOVERS THAT THAW IS STILL CONFINED.

FILM MAN PAYS OUT MONEY, HAS RECIPIENT HELD AS MASQUERADER.

Charged with having impersonated Harry K. Thaw and contracting with a motion-picture company to act out the story of his life, William Everest, 30 years of age, was locked in the City Jail yesterday on suspicion of a felony and is being held for investigation. According to Police Detective Charles Jones, who made the arrest, Everest collected $400 as advance payment from a motion-picture company after contracting to produce the Thaw picture. Yesterday the manager of the company told the police he had discovered that Everest is not Thaw, and asked for his arrest.

Everest from his cell in the City Jail denied the story told by the police, but stated that he is a friend of Thaw and had offered to assist in producing the picture of Thaw's life. He said the $400 was advanced by the company after an agreement had been reached to produce the picture. He stated his home is in San Francisco.

CLERK BATTLE NEAR.

Fight For County Office in Superior Court Tomorrow.

George E. Cryer, formerly Chief Deputy District Attorney, is associated with Minor Moore in the case of Capt. William L. Clark against the county Civil Service Commissioners in connection with the results of the examination held for County Clerk. Action has been instituted in the Superior Court to compel the commission to certify the names of eligibles to the Supervisors. The case is set for trial before Judge Myers in Department 11 tomorrow. Capt. Clark passed first in the examination.

BIDS IN BOND ISSUE.

Security Trust Get all for Lomita Road Section at Premium.

The Security Trust and Savings Bank has purchased the $100,000 bond issue of Municipal Improvement District No. 7—the Lomita road district—paying therefor par and $165 premium. These are five per cent. bonds, and their sale, say city officials, will encourage the sale of other municipal improvement district bonds now authorized for various public improvements.

These bonds were issued for the construction of a highway to connect the Wilmington and East San Pedro districts. Mayor Snyder began the task last evening of affixing his signature to the bonds, and kept up the pace at the rate of thirty-one signatures a minute.

CONFERENCE ON BOYS.

A luncheon and conference, at which will be launched a plan for a new era in work among local boys, will be held at noon today at the Los Angeles Y.M.C.A., under the chairmanship of Dr. F. A. Ward, chairman of the boys' department. The speaker will be C. C. Robinson, boys' secretary for the International Committee of the Y.M.C.A. in New York, who is making a tour of the Pacific Coast for the purpose of stimulating interest in and inaugurating what is called the "American Christian Citizenship Training" programme for boys of the 'teen age.

JIM SCOTT IS TO PITCH FOR SEALS.

Charley Graham, manager of the San Francisco team, will pitch his ace, Jim Scott, this afternoon against Wheezer Dell, who will heave 'em over for the Vernons. Scott was at one time regarded as one of the best twirlers in America. He was with the White Sox for a long time and was generally regarded as Comiskey's mainstay in the chucking line. The second game of the present series between the Seals and the Tigers will begin at 2:45 this afternoon at Washington Park.

JOHN BLACK PUTS UP BRILLIANT GOLF GAME.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

DEL MONTE, Sept. 2.—John Black, the steadiest and also the most brilliant golfer on the Pacific Coast, won the open championship of California today with a total score of 284 for the seventy-two holes, three strokes better than his nearest competitor, Douglas Grant, last year's amateur champion and the strongest favorite for the same title in the six-day struggle which starts tomorrow.

Black and Grant were paired today and both of their rounds were followed by a keen gallery who were well rewarded by an exhibition of sound and fine golf. The consistence of Black's game is shown by analysis of his cards, two seventy-ones today rounding out his seventy and seventy-two of yesterday.

WAS RESOURCEFUL.

The Claremont professional's total was no less than eight strokes better than par for the four rounds. Nor was his game remarkable only for its plugging accuracy. He proved his resource in occasional tight places, and particularly at a critical point in his last round to the delight of the enthusiastic and indeed astounded spectators.

From the sixteenth tee he drove out of bounds, and his second drive found him in an apparently hopeless position among the like oaks which border the left of the fairway. His ball lay a club's length behind the trunk of one tree in direct line to the green and there was another large oak within thirty feet, also on the line.

WAS GREAT SHOT.

To the keenest of experts it seemed that there was no alternative, but sacrifice a shot by poking the ball back to the fairway. But a shot too many did not look good to him at this juncture and after half a minute's study of the situation he took his midiron and played a shot that will long be remembered by everyone fortunate enough to witness it.

Not only getting the requisite alive to avoid the first tree, he succeeded in also getting sufficient loft to clear the second and reached the green. Such life-long observers of the game all over the world as Robert Hunter and F. W. Kennedy declared that they had never seen a finer piece of golf.

That Douglas Grant is right back on his game is proven by his two days' performance. His occasionally erratic drives were redeemed by the accuracy of his approaches and he was putting well throughout the event.

ESPINOSA SECOND.

The second seventy on his last round brought Abelard Espinosa into second money and George Turnbull, last year's Pacific Northwest open champion, and Harold Sampson, who won that title at Spokane this summer, reserved their worst rounds for the last and finished in fourth and fifth places, respectively. Bob Lager, professional at the municipal links in San Francisco, wound up with a 73 and landed sixth while Elmer Holland of the California Golf Club, Bill Hanley of Annandale and Mortie Dutro, the Del Monte caddie master, were tied for sixth and seventh places for money among the professionals.

Bob Clark, the Belvedere professional, proved the golf that is in him by scoring a 68 on his last round and thus divided with Dutro the special prize of $50 donated by Harold Mack for the best single round of the contest.

The purse for the winning professionals was divided as follows: John Black, $150; Abe Espinosa, $100; George Turnbull, $75; Harold Sampson, $50; Bob Lager, $40 and Holland, Hanley and Dutro $21 apiece.

CUP TO GRANT.

The California Golf Association's cup for the best score made by an amateur was won by Douglas Grant and a trophy donated by the Southern California Professionals' Association, was won by J. T. McGuire of Sacramento for the best round with handicap, 78-7-71, tieing seventy-ones made by Douglas Grant and Jack Neville, the latter of whom showed his best form in his first round today.

Most of the amateurs withdrew from the last round today, reserving their strength for the qualifying round for the amateur championship which commences tomorrow with some 200 entries. Today's completed scores were as follows:

Out of the Limelight, Boys—Here Comes Football.

About twenty-five husky young men turned out at Manual Arts High School yesterday afternoon and rambled through the first football practice of the season. Coach Sid Foster put the bunch to work sifting sawdust around the lot for a couple of hours and then allowed them to do a little preliminary playing with the pigskin. In the upper picture Coach Foster is giving the squad a few pointers on handling the ball. Below, Bobby Cole is trying his hand at picking 'em off the ground. Foster expects to have 150 men out for practice today.

MANUAL ARTS FIRST ON PRACTICE FIELD.

COACH FOSTER PUTS HIS LADS THROUGH A COURSE OF SPROUTS.

Football got an official send-off in Southern California yesterday when Sid Foster stepped out on the Manual Arts field and began to spout advice on the technical use of the pick and shovel. About twenty-five young huskies, all decked up in regulation football rags, listened gloomily to this discourse and wondered whether they were out for football or back in the army.

After an hour's workout, with pitchforks and sawdust playing the main part, the squad was allowed to get in action with an honest-to-goodness football and finally rushed to the showers, hot and happy.

GOOD REASONS.

Sid Foster had several reasons for stealing a march on the other city high schools in the way of early practice. In the first place he wanted to get several carloads of sawdust scattered around the field as quickly as possible and secondly he was suffering to see a pigskin floating across the lot again.

Coach Foster, himself, has been working out on the field for several days now. When he went to find a man to put the field in shape he discovered that there wasn't any such person to be found. So he hired a plow and a team of horses and jumped after the work himself. Outside of the fact that he plowed up several sections of water pipe and things, he proved up pretty well as a coming farmer.

NOT BAD.

The prospects out at Manual Arts are more than fair this year in spite of the fact that several of the old stand-bys have graduated and passed into history. Sid grudgingly admitted that he might have a little harder time than usual winning the pennant this season, but that's as far as he'd go. And after a look at the squad of sunburned beauties he had on the field for his extra-early practice yesterday it will have to be admitted that Manual Arts is still decidedly in the running.

Bill Blewett, who looks like one of the best half-backs in the city outfit, came out on the lot yesterday afternoon with all his Sunday clothes on and without any idea of playing football. But when they began to kick the ball around Bill couldn't stand the strain. He took off his coat and vest and proceeded to ruin a silk shirt and a pair of good pants which is darned expensive doings these days.

MORE OUT TODAY.

The squad will probably jump from twenty-five to 150 by this afternoon according to Foster and he hopes to be able to pick several healthy elevens out of the initial entries.

Dave Peoples and Sy Evans seem to be equally in line for the quarter-back berth right now. Capt. Del Howard will be back on the job in one of the tackle positions. Bob Cole looks good for a half.

"But it's too early to even to begin doping positions," said Foster. "It will take several weeks of hard work to sift the material down to a point where we can start to judge the real ability of the men. And that will be the toughest job this year—culling out the best material for the first team and being sure that no bets are overlooked."

DOVE HUNTERS PLAY IN EXCELLENT LUCK.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

REDLANDS, Sept. 2.—The dove hunters have been having excellent luck the first few days although even now the doves are hunting the canyons deep in the hills where they have more protection. Senator Lyman M. King and his son were out and in a few hours brought back twelve birds. W. L. Thornquest got the limit in a short time in the Yucaipa country. Lincoln Sherrard and son also went out and got about a dozen fine birds.

YOUNG GEORGE GIVES DALTON GOOD LACING.

S. P. SHOPS' IDOL HAS ALD THE BETTER OF LAST THREE ROUNDS OF SCRAP.

By Kay Owe.

There wasn't any question about the Steve Dalton-Young George affair at Jack Doyle's last night. George jumped into the ring, spent the first round getting Dalton's range and measure, and then scientifically licked him through the three final stanzas.

Dalton himself fought a great battle, but was no match for the left jabs, right wallops and one-twos of his opponent. Most of Dalton's blows were aimed downstairs, but hit a little high on George's chest, where they didn't do any amount of damage. George kept his left in his opponent's face the last three rounds, and helped the good work along with some terrific right swings.

STEVE HAD SHADE.

In the first round it looked very much like another draw. Dalton had a shade of anything. But it seems that George was only lining things up. For from the start of the second there was no doubt about the outcome.

The semi-windup was a wild-eyed contest between Johnny Colmars and Frank Moy. Everybody enjoyed the fight, including Moy, who grinned all the way through the four rounds, and was even pleased with the draw decision handed out. The decision didn't prove popular with the crowd, who insisted that Colmars was the winner. As a matter of fact, it was such a rough-house during three rounds that nobody could really pick a winner. Dick Donald's draw decision just about covered the bill.

Frankis Dolan and George Marks sailed through four stiff verses to a draw. Marks is only about a half portion, butt fights like a regular guy, and gave his tall friend Dolan a satisfactory run for his money.

Gus Williams defeated Sam Moore in an extra bout. Henry Gastine and Eddie James fought a draw. Eddie Hanlon looked like he was going to get licked in the first fifty seconds of his fight with Billy Heward, and in the following ten seconds he stepped up and knocked his opponent cold. It was a clean knockout but to badly delivered that every one wondered what had happened. Louis Garcia and Joe Burns wrangled through their schedule to a draw.

FULTON WINNER IN THE FIRST ROUND.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, Sept. 2.—Fred Fulton, the American heavyweight, knocked out Arthur Townley of Southampton in the first round at the Olympia tonight.

ORGANIZE PERMANENT REMOUNT ASSOCIATION

TO BOOST HORSE BREEDING BY RETURNED MEMBERS OF THE A.E.F.

Steps looking towards the formation of a permanent organization are being taken by the members of the American Remount Association.

This organization was started in both the United States and France by officers and men of the remount service. Since the A.E.F. members have returned to the United States, steps are being taken to bring both forces together and aid in the furtherance of the plans to boost the horse-breeding game in this country.

Thirty men who have played a prominent part in the horse game in the United States and who have been connected with the remount service during the world war have been named on the temporary executive committee. This committee has been notified by the acting secretary that it will meet some time in October to work out a permanent organization. At that meeting the officers of the association will be named.

The officers and men of the remount service are enthusiastic about the organization and a campaign will be launched to interest all of the horse breeders, jockey clubs, State and county fairs, horse shows and racing associations in the welfare of the association.

WEAVER LOSES OUT WITH OAKS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

OAKLAND, Sept. 2.—Harry Weaver, pitcher for the Oakland team in the Pacific Coast League, was placed on the suspended list for the remainder of the season because of his inability to meet Coast League standards, Manager Del Howard of the Oakland team announced here today. Weaver will be carried into next season, when he will be given another chance, Howard said.

RAIN PREVENTS THE BIG TENNIS MATCH.

GAMES GO OVER UNTIL TODAY WHEN TILDEN AND JOHNSTON MEET.

By Fred Hawthorne.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

FOREST HILLS (N. Y.) Sept. 2.—The final decision as to who is the greatest tennis player in the world will not be answered until tomorrow afternoon for the heavy rain of last night so softened the turf courts at the West Side Tennis Club of Forest Hills that accurate play upon them was out of the question.

In view of the importance of the scheduled match between William Johnston of California and William T. Tilden II, of Philidelphia, who were scheduled to meet today in the annual national championship tournament, Julian S. Myrick, vice-president of the U.S.N.L.T.A. and official referee of the tournament, decided to postpone the match until tomorrow afternoon. The schedule for the other final round matches in the junior, boys', father and son and veterans' championship events also went over unchanged until tomorrow.

HARVARD HALFBACK OUT FOR FIRST TIME.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CAMBRIDGE (Mass.) Sept. 2.—"Eddie" Casey, the Harvard halfback, wore his Crimson football outfit for the first time since 1916, when he appeared at the stadium today with twenty other candidates for the Harvard 'varsity eleven. It was the first day of practice and Head Coach Robert T. Fisher said that Harvard football this year would be regular and not informal.

Other letter wearers out were Ralph Horween, a fullback and Winslow Felton and William Murry, quarterbacks.

Harvard will open its season with Bates here on September 27. A captain will be elected after the first game and the choice is expected to rest between Casey and Horween.

BY WOODUGH B. LEAVITT.

The first and second-round play in the junior tennis tournament, in connection with the city open tennis tournament, was run off yesterday afternoon on the Y.M.C.A. courts, as per schedule, just a few matches going by default.

With school looming up in the near, very near, future, the racket wielders played as if their very lives depended on it. Starting at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, it is figured that almost any student can make the courts by the appointed time, despite the poor car service.

Most of the matches were shown to be of an easy variety for the winners. A more lively wind than was desirable for good tennis was evidenced by the close net shots made by many of the players. In order to get the ball into safe territory the boys were forced to play shots close to the net. The sure-eyed ones triumphed in spite of the disadvantage.

A PRETTY MATCH.

One of the prettiest matches was that between Wolff and Dickinson, although Dickinson lost, the result being 6-2, 6-1. Wolff weathered the weather, as it were, and found his close net play going to his advantage time after time. Dickinson was nettled at the last with evident distaste, as he had the wind in his face, and was on that account a trifle prone to wildness.

Other good matches were those of Bryant and Cushman, who fought a real duel, as duels in tennis go. Bryant finally winning 6-3, 10-8. The last set brought forth the fact that Conrad Bryant is a tennis player after his father's own heart.

NOT DISMAYED.

The favorite in the junior singles, Tom Ferrandini, not dismayed by his defeat at the hands of Simpson Shisabaugh, the day previous, walked merrily away with two straight matches from the wily Japanese, Hoshino, the verdict going to Tom, 6-0, 6-0. Altogether, the afternoon's play was a nice one, though few were fortunate enough to witness it.

Next Saturday the semifinal round of the open tennis championship will be played. The singles events will find Ketchum and Bundy fighting it out, and Warren and Wynn Mace opposed to each other, in the lower half. In the upper half, Herd, the smiling gob, or rather, ex-gob, will take on Davies Snodgrass, the Harvey brand, will take on his distinguished boss, Simpson M. Shisabaugh, as Harvey styles it, "for the DOUBLE ELOPEMENT ENDS COURTSHIP.

SOLDIERS WITH YOUNG BRIDES GET MARRIAGE LICENSES AT SANTA ANA.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

GLENDALE, Sept. 2.—Anxious parents of two young girls are tonight desperately attempting to learn more particulars regarding the marriage of their daughters to two soldiers from the Arcadia Balloon school which they have found occurred in Santa Ana Saturday.

Miss Jean Livingston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Abel A. Livingston, 212 North Glendale avenue, and Miss Louise Dorothy Rand, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Howard P. Rand, 407 East Chestnut street, both aged sixteen years, notified their parents here that they have married Sergt. Robert J. Cavaughn and Lieut. James E. O'Connor. Aside from the announcement of the hasty wedding no particulars are available.

Dr. Rand, who is head of the Glendale Sanitarium, said he knew the girls had been in company with the soldiers at frequent intervals for some time but had no idea that any of them were contemplating matrimony. He said he knew little or nothing concerning the men except that he was under the impression his new son-in-law was the son of a Detroit physician.

Both families indicate that they will receive their daughters with a parental blessing and will provide homes for them at least until their husbands are discharged from the service, which it is understood will not be until next March.

In doubles McFadden and Small, Venice, beat Perritt and Smith, 6-3, 6-3. Ferrandini and Wolff beat Stewart and Hendel, 6-1, 7-5. Bishop and Kinney beat Reed and Nieto, 6-3, 7-5, 6-4. Echo Park tennis experts beat the Arroyo Seco racketeers seven matches to two. Scheduled for next Sunday afternoon Tufts-Lyon will meet the Echo Park aggregation at Echo Park. Expedition Park will also take on Sunset Tennis Club on the latter's courts. Arroyo Seco is lined up to compete with Glendale on the same date.

The Venetian tennis players are considering organizing a second tennis team in order to hold perpetual tennis the year around at Venice. A good idea.

ASK CITY TO PROTECT FIDO.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA MONICA, Sept. 2.—Shall Santa Monica have a dog catcher?

"No," say the owners of collarless mongrels.

"Yes," scream the ladies with dainty, fenceless gardens. "Yes, yes, yes," declare the owners of dainty, defenseless white poodles.

And the city is still undecided. It is thought by many that a catcher would be a needless expense—that Santa Monica does not possess a large number of undesirable canines. However complaints that "a horrid, dirty thing just frightened Fido to death last night" have come to the police more frequent of late, and the city is giving the matter consideration.

WANTED, POSTMASTER.

Oceanside Force Quits as Pay is Meager—Seeks New Staff.

Oceanside is again in the market for a postmaster and staff. This little office has had the distinction of having had three postmasters since J. M. Jolly resigned two years ago. Miss Anne M. Bearhope, who has been in charge for the past year, and her several subordinates tendered their resignation on August 1, on the ground of too much work for too little pay. A civil service examination is to be called and Miss Bearhope's successor will be appointed from the list of those passing the examination.

Miss Bearhope was formerly secretary for the New York Bureau of Municipal Research, special investigator for the New York Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor, superintendent of Relief of El Paso's Charities and Correction, and was business manager of the Los Angeles Children's Hospital.

ST. MARY'S STARTS STRONG.

Up to the present very little has been said about St. Mary's College football prospects, her schedule and so forth. But now, all of a sudden, word has been received from headquarters stating succinctly that St. Mary's is up and doing, and will be in like condition footballistically the rest of this season.

Brother Lewis, the master of pigskin fortunes, has just returned from the wilds of Los Angeles, according to the dope sent back to this city from Oakland. Agitation has been commenced whereby it is hoped, and fervently prayed, that the best organization of football artists in years will be had. A corps of men have been drafted for work on the football field, to put it into the best of condition.

Practice starts today, and it will find nearly all of the old guard back at school that once were wrecking Germany's hopes, not so long ago. A tentative schedule for games has been issued. Among the opponents to be taken on by St. Mary's will be California, on October 3, and on November 1, Stanford will be the duellistic party. Thanksgiving Day has been offered to Santa Clara.

Providing the expenses are furnished, St. Mary's will play Notre Dame College of Indiana. Games have been promised by St. Ignatius, San Francisco; Nevada, Utah, Olympic Club, San Francisco, and the Army and Navy teams. Dates have not been set for those games. Lester H. Nuland will coach the junior team.

TO HAVE 11 FORMER MEN.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PROVIDENCE (R. I.) Sept. 2.—Brown University will have eleven former letter men available for the 1919 team, according to present indications. These former students who have just returned from the service in the army or navy include members of both the 1916 team, which defeated Harvard and Yale on successive Saturdays, and the 1917 team, which defeated Dartmouth so decisively. Besides these men, several members of the S.A.T.C. eleven are planning to return, while a number of second-string men of the 1916 team are to resume their studies also.

Coach Edward N. Robinson has been re-engaged as coach for the coming fall, while Buck Whittemore and Archie Hahn will also assist as usual. It is probable that as in former years several of the alumni in and near Providence will aid before the big games.

NO CAPTAIN YET.

No captain has been elected for the team as yet. The manager of the team will be Ernest T. Clough, 1920, of Portland, Me. His schedule includes games with Harvard, Yale, Dartmouth, Syracuse, Colgate and Columbia. Syracuse will be the big home game. The opening game is with Rhode Island State College at Providence on September 27.

The former letter men returning are: A. C. Brooks, half-back; M. J. Jamail, half-back; E. G. Armstrong, full-back; B. H. Coulter, quarter-back; J. W. Albright, half-back, and end; J. M. Williams, end; A. L. Brisk, end; M. S. Williams, tackle; R. H. Nichols, tackle; J. Sinclair, tackle, and W. Hoving, center.

BIG SERIES MAY BE NINE GAMES.

National Baseball Commission Recommends It.

Proposal Sent to Clubs for Ratification.

Winning Team Must Capture Five Contests.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 2.—Because of the unprecedented demand for world's series seats this fall, the National Baseball Commission today recommended that the series be increased to nine games, instead of the usual seven. The proposal was sent tonight to the club owners of the American and National leagues for immediate ratification.

FIVE OUT OF NINE.

Under the proposed plan, the rival clubs would share in the receipts of the first five games, instead of four, as in former years, and the victorious team would have to take five of the nine contests to win the world's championship. Heretofore the championship was decided when one of the clubs won four of the seven contests. The players would divide their apportioned share of the five game receipts on a sixty and forty per cent. basis, sixty per cent. going to the winning club.

BENEFIT PUBLIC.

August Herrmann, chairman of the commission, explained that the recommendation was made for no other reason than to benefit the public by permitting a larger number of persons to see at least one of the games. Although the Cincinnati club has not clinched the National League pennant, Chairman Herrmann, who also is president of the Reds, said he had received 29,000 applications for seats from outside of Cincinnati.

Chairman Herrmann announced that plans for the series would not be made until the pennant races are definitely decided.

Lester Hanson, A.E.F., third, with 22, and Private Roy Moore, fourth, with 21.

POMONA STARS IN CALIFORNIA SQUAD.

FOOTBALL MEN FROM SOUTH TO STRENGTHEN BEAR'S CHANCES.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

POMONA, Sept. 2.—According to reports, prospects for the greatest team ever seen at the University of California are unusually bright and two Pomona boys are mentioned as being likely candidates for the varsity, while one is said to have excellent chances on the freshman squad.

Burl Howell of Walnut, a 1918 graduate of Pomona High, and Jimmie Cline, who was a graduate in 1916, are the two who will try to make the varsity, and Paul Avis is the freshman star mentioned. It is said that there are more new and old stars registered for the varsity than there ever have been before. Practically all of the varsity men of last year have returned to school, and many who were on teams of a year or two before and who have been in the army are back.

Numbers of other stars from the southern part of the State are back in school and will make the varsity team as formidable as ever. Harry Kingston, Pomona College graduate, will be one of the four coaches having charge of "goofs." Andy Smith and Johnny Stroud will be the first and second string coaches, respectively. Price, former coach at San Diego High School, is to have charge of the freshman team.

Training season for the varsity will not start until September 15, because of the ruling of the Pacific Coast conference, which sets that as the opening date. However, the freshmen will begin workouts at once, as the ruling does not apply to them. Nine games have been scheduled for the varsity.

BIG BUSINESS IN DOVE LINE.

All Who Could Hit 'Em Got Limits in Good Spots.

Heavy Crop of Fat Birds is Boost for Good Laws.

Big Breeding of Doves and Quail is in Evidence.

With virtually a week-end holiday at their disposal the licensed hunters of Southern California shot up the dove crop Monday in such a "mass of glory" as no opening of the season ever before saw even in the lower end of this State, where the dove always has ranked high as a game sporting proposition.

Sporting-goods stores thought they had discounted the ante-season rush, but despite liberal advance orders for hunting licenses, found themselves running out Saturday afternoon when the State offices closed, and some lively scrambling was necessary to provide the anxious with those "first-aids" in the lawful business of hunting.

All day Sunday carloads of khaki-clad hunters were rolling in every direction toward the dove grounds, many long trips being taken than on any previous opening since the wing-dove first demonstrated its sporting practicability of the fine flyer-handling and hard-hitting little twenty-bore, which really "makes good" on this classy game of the summer uplands.

Having covered the dove country comprehensively in its ante-season reports for the benefit of the licensed hunting fraternity, the Fish and Game Commission yesterday found little to add, except that shooting in general was quite as good as predicted, and those who could hit a dove 'em had no difficulty in bagging their legal limits of fifteen birds often in an hour's shooting.

PROTECTION PAYS BIG.

Reports compiled yesterday from field deputies, and returning sportsmen, whose experience comprised most of the southern counties, certainly warrants the statement that protection has paid big dividends in increasing the doves. That the long delayed close-season has been vindicated considerably, goes without saying, as there always will be men willing to sneak out and flout their law-abiding brethren of the sport for which they are more or less impatiently waiting. But, on the whole, there is less and less of it being done each season. Men who formerly laughed at "sooners" now call up the fish and game authorities and complain of any infractions coming under their observation. Judges are imposing stiffer penalties upon offenders, and one part of the game-warden's work is also becoming easier, for the time being, and not so long ago either, the officer's troubles only began with making an arrest, owing to popular sentiment being "dead set" for the protection of game. It is said that in some benighted sections of the State charged with conservation, game are criticised for doing their duty, but sentiment in favor of giving the wild things a chance to breed in peace is swelling stronger every season.

MUCH WILD MEAT KILLED.

Any estimates of the number of doves shot Monday in the south would be too wild guesswork to discuss, but, far more men had licensed themselves to hunt than ever before on this season; and such was the quality of the birds that apparently very few of them failed to bring home a fine mess. Feed conditions apparently were good in most places also. Down in the wheat country of Riverside county some wonderful sport was enjoyed, giving an intimate reminder of the old-time days, completely setting at rest the fear that September was too late to expect any dove shooting. Taken as a whole, the doves were bigger and fatter than under the former open season, but in their great multitudes the birds were young to have a proportion that an enormous and late crop thus proved itself. The opening day was about the most encouraging experience to a farmer with eyes toward the future that has offered in many a day, and it is that necessary protective work in future will be a lot easier to secure.

DOVES IN FINE CONDITION.

The fatness of the birds amazed many sportsmen, who took it for granted that this being a dry season, they would find hard pickings. But the reverse was the case. High prices encouraged planting an enormous acreage of wheat, many fields which tried that are not adapted to the crop even with normal moisture. Therefore, thousands of acres produced only a crop for the doves; a thin stand, sparse heads, not worth the harvest except for the little pigeons in gray whose fations come by patient picking, a grain at a time. Likewise, much acreage was sown to kafir, milo, and the various other drought-resistant grain sorghums, with often only the result of making better feed for the birds. More will be heard of this when quail season rolls around, October 16, as the heavy crop of blue speckled beauties is taking full advantage of this opportunity, and the early breeding of the summer will find conditions favoring their rapid, natural growth.

SPORT CLOSE TO TOWN.

Much shooting was enjoyed right on the outskirts of town. In the San Fernando Valley a wholesale harvest was reaped by such a bombardment of the birds as seemed certain to give every dove sprinting to the mountain hills. Hundreds of limits were shot, nor was the sport limited to any one section, sunflower patches, cultivated and stubble fields, all alike, while the washes paid well, and such water holes as were still left gave good shooting early and late.

Many will avail themselves of evening shooting the first few days of the season, driving out after business hours to bowl over their few birds for breakfast.

HOUCK MEETS O'BRIEN NEXT FRIDAY NIGHT.

EXCELLENT CARD OF SIX BOUTS OFFERED AT THE SILVER SPRAY ARENA.

Main event—Tommy O'Brien vs. Leo Houck.

Semi—Kid Mende vs. Lang Finn.

Special — Bobby Keene vs. Eddie Hanlon.

Matchmaker Hunefeld of the Long Beach club has matched Leo Houck with Tommy O'Brien for the main event next Friday night at the Silver Spray arena. O'Brien has made himself a favorite with the beach fans, and the boys want to see him in action again. In Houck he will find a hard boy, as Houck has met and defeated some of the best boys in this section, among them being Al Grunan, Gene Watson, Young Brown and a score of others.

Lang Finn has consented to meet the old reliable Kid Mende and this bout will attract as much attention as the main event. Mende has been taking a much-needed rest, and has again worked himself into shape, and after defeating Lang he says he is going to win over them all, and then ask a return match with Danny Kramer.

SOME SCRAPPER.

A few months ago Mende was a boy who would give any of the lightweights a run for their money, and he has put up some hard battles with Sailor Kramer, Danny Kramer and little Danny Edwards.

Bobby Keene will meet Eddie Hanlon in a return match. Keene knocked Hanlon out in the first round last week, and Hanlon claims he was on his feet at the count of nine and was not knocked out. This match will settle their argument, and if Keene fights as he did last week he is apt to repeat the knockout. The balance of the card will be announced later.

U. OF C. ANNOUNCES FOOTBALL SCHEDULE.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

BERKELEY, Sept. 2.—The Blue and Gold football schedule for the coming season was definitely announced today by Luther Nichols, graduate manager of the University of California. All of the nine games on the schedule for the Bear team have been lined up definitely, with the exception of the big game of the season with Stanford.

The manager has experienced considerable difficulty in getting the date for this big game settled satisfactorily, as the different dates proposed have met opposition either at Stanford or at the local institution. The two dates first proposed were November 15 and December 16.

However, Stanford found the first date too early for the Red and White players to round into condition, and the second date interfered with the scholarship requirements at Berkeley. So, according to the latest word from the graduate manager's office, the two schools have compromised and practically decided upon November 22 as the day for the two ancient rivals to clash at Stanford.

September 27 has been set for the date of the first varsity game. On this date the Blue and Gold eleven will clash with the heavy Olympic Club warriors at San Francisco. As the Pacific Coast conference ruling does not allow the varsity candidates to begin their practice until September 15, Coach Smith will have only two weeks to round his men into condition for their first battle of the season.

MONTHLY FOX HUNTS ARE NOW PLANNED.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SANTA BARBARA, Sept. 2.—A pack of hounds will be imported from San Francisco for a fox hunt that is planned for the amusement of Santa Barbara and Montecito society people, and visitors in the city, Saturday, September 20. S. E. Kramer of the Belvedere hotel, who has arrangements in charge, already has secured the fox. It was trapped on Santa Cruz island last week, and now has the run of a large inclosure, where there is no chance of its becoming domesticated before the big day.

The start will be from the Belvedere, John J. Herman, resident-manager of the hotel, will be host to all the riders at a hunt breakfast to be served at the La Cumbre Country Club, and following the breakfast there will be running and hurdle races for riders. Trophies will be given the winners, and a trophy also will be awarded the rider first to arrive at the finish of the hunt.

MAY ESCAPE.

There is such a lot of good cover for a fox back of Santa Barbara, that the nimble-footed animal may escape his pursuers early in the hunt, and to guard against the trail ending too soon, a bag of aniseed will be provided. This dragged over the ground leaves a scent the hounds will follow as readily as that of the fox, and it will be pressed into service if needed.

This is to be the first of a series of similar hunts. There will be one each month during the fall. Another event now in contemplation is a dove hunt, with prizes for the man and woman bringing in the limit. If this is pulled off, there will be an outdoor party on the beach in front of the Belvedere, with dove stew on the menu.

FORM FLYERS' CLUB.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

POMONA, Sept. 2.—Interest created here in The Times Aerial Circus held in Pomona and Ontario last week has resulted in a definite move, already well under way, for the formation of an aero club in the Pomona Valley section. A meeting of those interested has been arranged to be held in Ontario and all men interested in the formation of such an organization have been invited to be present at the meeting.

NOW FOR BIG TANK RACES.

San Diego Swimmers to Tackle L.A.A.C.'s Best.

Some Terrific Competition is Expected in Events.

Relay Contest to be the Big Affair of Meet.

One of the classics of the local swimming season will be staged September 13 when the Los Angeles Athletic Club and San Diego Rowing Club tangle in their annual bout. The diving and swimming events will take place in the L.A.A.C. tank.

For several years the L.A.A.C. has been having the best of these meets and Frederick Vance Vieth swears that this season shall be no exception. However, the San Diego Rowing Club will be able to put up some terrific competition, as was proved when they waltzed away with the Pacific Coast swimming championships a few days ago.

WILL WORK HARD.

Every man around Los Angeles who even pretends to be a swimmer will be requisitioned by Vieth in an effort to lick the southern visitors. In fact, the local swimming boss says that he is going to work night and day giving his men advice, rubs, bawl-outs and other interesting things to keep their spirits in shape.

The L.A.A.C. line-up has a good, healthy look and the team ought to get away with a large quantity of the points. Jack Kilburn and Walter Rau will take care of the sprints. Guy Sylvester, the classy little swimmer of the school of old age, and Arthur Summons will be on the slate for the 220 dash.

Kenneth Carraher and Ray Kegeris should get first and second in the 150-yard back stroke. Bobby Vint and Ike Messenger have all the earmarks of winners in the 200-yard breast stroke.

THE BIG RACE.

The relay race is the big event of the meet and Vieth predicts that there will be nothing but soft pickings for him in this race. Jack Kilburn, Guy Sylvester, Walter Rau and Ray Kegeris will compose the first team. Arthur Summons, Gerard Yultee, Kenneth Carraher and Eugene Field also are to be entered by the club in an effort to snatch all the honors.

Special diving events by Aileen Allen, comedy stuff by Cameron Coffee and Garrett Leach and some exhibition swimming by Dorothy Burns and Thelma Finn will entertain the spectators during races.

"Anyone missing this meet," concluded Vieth, "is crazy."

FLASHES.

GO INTO SILENCE.

FILLMORE AND TUCKER PLAY IN "U" FEATURES.

By Grace Kingsley.

The motion picture fever appears to be hitting the Morosco players. Not satisfied with local popularity, Harland Tucker and Clyde Fillmore, it is announced, are going into the films as Universal stars.

Mr. Tucker is to appear in a serial with Marie Walcamp entitled "Petals of Lao-Tze," which Henry MacRae is to produce in the Orient. The serial is being adapted from the novel by J. Allen Dunn, the well-known California writer. The company expects to leave next week for San Francisco, and thence sail for Japan. Harland Tucker was recently released from the navy, in which he served during the past few months of the war.

While Clyde Fillmore, now playing the lead in "Civilian Clothes," at the Morosco, received an offer a short time ago to return to New York in a leading part in a new production, he has refused to do so on account of the delicate health of his mother. He is appearing in pictures at Universal at present, and has just been engaged to play the leading masculine role opposite Lilia Leslie, in a Universal feature, "Clothes and Treachery," which Eric von Stroheim is to produce.

Carol Holloway With Realart.

Realart has just acquired two new stars. They are none other than Carol Holloway, one of the most popular of the Vitagraph stars, and Niles Welch, noted as a screen leading man.

These two favorites are to appear in a picture version of Paul Dickey's playet, "The Lincoln Highwayman," in which Dickey lately achieved a big hit at the Orpheum, and which has material enough, according to Realart authorities, to make a five-reel feature.

Miss Holloway has just completed playing the feminine lead in the Vitagraph serial, "The Perils of Thunder Mountain," with Antonio Moreno.

Jack Pickford to Work.

Jack Pickford expects to commence work about the middle of this month on his first Goldwyn production, which, it is now understood will be a film version of John Fox, Jr's. story, "The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come."

Frances Ring Will Visit.

A very happy man these days is Thomas Meighan, Lasky luminary, who is to welcome his wife, Frances Ring, the well-known sister of the also W. K. Bianche Ring, within a few days. Miss Ring will spend a few weeks in California, after which she will return East to fulfill a stock engagement.

Dorothy Davenport May Return.

There's just the we-est, tiniest possibility that Dorothy Davenport, who in private life is Mrs. Wallace Reid, will return to the screen. In fact she has received a very wonderful offer to play the leading role in a serial to be made in New York. This, however, she has refused, as it would separate her from her husband and little Wally, Jr. That it would separate her from the latter was decided by the former of the parties just named, who exercised real diplomacy in this delicate domestic matter.

"Mrs. Reid was talking about the matter the other day to me," said Mr. Reid, "and she was saying she wondered if little Wally would be happy with her mother in New York.

"No, I don't think he would," I told Mrs. Reid," said Wally, Sr., "and I said, 'the little rough-neck just wasn't going to New York, but is going to stay right here in California with his dad!'

"Whereupon Mrs. Reid decided she'd stay at home with her family."

Mrs. Reid, however, is known to have received a number of very pleasing offers and it is likely she cannot long withstand the temptation to be among those present on the screen, so that her numerous fan admirers may once more have a peep at her in the near future.

Joe Herbert Announces.

Joe Herbert, Jr., in Harry Watson's Orpheum act, is the son of the librettist, Joe Herbert, Sr. Young Herbert states that his father now has a drama placed with Morosco which is to have an early presentation.

Mme. Sylva Soon.

Mme. Marguerita Sylva's first vaudeville tour, with a repertoire of her exclusive songs, brings her to the Orpheum next week. Mme. Sylva is declared one of the brightest lights of grand opera, with a myriad of triumphs to her credit.

Freddy Goodwins Writes.

A most delightful and gossipy letter has just been received from that king-pin actor, Freddy Goodwins, who at present is playing star parts in pictures with an English company in London. As he mentions many people and matters that will be of interest to the fans and players here, I quote from the expansive Freddy's letter:

"Yes, I think England is trying to wake up in the film game, and there are some enterprising men at it now, in place of the old school, who contented themselves with being mediocre. Building restrictions have prevented anyone setting up a new studio here lately, and the old 'bottle' lighting system is still the order of the day everywhere—such a thing as an open arc lamp being an unknown quantity here.

"Even Lasky's are in a quandary, they haven't a chance in hades of getting to work yet, for there is no studio available.

"Syd Chaplin has just left here for Paris with his gang, and Leslie Stuart was up at my new flat yesterday, having a chow for an hour or so. He is full of his American experience, and tells me that my 'stock' has gone up since I left there, but I am bagging it here, and so I am content to stick with it.

"The latest is this: I have finished the feature I directed for Ideal, and have secured a backer and a business partner who are featuring me in two-reel light eccentric comedies—'once an actor, always itching to rub against the backcloth!' Seriously, though, I know comedy playing is my forte, and the back of the camera never looked good to little Fritz, although my picture has gone over with a big bang, and so I accepted this new association almost without hesitation. Incidentally, without mentioning the partner who is putting up the cash, he is one of the wealthiest dukes in the whole blue-blood catalogue.

"The weather here has been Californian for the past few weeks, after a wretched early summer, and it's a regular Tom Tiddler's ground for the cameraman nowadays. I'm expecting to go to France to carry on when the bad weather sets in, and, later, to Holland. My man has studios in both places.

"Eddie Polo is making pictures here now, and doesn't like our little island, I hear. None the less, we manage to live.

"Brenon was producing with Marie Doro here, but he has gone to Italy and is working with her there.

"Lewis Willoughby is still here and has signed up for three years to produce for some firm.

"Walter Catlett has arrived and is rehearsing at the Shaftesbury Theater. He is slowly getting used to us, and says there are lots of things here that he much prefers. He says we know how to live here. I dare say Walt will make a big hit. They like his style of hokum on this side.

"Frankie White fell a bit flat at the Palace, but she had a hard woman to follow in the part—Elsie Janis. Bill Rock has married a girl here and is returning to the U.S.A."

WASHBURN AMUSES IN VERY GOOD YOUNG MAN.

You can always count on a laugh or two when Bryant Washburn comedies. He has a humorous little style all his own. And when, in addition to his peculiar talents, he has a play as good as "A Very Good Young Man," by Messrs. Brown and Houghton, which is now playing at the Victory, you may be sure that you're going to be entertained.

"A Very Good Young Man" is adapted from one of the New York comedy hits of last season—in fact, it's quite wonderful how we are getting all the latest New York plays via the screen—and concerns a good young man who tries his best to get a bad record because his girl has been warned not to marry a man who has not sowed wild oats. But he proves a sort of Happy Hooligan with the reverse English. Every time he tries to steal anything, or snatch another man's girl, or do anything devilish, it all redounds to the happiness of the other party and his own credit. So finally the poor girl has to take him with his fine white record all untarnished.

Helene Chadwick is the girl, and is very pretty and bright and charming in the role; Helen Eddy is the daughter of the female undertaker—whose "last aid" parlors are a feature of the story; and others in the cast are all excellent.

YOUNGSTER RUN DOWN BY AN AUTO MAY DIE.

Darting from the sidewalk in front of an automobile owned and driven by Fred J. Rae of 347 South Wall street, Juan Bustelios, 8 years of age, of 208 North Figueroa street, late yesterday afternoon was seriously injured near Third and Los Angeles streets. At the Receiving Hospital, to which Mr. Rae rushed the injured child, he was found to be suffering from a fracture of the right arm, internal injuries, a fractured pelvis and lacerations about the face. According to Police Surgeon Disteria, the child has small chances of recovery. The accident according to the police, was unavoidable.

FALL AFTER FIGHT MAY PROVE FATAL.

Knocked down in a free-for-all fight at San Pedro and Market streets yesterday afternoon, Leopold Celano, 40 years of age, of 649 Lamar street, received injuries to the head, which, according to police surgeons who treated him at the Receiving Hospital, may prove fatal. William Miller, a negro, of 509 Banning street, arrested by Patrolman Wallace following the fight, is being held in the City Jail pending the outcome of Celano's injuries. According to Officer Wallace, Miller confessed following his arrest to have engaged in a fist fight with Celano following a quarrel. The prisoner stated that Celano struck his head on the curbing when he fell.

BRIEFS.

CONDUCTOR AS ACTOR.

ADOLF TANDLER IN ROLE OF OPERA DIRECTOR.

By Edwin Schallert.

It is not often that you see the conductor of a symphony orchestra appearing on the photoplay screen, and exhibiting the talents of a regular picture actor. Adolf Tandler apparently his hitherto unsuspected histrionic ability, however. He plays the role of the director of the opera in the Petrograd Royal Operahouse in the Geraldine Farrar feature, "The World and its Woman," which is showing this week at Clune's Auditorium. Tandler has quite a few scenes in which he is a central figure in the dramatic action, and he makes an excellent type for the part.

Good Bill at Palace.

That very amusing comedian of the screen, Larry Semon, is sharing honors with Francis X. Bushman and Beverley Bayne, in two widely different types of film entertainment this week at the Palace. Semon appears in a classy back stage funfest, entitled, "Between the Acts," and his clever acting and humorous antics drive dull care clear out the theater and around the block. Lucille Carlisle is an attractive "leading lady" of the show company whose trials and tribulations are related in this screen feature.

"Daring Hearts" is the Bushman and Bayne play. It is one of the best stories around the war recently shown on the screen, for its tensity is multiplied many times over in the final scenes, which afford a powerful and gripping climax.

The escaping American soldier, after having eluded the Germans by leaping from a train, takes refuge in the chateau of a French girl, who shields him in her own room. Their escape from the clutches of the Huns furnishes no end of excitement.

Ray in Soldier Play.

Charles Ray in his story of the brighter side of soldier life, "Hay Foot, Straw Foot," is delighting large audiences at the Quinn's Rialto Theater this week. Ray appears as Ulysses Grant Briggs, the hero of many a laughably unhappy rookie adventure. There are some touches of pretty sentiment in the portion of the story concerned with the young man's love for the girl of his home town.

Altogether the play is one of Mr. Ray's pleasantest achievements.

The bill has a capital comedy called "Among Those Present," in which our friend, Ford Sterling, does the hula-hula a la Hawaii, among other things.

Glyn Story at Garrick.

Elinor Glyn's romance of English social life, "The Career of Katherine Bush" is the attraction at the Garrick Theater this week. Catherine Calvert is the star, and realizes both in physical beauty and manner of portrayal the type of Glyn heroine.

The play deals with the problems of a young girl who seeks freedom from sordid home life through a career. Her early adventures seem to interfere with her future happiness in the marriage state, but through meeting a man of bigness of character, she finally attains the objective of her quest for happiness.

In its photography and settings the photoplay retains much of the atmosphere of the Glyn romance. The story on the screen is told smoothly and after the narrative manner.

Lila Lee at De Luxe.

"A Daughter of the Wolf" a dramatic story of the trappers' life in the Northwest with Lila Lee in a rather unusual role of the out-door girl, is showing at the De Luxe today. Many of the scenes taken in the snow and ice near Truckee are exceedingly picturesque. Dorothy Gish, in "Nugget Nell" will be the star at the De Luxe tomorrow and Friday.

Hip Bill Changes.

The change of bill at the Hip today brings Emmy Wehlen to the theater as the photoplay star in the Metro production, "A Favor to a Friend," said to be an entertaining picture of the light comedy type. The vaudeville bill will include: The Giuliani Four in musical numbers; Mack and Lane, in a melange of comedy, songs, dances and patter, entitled, "What Is It All About;" the Three Eddy Sisters in acrobatic dances; Elizabeth Shirley and Everett Byington, in the playlet, "Remnants;" Frank Stanley and Rae Wilson in a surprise act, and Lowry and Catherine, presenting "The Razor Salesman."

MR. AND MRS. BANGS TALK ABOUT FRANCE.

MASONS AND THEIR FRIENDS HEAR HUMORIST-AUTHOR AND WIFE LECTURE.

Picturing convincingly the needs of war-riven France, John Kendrick Bangs, noted humorist and author of "The Houseboat on the Styx," spoke before Scottish Rite Masons and their families and friends last night at the Scottish Rite Cathedral. Mrs. Bangs, called by the author "the better nine-tenths of the family," also spoke. They are here in the interest of the American Committee for Devastated France.

Mr. Bangs told of riding for days and seeing nothing but walls that stood "like the jagged teeth of a monster that was trying to break from its hell into the blue Heaven of God."

He touched on Bolshevism and told of a boy who was drafted from the water front of New Orleans and was sent to France. "That boy had associated with the scum of the earth—thieves, murderers, the lowest of the low. There is one depth he had not reached, however. He had not sunk to the level of these American college professors who are trusted by the parents of our Boys and then preach the doctrine of the red flag and the torch."

Mrs. Bangs told of the work of the American committee abroad. She told of the start made in 1917, when the civilians of devastated areas of France were without aid. At present the committee has stores, hospitals and orphan homes for them. She appealed to the people of Los Angeles for aid in carrying on work that has been successful thus far. There is an opportunity still to sow, she said.

FIX PLANS FOR WILSON'S VISIT.

Mayor Maps Out and Tumulty Approves the Details.

Personnel of Entertainment Committee Announced.

Four Thousand Angelenos to Dine with President.

Mayor Snyder yesterday completed tentative plans for the entertainment of President Wilson and his party here the 20th and 21st inst., and made public the names of persons appointed on the reception and entertainment committee.

The tentative plans were telegraphed to Secretary Tumulty and later in the day he replied, giving them his approval, but stating that several days prior to the President's arrival a representative of the Presidential party will arrive here and discuss the details.

The President and party will arrive by special train and will be met at the railway station by the committee and escorted through the business district to the Alexandria, which will be their headquarters. A private luncheon will be served to the visitors and then the President will rest until evening, when a dinner will be tendered in his honor at 7 o'clock at Shrine Auditorium. It is expected that about 4000 guests will participate.

ONLY SPEECH HERE.

At 1:15 o'clock President Wilson will speak at Shrine Auditorium, the only public address he will make while in Los Angeles. He will spend the night at the Alexandria.

Sunday is to be free from any set programme and it is expected the President and party will attend church services in the morning and go for automobile rides during the afternoon. The party will leave Los Angeles at 7 o'clock Sunday evening.

The committee of welcome is strictly nonpartisan, said F. Ray Grumme, secretary of the Democratic County Central Committee. Mr. Grumme says that early in July he asked Mayor Rolph of San Francisco to make up a committee of officials north of Bakersfield to receive the President in the north. He asked Mayor Snyder to pick a committee from Southern California. This he says, has been done and in organization of all factions has resulted.

This will be the third Presidential visit Mayor Snyder has welcomed to Los Angeles. During his previous terms in the Mayor's office he had the honor of welcoming President McKinley and President Roosevelt.

H. H. McKee, chairman of the reception and entertainment committee, has called a meeting of the members for 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the Mayor's outer office, and requests that all members of the committee attend without further notice.

THE COMMITTEE.

The following is the personnel of committees:

[illegible] H. H. Cotton, [illegible] Dr. Donaldson Munro, [illegible] Burton Mallory, [illegible] Mrs. A. A. Davis, [illegible] F. N. Gilbert, Jr., [illegible] Mrs. Fred Fleischer, [illegible] F. DAILY TRADE TALK.

Food Staples Drop; Business Speeds up; Stock Market Spotty.

BY CHAPIN HALL.

An after-holiday lethargy was noticeable yesterday and most of the business hours were spent in getting up steam and oiling the machinery for the long nonstop run. The passing of Labor Day without disturbances of any kind had a good effect on the market, while the return of transportation to a normal basis, and growing indications of a falling price level all contributed to the general good feeling which will find expression in cumulative activity. Throughout the financial district many employers and employees returned to their desks after a vacation period, and there was a general shifting of gears from intermediate into high. Just how much speed the old car will develop remains to be seen, but the general opinion is that some new records will be established.

Butter declined 3 cents a pound on the Produce Exchange late yesterday afternoon, and will find reflection in the local market about tomorrow. Potatoes have dropped 60 cents a hundredweight since last week. The big decline in beef and pork noted in the eastern market will be felt here soon. Eggs are 3 cents per dozen higher than Friday's close, but this is due to an after effect of the railroad tie-up, and the market will be equalized in a few days. The strikes on the electric lines will probably be ended today. Back clearings exceeded $8,000,000. The bond and investment market is stronger. The outlook is very satisfactory.

The Stock Market.

The market did not behave yesterday in just the manner the analysts expected, and instead of a strong upturn there was a tendency to weakness which developed as the day advanced. All of the leaders were active, but heavy selling orders changed the face of the returns and the close averaged lower than the opening.

By way of illustration Associated Oil opened at $93 and sold off to $93. General Petroleum was strong around $159 at the opening, but after a few small lots had been disposed of at that figure it weakened and closed at $158. Central Oil was in strong demand and 1000 shares were sold at $1. Jade was quiet with small sales recorded at twenty cents. Mascot proved an exception and was up slightly, sales being recorded at the close of the trading at $2.05. Mt. Diablo was again active advancing from $1.45 to $1.49. Recent heavy selling orders cleaned up the outstanding stock and it seems probable that the price will go back to its former level of $1.50. National Pacific failed to show especial activity, the effort to boost the price of this listing not meeting with any success. The close was half a cent below the opening of fifteen cents. There is a growing feeling of pessimism over the possible fate of the leasing bill. Union Oil also disappointed the optimists who figured a possible price of $170 but after an opening at $168.50 there was no further show of strength and the closing transactions were at $168. United Oil provided further evidence of the rather spotted condition of the general market. This issue was strong. The opening price of seventy-one cents was advanced in the face of a considerable buying movement to seventy-two cents at which point it held firm for the balance of the day.

In the industrial list there was heavy trading in Los Angeles Investment. All offerings at the opening price of ninety cents were quickly snapped up, and the buying movement continued until ninety-five cents was reached just before the close, when there was another heavy influx of buying orders at ninety-three cents. Sugars were unusually quiet, small lots of Union moving at $47.50 to $47.75. California Delta Farms was strong, a block of 175 shares selling at $62.75. Goodyear Tire and Rubber, preferred, remained steady at $100.50. Small lots of Pacific Cotton Mills Company, preferred, sold on the curb at 7 per and a quarter. This stock will be called for the first time today on the exchange, having been ordered listed by the Board of Governors last week.

The mining list was featured by heavy trading in Richmond Copper around fifty-five cents, a price maintained throughout the day because of a strong demand by outside buyers. Local people have recently become interested in this stock through publication of optimistic statistics. Tom Reed opened at $1.65 and moved steadily up to $1.70 closing around $1.68. United Eastern gained considerable strength, selling in the morning around $4.40 and moving up to $4.47 1-2 in the afternoon. Other Oatman issues were steady with sales light and scattered.

Bonds were slightly stronger and all issues were in good demand and heavy volume.

Potatoes Cheaper.

There has been a marked decline in the cost of potatoes on the local wholesale market during the past week. The best varieties were selling yesterday around $2.40 a hundredweight against $4 a few days ago. There is no serious shortage of any necessary commodity at this time, and the local outlook is in line with the national expectation for a general lower price level at an early day.

Good Beginning.

Bank clearings for the first business day of the month started off at a clip which establishes a preliminary hope that September will follow in the wake of her predecessors and establish a new record. The clearings yesterday were $8,115,627.09 as compared with $5,623,530.62 on the corresponding day a year ago.

General Petroleum.

The annual report for General Petroleum will soon be issued and is awaited with much interest. It is a foregone conclusion that the report will be highly satisfactory so far as earnings go, but an increase in dividend rate is hardly to be expected on account of contemplated heavy expenditures. Los Angeles stockholders understand that General Petroleum is constantly broadening its operation and increasing its production. It is believed there is more likelihood of an additional stock issue at par to stockholders than there is of an increase in cash dividends or the issuance of a stock dividend.

Merchandising Conditions.

Merchandising conditions during August were in splendid tone both locally and throughout the country. Purchases reached a new high record for the month and credit extensions were comparatively slight. Payments were excellent and this remained true even through the later days of the month when labor conditions were so disturbed.

Flowers and Fruits.

This is not an item having to do with the produce exchange but with fall millinery for, according to Seventh-street buyers, flowers and fruits, as well as feathers will be much in demand for trimmings. So far as shapes are concerned designers say that the rolling sailor and the off the face models will prevail.

Circulation of Gold.

Before the war gold coin circulated extensively in California. Many business houses used it in making up their pay rolls and most Californians preferred it to currency. When gold was withdrawn from general circulation to bolster up our reserve it was freely predicted that it would never regain its place as a circulating medium. This prediction seems to be coming true, and gold is about as difficult to secure in Los Angeles as it is in New York. The Federal Reserve Bank is in sympathy with the use of other medium and it is claimed by bankers that the employment of gold coin for every-day purposes is a wasteful use of credit, because it leads to rapid abrasion and consequent loss of value.

California Bank Leaders.

Out of more than sixty banks in the United States having deposits in excess of $50,000,000 each California has five of which four are in San Francisco and one, the Security Trust and Savings Bank, in Los Angeles. New York City has twenty-five banks and trust companies included in the list, Chicago comes next with six, and Boston, Philadelphia, Cleveland and San Francisco follow with four each to their credit.

RISE OF 214,000 BALES IN COTTON FORECAST.

CONDITION OF CROP SHOWS 5.7 POINTS DECLINE JULY 25 TO AUGUST 25.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—An increase during August of 214,000 bales in the prospective cotton crop this year was shown in today's cotton report of the Department of Agriculture which forecast a total of 11,250,000 bales. The condition of the crop, 61.4 per cent, as a normal, showed a decline of 5.7 points from July 25 to August 25, compared with an average decline during the last ten years of 7.7 points.

Condition of the crop by States on August 25 included: Texas, 61; California, 98; Arizona, 90; New Mexico, 91; Oklahoma, 70; Arkansas, 70. Boll weevils, army worms and red spider combined with almost continuous rains over considerable areas of the belt with dry, hot weather following the heavy rains caused the deterioration of the crop.

RIPE FRUIT IS DRUG ON LOCAL MARKET.

GOOD PEARS SELLING AT 5 TO 7 CENTS, LOWEST PRICE OF THE SEASON.

Trading on the local produce exchange was active yesterday and the undertone of the general list was stronger than at any time during the past three weeks, despite the heavy arrivals of all varieties of fruits and vegetables. All commodities in first-class condition were in excellent demand during the first hour's trading, but during the latter part of the session prices made fractional declines, owing to the heavy late arrivals from the ports and from the local producing sections. During the final hour's trading an active competition was in evidence between the farmers and the local wholesalers. This had a strong tendency to weaken the general list, as the local shippers were out in numbers for the first time since the tie-up began. They took advantage of the nervous condition on the floor and hammered prices down considerably. Large quantities of soft fruit were placed on the floor, but met with a very light demand in view of the new arrivals. The soft fruit market is breaking down rapidly and produce dealers say that prices will not be as high as expected during September. So much ripe fruit has been coming on the local market that it is now a drug on the floor and prices seemed to have struck the low point, quality considered.

The demand all through the season has been for lower prices for fruits suitable for domestic canning. Good ripe pears are now selling at from 5 to 7 cents per pound, the lowest price for this fruit during the season. Peaches are about steady and jobbers expect a heavy demand for this commodity soon for home canning purposes. Stock moved rapidly yesterday at from 4 to 6 cents per pound.

Canteloupes met with a fairly good demand and prices made a moderate advance of from 10 to 15 cents per crate, owing to the excellent quality of the offerings. The majority of the transactions were made at from 65 to 90 cents per crate. There were a few crates of fancy hand-picked stock placed on the floor at the opening of the call, but these were snapped up quickly by the local shippers at from $1 to $1.25 per crate. There was a very light demand for watermelons and prices made fractional declines. The quality and condition of the majority of the arrivals were very poor. Good stock closed at 1½ cents per pound.

The vegetable market continued nervous and irregular, according to the condition and quality of the offerings. The potato market was rather weak, owing to the heavy arrivals by rail and water, and prices made a sharp decline of from 10 to 15 cents per 100 pounds. The demand was very light, owing to the fact that the large retailers and shippers bought in large blocks during the first three days of the strike situation at from $3.50 to $4, expecting a sharp advance to take place, but were mistaken and stand to lose from 75 cents to $1 per hundred on all the stock they bought in. Twenty-six cars arrived by rail and seven by water. The majority of the transactions were made at from $3.20 to $3.60 per 100 pounds.

After making a careful survey of the walnut districts of Southern California and other parts of the States, the California Walnut Growers' Association yesterday estimated the crop for this year would total 46,000,000 pounds, compared with 26,000,000 pounds last year. While the market price will not become known for another month, the association figures the value of the crop will be from $12,000,000 to $13,000,000.

An acreage of 2000 walnut trees has come into bearing this year, making a total for the State of 77,000. The association finds that the growers are giving closer attention to their crops and in the past year have irrigated from three to ten times, instead of once, as in other seasons. Picking will begin about September 20 and will be at its height early in October. Considerable portions of the crop has already been contracted for. The packing-houses affiliated with the growers have employed their capacity in anticipation of the increased crop.

These are the actual prices obtained yesterday by Los Angeles wholesalers from their sales to retailers, peddlers, hotels, restaurants, cafeterias, etc. Terms—cash on the walk:

LARGEST POSSIBLE YIELD TO CUSTOMER is another policy which we take into consideration in advising investments. Most houses overlook the latter. Many houses overlook both.

We don't believe in the word Safer, as applied to investments. With us, it's SAFE or UNSAFE. We are offering, at the present time, a number of issues of the SAFETY FIRST kind that will yield the investors

$5.00 OIL LEASES $5.00

WE OFFER (Subject to Prior Sale)
40-80-160-ACRES LEASES
TEXAS & NEW MEXICO OIL FIELDS

Commercial five-year leases and State leases—in the PECOS FIELD—where great development is now progressing, particularly by the Sunshine Oil Corporation. We control several sections which we can sell in 40-acre State leases as low as $5.00 an acre—the choicest at $10.00 an acre. The value of these leases is shown by the fact that the Standard Oil Company owns adjoining sections.

In the TULAROSA BASIN, where great development is now in progress, we have choice State leases at from $2.50 to $10.00 per acre to be sold in 40, 80 and 160-acre tracts. The $5.00 leases in the Tularosa Basin which we offer are adjacent to leases which are being sold in New York at this time at from $25.00 up.

In the OIL RIVER BASIN we offer choice State leases, which have been passed on by geologists, at from $2.00 to $5.00 per acre.

THE OWNER OF A LEASE IS THE MAN WHO GETS THE FIRST PROFITS FROM THE OIL FIELDS.

NO ONE CAN PLACE THE VALUATION ON AN OIL LEASE. NO ONE CAN SAY THAT YOUR OIL LEASE WON'T BE WORTH THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS PER ACRE.

In the past year millions have been made overnight in the Texas oil fields. Only a few months ago you could have bought Northwest Burkburnett acreage at the same price as our oil leases. Today the same acreage is selling at $25,000 an acre. Even sixty days ago acreage across the Red River in Tillman County could have been acquired at $2.00 an acre. With the bringing in of the Texas Chief, on the Texas side, Tillman County acreage across the river has jumped to a point where it is selling today at from $500 to $2,000 an acre.

OUR LEASES ARE SPECULATIVE—YOU MAY WIN—AND YOU MAY LOSE. IF YOU WIN, YOU WIN BIG—NOT A FEW HUNDRED PER CENT., BUT A FORTY-ACRE LEASE WILL MAKE YOU A FORTUNE.

The Fowler Farm in Burkburnett sold for millions, and there wasn't a sign of oil anywhere for miles around when their well came in. Our leases are in territories that are being developed. Any indication of oil—any gas well—will send all our leases skyrocketing. It isn't a long wait. If you win, you win quickly—BUT YOU'LL HAVE TO ACT QUICKLY.

$200 Buys a 40-acre Pecos Lease
$200 Buys a 40-acre Tularosa Basin Lease
$200 Buys a 40-acre Oil River Basin Lease

WE DON'T SEE HOW YOU CAN POSSIBLY LOSE IN TAKING ADVANTAGE OF OUR $5.00 STATE LEASES.

We have State leases as low as $2.00, or $50.00 cash for a 40-acre lease, as we do not sell less than 40 acres; and we can recommend these $2.00 leases. But our $5.00 leases are a little better located and are worth, in our estimation, the additional amount.

We offer leases in the RANGER, BURKBURNETT AND DESDEMONA FIELDS at from $5,000 to $25,000 an acre. We have one choice 4-acre tract in Northwest Burkburnett for $150,000. These leases are handled by us on a commission basis. They are in absolutely proven territory. We solicit correspondence with anyone interested in making an investment of this class.

BUT—we do not consider the high-priced acreage as having the speculative possibilities for tremendous profits as the $5.00 leases which we are offering.

The $25,000-acre lease, which we are offering, was, at one time, perhaps, in the $5.00 class.

Write for particulars—but don't delay.

IF YOU'VE GOT THE REAL OIL SPIRIT—THE SPIRIT THAT WINS—YOU WILL SEND US A CHECK FOR $200 for a 40-acre State lease, and let us select for you.

If you want to take a real plunge, send us $600 for a 40-acre lease in the Pecos, Tularosa and Oil River Basin. These are State leases and the title is perfect.

The Times Second Financial and Market Page

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—Stocks were strong and moderately active throughout today's session, the trend of events over the triple holiday, especially the brighter labor situation, affording the financial community much satisfaction.

The more conservative attitude of organized labor, pointing to a better understanding with the Federal authorities and prospects of a long truce pending satisfactory adjustment of economic problems encouraged all but the short interest.

Another development of sentimental influence was the weekly bank statement published during the recess, which wiped out the nominal deficit in actual reserves reached the week before and left a liberal total to the credit of that item.

The international money market was again the one adverse or disquieting feature, sterling exchange forfeiting more of its recent recovery, with heaviness in francs in Italian remittances at a new point of depreciation.

Dealings were considerably larger than at any period for almost a fortnight, although the buying centered very extensively in steel, equipments, oils and motors, where gross gains extended from two to almost fourteen points.

Crucible Steel led the list, other noteworthy features including Texas Company, Mexican and Pan-American petroleums, Studebaker, Stutz, Chandler, Maxwell and General Motors, Atlantic Gulf, American International, American Woolen, Hide and Leather, preferred, and the more popular food issues.

Rails were conspicuous for the strength of low-grade shares, notably Texas and Pacific, Denver and Rio Grande preferred, and St. Paul. Metals scored moderate gains. Sales amounted to 1,100,000 shares.

Firmness of internationals was the only feature of an otherwise irregular bond market, Liberty issues holding steady. Total sales, par value, $11,200,000. Old United States bonds unchanged on call.

HAILS NEW BROTHERHOOD.

World Changes Affect Schools, Shiels Tells Teachers; Enrollment Big.

Vacation will be over for about 93,000 school children today when they lay aside their summer joys, open readers and resume their wonted round of study, for the 1919 school year will open in all of the schools this morning.

Registration at the high schools yesterday indicated that the total enrollment will be 10 per cent more than it was when the schools closed last June, while Superintendent Shiels expects this year's enrollment to be the largest in the city's history.

Approximately 3500 teachers will be employed during the year, of whom 2700 will be full-time teachers, the other 800 being employed in the evening classes, and at part-time sessions.

Of the 1954 elementary day teachers, twenty-four do Americanization work and thirteen are engaged in home work. There are also 100 elementary evening teachers; 233 kindergarten principals and assistants; 798 high school day teachers; 140 evening high school teachers; 178 elementary school principals; forty-four supervising principals; eighteen elementary evening principals; thirty high school day and vice-principals; sixteen intermediate day and vice-principals and six evening, in addition to fifty-six department heads.

Clune's Auditorium was crowded yesterday from the pit to the topmost gallery when these 3500 teachers gathered for the annual assembly.

Lynn Helm, president of the Board of Education, pointed out that the war and epidemic of influenza not only interfered with school work last year, but caused the teachers as well as the pupils considerable anxiety, so that everyone is doubly anxious to make this year a banner year.

REGRET GOING.

Referring to the resignation of Supt. Albert Shiels, Mr. Helm declared that he thought the schools are losing an excellent man.

Dr. Shiels made a stirring address after Mr. Helm had finished, speaking of the need of education because of the present economic conditions in America.

"There are three factors which contribute to all intelligent management," he said, "and we will never benefit ourselves or our business or ourselves permanently if we seek to destroy any of the factors."

Continuing, he said in part:

"Unlike engineering, medicine or law, the profession of teaching includes every phase of thought, every phase of knowledge. Knowledge is not imparted only for its own sake, but for its application to the problems of life. That is to say, a teacher should teach not only the things worth knowing, but must teach them with an eye to the conditions that exist in the city, State and country at the time of instruction.

"In all administration there are three factors; intelligent management, invested capital, and labor, skilled or unskilled. Each of these things prospers best when they all prosper. Each has its own rights. Only a crooked mind will insist that the rights of one of the parties must be secured by destroying those of the others. Civilization consists in equating these rights and in so arranging their distribution as never to permit oppression. It has always been a difficult thing to solve this distribution fairly, but so long as we try to do it, we are on the way to do it. One thing we may be sure of; we will never benefit ourselves or our business or our class permanently if we seek to destroy these other factors.

"A few years ago we might have stopped with this thought and have been content if we could think socially, co-operatively, and nationally, not only for the benefit of others but for ourselves.

WIDER HORIZON.

"But now we are confronted with a new situation. We must also think internationally, not merely as a matter of morals or ethics, but simply as a matter of self-preservation. If we look at the present conditions superficially, we might think it wise to stand on our own feet and to disregard the rest of the world.

"For we are the one nation now in a fortunate situation. We have material, food and clothing, more than sufficient to cover our needs. And, besides these things we have money in abundance.

"But the United States cannot be sufficient unto itself. We cannot live alone. If we built a great wall around the whole boundary of the United States, we might be able to keep out people and things, but we could not keep out influences and ideas and tendencies. Some of these influences and tendencies threaten our government. The nations of the other lands are suffering; and when men suffer, calm philosophic poise gives way to the fearful animal-like struggle for existence. Where there is no food, life or property count for little. Riot and revolution will spread unless Europe can be relieved. The backwash of these movements will come to us. We cannot escape them.

NOT ALL AMERICANS.

"Nor is that all. We like to think of the United States as filled with Americans, but as a matter of fact it is not. A few years ago after-dinner speakers were accustomed to make eloquent addresses on the Melting Pot. But the war taught us that the pot's contents had not melted at all so well as we thought it would. Though we kept Europe out, yet we would have Europe with us—Europe with its hatreds and suspicions, its traditions of enmity, its consciousness of oppression for generations back, its old-world points of view. No, we cannot keep our wealth for ourselves. We cannot remain indifferent to the needs of the people of Europe. If we do not help to save them, they will drag us down.

CAN'T SHIRK DUTY.

"Of course, we can adopt another position. We can say: Let Europe suffer. But if we are foolish enough to dream that we can continue doing that, we shall soon be disturbed by the same influences from which the people there are suffering. Either we must stand with the other nations of the world in the time of their travail, or we shall go down with them. We, the American people, must feed Europe; we must clothe Europe. We should do it for the sake of human brotherhood; we must do it for the sake of our safety.

"Do not think that this condition can be changed in a few months. It is not only material and money that Europe lacks. She has lost millions of men at the most productive stage of life. She must support other wounded millions who, no longer producers in the economic sense, have ceased to be assets to society and have become liabilities.

PRODUCE! PRODUCE!

"One thing and one thing only can save the world, and that is production, production multiplied many times over. The world, having gone through an orgy of destruction, must now produce. On the other hand, everything that is wasted, a garment, a bit of untasted food, an idle factory, is not only a reduction of production, but a crime against civilization.

"A burned storehouse, a wrecked bridge, a railroad collision, a spoiled cargo—these things, too, today are crimes. Insurance cannot replace them. They are so much material taken away from a world that needs them.

"The duty of education in all these things belongs to those who are willing to teach, whether they be professional teachers or writers, or bankers, or editors, or laborers; but especially does it belong to the teachers by profession.

"Therefore, as we return to our classroom work, whether we are teaching poor children or rich, we must remember that we are training citizens, not for a world of twenty years hence, but for a world of today. We must put our greatest energies in the direction of thrift, of saving.

RADICAL IDEAS.

"And especially must we take up the subject of civics from a new angle. There are too many now who, believing that the 'times are out of joint,' wish to make better government by destroying the government we have. They are preaching new forms of government, new distinctions of people in the social complex. Some of them wish to surrender the conception of equality before the law to inequality, the tyranny of ignorance as vicious as any tyranny of birth or wealth.

"We should not, we dare not interpret these great movements only in terms of our personal advantage and opportunity. The profiteer who hoards food that he may gain some advance on the market price is as criminal as any convict that ever went to jail. The employer who takes advantage of a temporary surplus of labor to run down the wage rate that will forbid a decent standard of living is as criminal. So, too, is the laborer who sacrifices the interest of a community when by some circumstance he can command an excessive payment. All these people are individualistic, self-centered. They will not work with the whole group. They cannot, even see that temporary advantage for them means ultimate destruction for all, themselves included.

"Let us send into the world from these schools of Los Angeles boys and girls who have faith in this country, who believe that their own interests will be abundantly conserved if they but concern themselves with the interests of society as a whole, who will go out as legions laboring for the common good, and who at this great period in the world's history will do something to make real the age-old conception of brotherhood among all men.

ASKS PATIENCE.

D. K. Edwards, chairman of the Building Committee of the Board of Education, delivered an address on the needs of the schools.

"The finances of the board, as far as building funds is concerned, are not in the best of shape," Mr. Edwards said. "We would have liked to put in new heating apparatus in some of the buildings, or improved the sanitary conditions of others, but these improvements would have cost thousands of dollars—thousands which we needed to build bungalows for the lower grades, and when all is said and done the first principle of the Board of Education is to furnish housing and teachers for the pupils; this could not be done with our limited funds if we made all of the improvements that have been asked."

Mr. Edwards asked the teachers to "live hopefully so that the board and teachers could work helpfully."

In addition to the addresses, J. B. Monlux, deputy superintendent of schools, read a number of notices regarding the school work. Mass singing was one feature of the programme. The assembly closed with everyone standing and singing the "Star Spangled Banner." Hugo Kirchhofer was in charge of the music, with Louis W. Curtis at the piano.
